This is a digital copy of a book that was preserved for generations on library shelves before it was carefully scanned by Google as part of a project to make the world's books discoverable online.

It has survived long enough for the copyright to expire and the book to enter the public domain. A public domain book is one that was never subject to copyright or whose legal copyright term has expired. Whether a book is in the public domain may vary country to country. Public domain books are our gateways to the past, representing a wealth of history, culture and knowledge that's often difficult to discover.

Marks, notations and other marginalia present in the original volume will appear in this file - a reminder of this book's long journey from the publisher to a library and finally to you.

Usage guidelines

Google is proud to partner with libraries to digitize public domain materials and make them widely accessible. Public domain books belong to the public and we are merely their custodians. Nevertheless, this work is expensive, so in order to keep providing this resource, we have taken steps to prevent abuse by commercial parties, including placing technical restrictions on automated querying.

We also ask that you:

+ Make non-commercial use of the files We designed Google Book Search for use by individuals, and we request that you use these files for personal, non-commercial purposes.
+ Refrain from automated querying Do not send automated queries of any sort to Google's system: If you are conducting research on machine translation, optical character recognition or other areas where access to a large amount of text is helpful, please contact us. We encourage the use of public domain materials for these purposes and may be able to help.
+ Maintain attribution The Google "watermark" you see on each file is essential for informing people about this project and helping them find additional materials through Google Book Search. Please do not remove it.
+ Keep it legal Whatever your use, remember that you are responsible for ensuring that what you are doing is legal. Do not assume that just because we believe a book is in the public domain for users in the United States, that the work is also in the public domain for users in other countries. Whether a book is still in copyright varies from country to country, and we can't offer guidance on whether any specific use of any specific book is allowed. Please do not assume that a book's appearance in Google Book Search means it can be used in any manner anywhere in the world. Copyright infringement liability can be quite severe.

State Veterinary Surgeon.
Pharmacy Commission.
State Board of Health.
Fish and Game Warden.
Capitol Commission

These reports will inform you of all the doings of the executive branch of the State government.

FINANCES.

As to the monies that were received and paid out during the biennial period ending June 30, 1903, you are referred to the reports of the Auditor and Treasurer. They disclose all financial transactions, both in summary and detail, and nothing that I could add would make your information upon this phase of the subject more complete. It is your duty, however, not only to review the past, but to provide for the future, and I have ventured to prepare a table that I hope will aid you in determining the amount available for appropriation at this time.

I have endeavored to ascertain the probable revenue of the State during the years 1904 and 1905 upon the basis of a three mill levy for general purposes, the fixed expenses of the State, as now established, the appropriations made by preceding General Assemblies, payable during these years, and thus reach the aggregate sum that can be safely appropriated by you upon the assumption that the rate of taxation already mentioned is continued.

I have excluded from my computation all specia funds and have considered only those items which may be properly reckoned in a general account. I have used the two calendar years immediately before us, for the reason that it has become customary to make appropriations extending beyond the biennial period.

The assessable value of all the taxable property in the State for the year 1903 was $637,937,386.00, and as it is not probable that it will be materially changed in the coming two years, it is not difficult to discover what additional revenue an increased rate of taxation will yield.

Unpaid balances, general	419,808.50
Estimated expenditures to Dec. 31, 1904	2,528,210.00	3,162,712.52
Balance Dec. 31, 1904		$ 936.342.04

Carrying the computation through 1905, assuming the same general cost of administration, and we have this result:

Balance January 1, 1905	$ 936,342.04
Receipts for the year (estimated)	2,900,300.00
Total		$ 3,836,642.04
Expenditures (omitting $130,000 for General Assembly, and adding $10,000 00 for census on the plan now authorized)	$ 2,428,210.00
Total		$ 1,428,432.04

The conclusion, therefore, is that, after providing for the State government and its institutions upon the basis now existing, making no allowance for additions, betterments, renewals, or repairs, except as now expressly authorized by statute, and upon the hypothesis of a three mill general levy, it would be unwise to appropriate for purposes not taken into account in the foregoing table, more than $1,400,000.00 to be paid in 1904 and 1905.

The average monthly balance in the depositories selected by the Treasurer and approved by the Executive Council during the last year has been more than one million dollars. I can conceive of no reason why the banks in which these funds are deposited should not pay interest to the state upon balances at the rate which they customarily pay to other depositors. Each bank gives a bond to indemnify the state against loss, and there would be no additional risk involved in requiring the payment of interest. The state, under the present law, is deprived of a revenue of from twenty to thirty thousand dollars per year from this source, which ought to be used in the reduction of general taxation.

I believe, therefore, that the law should be amended so as to provide for taking interest upon balances, if such arrangement can be made. The amendment should also provide that the state shall pay the premium to a surety company for the Treasurer's bond. The bond required of him is too large for personal sureties, and the premium to a surety company, if paid by him, would more than consume his entire salary.

PROVIDENTIAL CONTINGENT FUND.

The Twenty-ninth General Assembly appropriated $35,000.00 and put it at the disposal of the Executive Council to meet such contingencies as the destruction, by fire or other casualty, of the public property of the State.

On May 9, 1902, the main building of the School for the Deaf and Dumb at Council Bluffs, was burned. It seemed absolutely necessary to take such steps as would enable the Board of Control to continue the School, and upon its representations and request, the Executive Council appropriated $28,000.00 for the construction and equipment of temporary buildings. This sum has been expended, and it is believed that the School can be successfully conducted until the General Assembly makes permanent provision.

On the 14th day of August, 1903, a fire occurred at the Iowa State College of Agriculture and Mechanic Arts, at Ames, which destroyed what was left of the old main building. This necessitated the construction of temporary quarters as a substitute for the class rooms destroyed, and, after careful consultation with the officers of the College, the Executive Council appropriated $3,000.00, which has already been expended for the purpose named.

On the 25th day of May, 1903, the buildings of the School for the Feeble Minded at Glenwood were very seriously injured by a wind storm. The Board of Control had no appropriation that could be used for repair, and after looking carefully into the situation, the Executive Council appropriated the remainder of the providential contingent fund to put the school at Glenwood in such condition that it could be used.

Thus the entire appropriation has been expended, and it has accomplished the object for which it was created.

INSURANCE.

I call especial attention to that part of the Auditor's report relating to insurance. In the development of the state, the supervision of insurance companies, which has been given to the Auditor, has become the most important work of his office. The interests involved are not only large, but they deeply concern a great number of our people. I was formerly of the opinion that an independent insurance department should be created, but I have changed my mind, and I now believe that the wiser course is to leave the work where it is, giving to the Auditor authority to employ a force sufficient to transact the business in an efficient way.

I concur in the recommendation of the Auditor that he should have the authority to employ at a yearly salary an examiner and actuary, with such other clerical assistance as may be necessary. It is impossible to engage a competent man for the examination of an insurance company for the compensation now authorized; and there is no practicable provision of law for the employment of an actuary. The people are vitally interested in knowing whether the insurance companies with which they deal are solvent or insolvent, and when the time comes for an examination, it is of no value unless made by an upright, competent, and skillful examiner and actuary.

I concur also in the recommendation that an effort be made to define what a contract of life insurance is. In these days life insurance takes on so many phases, and the ingenuity of managers is so great, that every kind of indemnity and investment, fair and unfair, honest and fraudulent, is offered to the people as life insurance. I believe that a statutory definition can be devised, broad enough to embrace every legitimate contract, and that would facilitate the work of the Auditor in excluding contracts which are either fraudulent or which belong to some other field of enterprise.

I concur most heartily in the recommendation relating to reinsurance or consolidation. It is highly necessary for the protection of policy holders that the state shall determine the conditions under which one company shall be absorbed by another.

Other recommendations made by the Auditor, I have not time to comment upon, but they merit careful consideration.

Upon my own behalf I earnestly urge upon you an amendment to the law which shall provide that all fees paid by insurance companies for examinations, or for any other service rendered under the direction of the state, shall be paid into the state treasury, and that whatever compensation is allowed to those who perform the work, shall be paid by the state. As the law now is, the insurance companies pay to the examiners whatever sum may be charged for service and expense, and the examiners make no account of it whatever. The practice affords opportunities for wrong doing that are intolerable in a state which cherishes a reputation for integrity and fair dealing. Whatever the state does through any of its officers or agents, for which a fee is perscribed, should be paid for by the person or corporation from which the fee is due, directly to the state, and whatever the officer or agent receives for his work should be paid by the state, and the books of the state ought to show the exact transaction.

I am led to comment upon this subject with unusual emphasis, largely on account of some matters which occurred during the four years in which Frank F. Merriam was the Auditor of State. Toward the close of his last term it was charged by various foreign insurance companies that he, together with his insurance examiner, Mr. Max Beehler, had made, or pretended to make a large number of examinations which were without the authority of the Executive Council, and for which fees and disbursements were exacted grossly in excess of fair compensation and reimbursment for the examinations made and expenses incurred. The records of the Executive Council did not disclose any authority for such examinations. When Mr. Merriam's attention was called to the matter, he said that the members of the Executive Council had given him oral authority, and his recollections in this respect were verified by letters from former members. As Governor of the state I then made an examination of his office, for the purpose of ascertaining what companies had been examined and what fees and disbursments had been charged. I at once discovered that the books of the Auditor's office did not show what examintions had been made, or what had been charged for them, or indeed anything in respect to the subject. The only papers that could be found, relating to the examinations under consideration, were some reports of examinations. In this situation the Auditor was asked, under the advice of the Attorney General, to complete his books in this respect, so we might know what had been done and what money had been collected. The term expired, and Mr. Merriam left the office without complying with this request. The present Auditor, Mr. B. F. Carroll, was requested by the Executive Council to correspond with the insurance companies that had been doing business in Iowa, and discover, if possible, when and by whom examinations had been made, and what had been charged for them. He prepared blanks for this purpose, and I now have the result of his investigation. I summerize it as folows:

Examinations made (a few in Iowa) - - -	116.
Charged for examinations - - - - -	$23,267.03.

No man should be judged without a hearing, and these men have had no hearing. It may be that they can explain what they have done so that all adverse criticism will be unwarranted. I think it is your duty to give them an opportunity to do so. Upon the face of the papers that I have, and upon the information that I have received, it appears that many of these examinations were not in good faith, were without value, and that the farce was enacted for no other purpose than to collect money which had not been earned. It seems, from the ex parte inquiry that we have been able to make, that nearly all the insurance companies paid what was demanded of them, simply because they knew that the Auditor held a power which he could exercise to their injury. It is due to these men, as well as to the reputation of the commonwealth that these matters be investigated by a committee having authority to ascertain the whole truth; and if it be found that the power of the state of Iowa has been used by unworthy officers to coerce payments for which no honest service was rendered, I recommend the reinbursement of the sums so unjustly exacted.

To make my recommendation complete upon the matter of fees being made payable directly to the treasury, I suggest that the law relating to the Pharmacy Commission, the Bank Examiners, the Oil Inspectors, the Dental Board, the Veterinary Board, and all other boards, commissions, and offices with which the contrary practice prevails, should be changed so as to require payment of fees as above indicated.

PUNISHMENT FOR CRIMES—PARDONS AND PAROLES.

A detailed statement of all pardons and suspension of sentences, otherwise known as paroles, is submitted herewith, as required by law, During the two years of my term, I have released, upon absolute pardon, six prisoners, not including the seven conditional pardons issued upon the recommendation of the Twenty-ninth General Assembly. I have, in the same time, released from penitentiares, jails, and industrial schools, one hundred and forty-three prisoners upon suspensions of sentences.

Of the paroled prisoners, I have returned nineteen to imprisonment for violation of the terms of parole, of which fourteen had been paroled by my predecessors; of the remaining one hunered and thirty-seven, it gives me pleasure to say that substantially all of them are living uprightly, and give promise of enduring reformation.

Of paroled prisoners, I have restored sixty-eight to complete citizenship upon a showing of worthiness. I have not done this, however, in any case, save one or two exceptional instances, until the period for which the sentence was imposed had passed, and generally not until a considerabie time thereafter.

Having thus stated the essential facts, I desire to consider, a moment, the general subjects of paroles. The rule by which I have been guided in the main, is this: If a prisoner could show a good life prior to the commission of the offense, and the circumstances indicated that the crime was what may be termed an accidental, incidental, and solitary one, and did not proceed from a criminal habit, and if upon a full investigation there seemed to be a probability of reform and a law-abiding life, I have inclined toward giving such a prisoner a chance to become a respectable, self-supporting member of society. My experience has deepened my conviction that the parole system ought to be preserved, but in so saying, I am quite conscious that it ought also to be perfected.

Assuming that the discretion, which must be reposed somewhere, is properly exercised, the system has one serious defect. Whenever a prisoner is paroled, there is an interference with the judgment of the court. The power of the Governor overrides the sentence of the judge. There is thus created a conflict which unhappily tends to impair the confidence of the people in the administration of criminal law, and begets a feeling that the sentence of a judge is not to be feared. A philosophical analysis of the exercise of the two powers, removes any such apparent collision, but the people reason upon broad lines, and I know that the sentiment, which I have endeavored to express, exists. It seems to me, therefore, that this apparent antagonism should be removed. I believe that the parole should be consistent with the execution of the sentence imposed by the court, indeed, should carry out the sentence. To accomplish this, it is evident that some phase of the plan of indeterminate sentences should be adopted, and I earnestly hope that you will give the subject the attention which its importance demands, and so amend our law that a prisoner may be paroled without seeming to strike down the judgment of the court which imposed the sentence.

I do not believe that a board of pardons is necessary. So long as the Governor is required, under the constitution, to take the responsibility for the release of prisoners, I think the investigation which precedes the parole can be carried forward just as well in the Governor's office as anywhere else, and I concur with my distinguished predecessor in saying that no rule can be formulated to govern the discretion which must in the very nature of things be exercised.

The Governor should be authorized to employ one or two additional agents. The critical time for a paroled prisoner is the period which immediately follows his release. I have made it a general rule not to discharge anyone unless I know that employment of proper character is at hand. I very much need one or two persons to assist in securing work for prisoners who are without friends; and to watch over them and lend a helping hand until they are again fairly established among their fellowmen. With these additions to my force, and until the present population grows much larger than it is, the work can be done as efficiently in my office as through a board of pardons.

Touching the same general subject, I beg to call your attention to the movement which is now general throughout the country, to better care for the boys and girls who are led into crime. There ought to be a marked difference between the treatment given to the mature and the immature criminal. By far the greater number of the boys and girls who are arrested and convicted, could be saved from lives of wrongdoing, if intelligent and merciful supervision were exercised at the time they first violate the law. It is cruel to them and hurtful to the state to consign them to the association of hardened and habitual lawbreakers. There is no subject which better deserves your careful thought than this.

THE INEBRIATE LAW.

The report of the Board of Control, concerning the operation of the law for the care and confinement of inebriates, passed by the Twenty-ninth General Assembly, merits your most serious consideration. Being charged with duties in the enforcement of the statute, I have given to it and to its results the most careful thought and investigation. I believe that the general principle of the law should be preserved, for its influence upon men given to habits of intemperance, but who fear the humiliation of confinement, has been widespread and effective; but I say without hesitation that if it cannot be amended it should be repealed.

The plan of sending inebriates to insane hospitals is bad, not only for the inebriates, but for the insane. This is the unanimous opinion of the Board of Control, of all the superintendents of the hospitals, and I have seen enough of its ill effects to lead me into an earnest appeal to provide some other place of detention.

I believe further that the minimum term of confinement should be one year. To me it is absurd to declare that any person who is in such condition as to warrant his involuntary withdrawal from the community upon the ground of inebriety, can be cured in thirty days.

I believe further, that when physically able, inebriates in confinement should be given an opportunity to work and be required to do so. It is clear that, wherever they are confined they should be so guarded, either by walls or attendants, that they cannot escape.

Under the present law it is made my imperative duty, upon the certificate of the superintendent of the hospital, that in his opinion the patient is cured, to issue a parole. I have no discretion in the matter. It certainly ought to be true that upon a violation of the terms of the parole the patient could be returned summarily to the place of detention, and yet, as I understand the statute, if the paroled inebriate makes his reports regularly, he cannot be returned, even though it is known that he is drunk every day.

I have found also, that for the efficient working of such a law, it will be necessary to create a fund, either in the county or state treasury, for the return to confinement of inebriates who break faith.

Taking it all together, the statute, while growing out of a high conceptionof the duty of the state to its citizens, needs thorough revision, and I sincerely hope that you can give to the work of reconstructing it, the attention its importance demands.

A PRIMARY ELECTION LAW.

There has been much discussion in Iowa during the past few years rcspecting a primary election law, and I believe that public opinion has gradually ripened so that now there is a great preponderance of sentiment in favor of some regulation that will insure common decency and fairness in the nomination of candidates for office. There is practically no fraud, dishonesty, or even unfairness in the conduct of general elections, but the manner in which caucuses, party primaries, and other proceedings leading up to nominations are held; and the practices which attend them in many parts of the State, have become intolerable with clean, fair-minded people.

Corruption in this important stage of government poisons free institutions at their fountain head, and there is nothing can be done for the removal of this blot upon our affairs too difficult nor too expensive to be undertaken. I need not recount the evidences of my statements. They are all around you, and are well known to every man who gives the most casual attention to what is going on.

I commend the subject to your careful consideration, and earnestly recommend the passage of a law which will surround the selection of candidates with the same safeguards against intrigue, dishonesty and unfairness, that already exist with regard to the election of candidates to office.

While I recognize that there are wide differences of opinion concerning the scope, as well as the detail of such a law, I venture to express the opinion that it should have the following features:

First—It should include all municipal, county, state, and congressional offices, filled by the voters.

Second—The primary election for all political parties should be held at the same place and time.

Third—It should include a system of registration, where registration is now required at general elections, and where registration is not required at general elections, it should include an adequate plan for identifying the voters.

Fourth—It should provide severe penalties for fraud, intimidation and bribery.

The greatest objection which I have found in studying the measures adopted by other states, and the subject generally, has been that in the complete primary election system, a plurality, instead of a majority, will nominate. I regard this as a weakness, because it prevents in some instances the exercise of a second choice, which is ofttimes of great value.

It seems to me, therefore, that the delegate convention ought to be preserved, and that the law should arrange for the selection of delegates. If any candidate, whether for a city, county, state or congressional office, receives a majority of the votes cast in the territory which fills the office, the delegates chosen would have no other duty but to record the decision of the voters. If, however, no candidate receives a majority of the votes cast by his party, then the delegates chosen with the instructions given them by the vote, should work out in the convention their second choice.

These suggestions are intended as a mere outline of the views I have formed in looking into the matter, and I lay them before you, not so much as a recommendation for any particular law, as a way of indicating to you my conviction that some adequate legislation is necessary.

GOOD ROADS.

There is nothing which Iowa needs, which she has not, more than good roads. It is unnecessary to enlarge upon the subject, because the want is recognized by every thoughtful man. Can the need be supplied? I believe it can be. It will require years to accomplish the purpose; but we ought to begin now. We should adopt a permanent plan and work upon it so that what is done one year will not be lost the next. I submit my opinion with diffidence to men of your wide experience and observation; but as I have thought much upon it, I give you my conclusions:

The roads to be improved should be first surveyed to ascertain the grade, easiest method of drainage, the character of the soil, and all other conditions which are essential to be known. The plan of improvement should then be made. So much of the work should be done by the state, and if committed to the engineering departments of the University and the Agricultural College, it could be done without great expense.

When the plan for any county is complete, it should be presented to the Board of Supervisors, and if found satisfactory, adopted.

Thereafter the work done on any road embraced in the plan should proceed accordingly. In this way we can gradually secure good roads. We must go forward slowly, to avoid the burden of increased taxation, but let us at least go forward. I am thoroughly convinced that there is no investment that will yield the people a larger return than the money intelligently spent in the betterment of highways.

THE CENSUS OF 1905.

Section 33 of Article 3 of the Constitution requires the general assembly to cause an enumeration to be made of all the inhabitants of the state in 1905. Section 171 of the Code of 1897 repealed former regulations respecting the taking of the census, and limits the work to the ascertainment of the number of males, females, persons entitled to vote, and the number of the militia. It is obvious that if no further authority be given, the census of 1905 will be of very little importance.

In modern times the collection of information, and the gathering of statistics and their compilation in the form of a census report, has not only become a well recognized function of the government, but a necessity for the guidance of society. The census to be taken next year should be a complete compendium of all the knowledge that the most modern view demands for such a work.

I therefore recommend that the statute be so amended and that such an appropriation be made as will enable the proper officers to issue a census report, adequate in its scope, and complete in its detail.

In this connection I also recommend that the Commissioner of the Bureau of Labor Statistics be authorized to co-operate with the National Census Department in certain matters relating to manufactures, the full explanation of which will appear in communications from the department at Washington, copies of which will be laid before you.

PUBLIC DOCUMENTS.

We have now erected a warehouse in which all the public documents can be placed, and have arranged to equip it with shelves so that these documents may be kept something after the manner of a library. I recommend that the law be so amended that all public documents shall be delivered by the State printer and binder to the Executive Council, and that all bills for printing and binding shall be passed upon by the Council; that under the supervision of the Council, the distribution of documents as now provided, shall be made; that a certain number of each issue, say two hundred, shall be kept for future uses, and that the remaining volumes of each report shall be distributed by the Council upon requisition of the officer, department, board or commission issuing it. If these changes be authorized, we can preserve order in our public documents, an order which is sadly needed for their safe keeping and proper distribution.

EDUCATIONAL INSTITUTIONS.

By virtue of my office I have been, during the past two years, a member of the Board of Regents of the State University and of the Board of Trustees of the Iowa State College of Agriculture and Mechanic Arts. I have faithfully attempted to become familiar with the work of these institutions, and I believe I know their needs.

With respect to the Iowa State Normal School, I have no such intimate knowledge, and therefore submit the report of its Board without comment, save to express my belief that its financial affairs have been honestly and wisely managed, and the school conducted by a master mind.

With respect to the State University, and the Iowa State College of Agriculture and Mechanic Arts, I know that the appropriations made for them have been expended with a painstaking economy and a strenuous effort to make them cover wants which they will not cover, the like of which I have rarely seen. I have advised both these Boards to lay before you the needs of their respective institutions, without regard to the probability of your being able to supply them all at this time. I have no sympathy, nor indeed tolerance, for the attitude sometimes assumed, of appearing before you, asking something, and fearing lest too much should be asked. I have said to them, and I now repeat to you, that these institutions belong to the State of Iowa, and these Boards are simply trustees to manage them as best they may; and it is their duty to report to you their exact condition and all their needs, and it is for you to supply them if you can.

I speak now of my own knowledge. We might as well face the unpleasant fact that, with respect to support, equipment, and buildings we are behind the times, and in these respects we compare unfavorable with the states that would be naturally chosen for comparison. We may well be proud of the instructional force of both these institutions. It is superb, and its strength and loyalty keep both the University and the College in the front, notwithstanding the meagerness of compensation, the inadequacy of numbers, and the incompleteness of equipment. We can well boast, also, of the student bodies, for in everything which makes up the promise of superior manhood and womanhood, they are not surpassed. It is, however, true that both of them must have more support or they will fall behind in the race. and both of them must have more bulldings or we cannot hope to educate and train our boys and girls at home.

I refer now more especially to the buildings. The State University needs imperativly and needs now, a science hall, an engineering hall, an auditorium, a library, a law building, an additional medical building, a detention hospital, and a gymnasium.

The Iowa State College of Agriculture and Mechanic Arts needs, and needs sadly, a central heating plant, a hall of agricul ture, a library, a domestic science building, an auditorium, a gymnasium, a dairy building, and a dairy farm. If we intend to carry on successfully the magnificent work that is fairly begun at Iowa City and at Ames, and to give our boys and girls an opportunity equal to that afforded elsewhere, we must have these buildings, and they must be equipped.

Do not understand me to recommend that immediate appropriations be made covering all these wants, but I do earnestly urge upon you the necessity of making such provision as will insure these additions and improvements as speedily as possible. The taxpayers of Iowa have never complained of any expenditure for the training of their children, the development of a better citizenship and more efficient men and women.

I have reflected a great deal upon the methods of creating the support funds of our educational institutions, as distinguished from building and equipment funds. I am thoroughly convinced that it ought to be through special taxes, and not through general appropriations. The experience of other states that have adopted this plan is most satisfactory. It has many advantages that will at once occur to you, but the one which recommeuds it most strongly to me is that it will enable every taxpayer, upon looking at his tax receipt, to know exactly what he is contributing to the support of these institutions, and the knowledge thus acquired and continually impressed upon him will lead to a more intelligent appreciation of the subject than is otherwise probable.

THE BOARD OF CONTROL.

The work of this Board still vindicates the wisdom of the law creating it, and still commands the confidence of the people.

It would be idle for me to attempt a review of its report in the limited time which I may consume. I can only give it my unqualified commendation, and express my belief that a comparison of the condition of the institutions, under its management, as they now are, with their condition at the time the change was made, will gratify every disciple of economy and every lover of humanity.

BUREAU OF LABOR STATISTICS.

One of the most interesting, as well as instructive, reports submitted to you is that of the Commissioner of the Bureau of Labor Statistics. No better work has ever been done in this department than is recorded in this report. The importance of the supervision exercised by the Commissioner is not yet fully appreciated. Even a casual examination of the subject makes it clear that we need more stringent legislation respecting child labor, fire escapes, the reporting of accidents, and the competency of employes whose work involves the lives and safety of others. Our factory inspections are imperfect, simply because the force in the Commissioner's office is not sufficient. I commend these matters to your attention.

OIL INSPECTORS.

I concur in the recommendation of the Secretary of State to the following effect:

All supplies furnished to inspectors should be bought and furnished by the Executive Council.

Dealers in oils, when giving notice to the inspectors of the arrival of oil, should inform the Secretary of State of the quantity to be inspected.

THE CAPITOL COMMISSION.

The Capitol Commission has submitted to me a report which is now laid before you, showing with great precision what it has done, and the reasons which have influenced it in adopting its plans, in making its expenditures, and in creating the obligations which it shows.

I have kept closely in touch with the work of the Commission, and while it may add nothing to your confidence in the discretion of the eminent gentlemen who compose the body, it gives me pleasure to say that I have heartily approved of all that has been done.

It is not surprising that when the Commission came to critically examine a building which has stood without substantial repair since its foundation was laid thirty years ago, it found many things to be done which had escaped the observation of the preliminary commission, and that it discovered that the cost of the work was largely in excess of the estimate.

It was with the advice of the Executive Council that the location of the warehouse just north of the Capitol, and the character of its construction were determined. The Commission acted wisely, in my opinion, when it combined the work relating to heating, ventilation, electrical equipment, and elevators, involving an obligation in excess of the sum which could be legally drawn during the year 1903.

As I understand the report to which I have referred, the Commission had expended on the 1st day of January, $120,878.17 and had incurred obligations for work, nearly all of which has been done, to the amount of $70,089.35. Under the present law no more than $125,000.00 can be drawn prior to July 1, 1904. Under these circumstances I recommend that immediate action be taken by the General Assembly, putting the whole balance of the appropriation at the disposal of the Commission, or, if it be found that the late fire in the Capitol, to which I shall here-after refer, necessitates a change in the improvement and repair of the building, that a sum sufficient to discharge liabilities already created, shall be made at once payable.

ROSTER OF IOWA SOLDIERS IN THE CIVIL WAR.

The history of Iowa soldiers and sailors in the civil war is a subject of ever increasing interest. The loyalty of this commonwealth was not surpassed by any state in the Union. It always furnished promptly, indeed eagerly, many more than its quota. It sent into the service nearly half of its young men, and more than one fifth of them were in their graves before the war closed at Appomattox. The courage of these men in every battle in which they were engaged was as conspicuous as their enthusiasm in enlistment. It can be safely said that there is no community more justly proud of the achievements of its sons in war, than ours. Nowhere is there more gratitude to those who have passed away, or more affection for those who still survive.

The records of Iowa men it the war are lamentably incomplete. We have no publication which gives, in useful form the enlistments, the service, the casualties, and the muster out of the Iowa men. The Adjutant General's reports from 1863 to 1868 contain a great deal of the information that is desired, and some of it may be found in the departments at Washington, but further information could be collected, and all of it should be compiled.

In 1885 Ohio, under William McKinley, began a complete roster of the Ohio regiments. The work was completed eight years later, in eleven volumes, giving the name of every soldier with date and place of enlistment, date of muster out, of promotions casualties sustained, list of battles, etc. Even earlier, Indiana began the work, and has published seven volumes of like records Illinois, Wisconsin, Minnesota, and Kansas, have published, or are publishing a similar compilation.

The time is rapidly passing in which any information not already in reports, can be gathered.

I therefore recommend that you authorize the beginning of this work, and that its scope be broad enough to include not only the soldiers and sailors of the civil war, but the soldiers and sailors of the Spanish war as well. It is not like many other things, which can be deferred for future years. To be well done, it must be done now.

HISTORICAL BUILDING.

I had occasion two years ago, in my inaugural address, to make some comment with respect to the importance of completing the historical building. Close observation, and a somewhat intimate connection with the subject since that time have strengthened my conviction that we ought to at once begin the construction of the central part and east wing of this building.

Remembering, as I constantly do, other imperative demands upon the treasury, I think the work ought to be continued during three or four years. I find, upon examination, that contracts can be let for the erection of the remaining parts, payable as I have suggested, without loss to the State, and it can be so arranged that the central portion can be occupied as soon as complete.

STATE ARSENAL AND NATIONAL GUARD.

My experience during the last two years has shown me that as soon as practicable the State should erect an arsenal, with quarters for the Adjutant General. When I entered my office I had little conception of the value of the National Guard. It had not occurred to me that the State Militia was a very important part of the State government. I have entirely changed my views. There are no men in the State who are performing the duties of citizenship more faithfully than the officers and men of the Guard, and I cordially commend them to your friendly consideration.

In the recent military maneuvers at Fort Riley, the regiment representing Iowa, commanded by Colonel James R. Lincoln, won the highest honors among the militia, and their conduct, efficiency and skill, gave new lustre to the reputation of the State. An arsenal at the seat of government is essential to the proper care and development of the Guard, and therefore I favor its early construction.

I also recommend the establishment of a permanent camp and drill ground. Under the present practice, each regiment camps annually at some place selected by the Adjutant General. I am clearly of the opinion that it would add to the efficiency and spirit of the service if all the Iowa regiments could camp and drill together. It would not only introduce a friendly rivalry between the regiments, that is much to be desired, but a few inexpensive buildings of a permanent character would much contribute to the convenience of the men. The cost of providing such facilities would not be large if taken up in a judicious way, and I sincerely hope that you will find it practicable to make the necessary appropriation for this purpose.

THE LATE FIRE IN THE CAPITOL.

As you all know, a fire occurred in the Capitol on Monday, January 4, 1904, which substantially destroyed the interior finish of the hall of the House of Representatives, wrecked some of the committee rooms in the north wing, and the water used in extinguishing it, damaged to some extent the ceilings of the rooms and offices opening from the north corridor upon the main floor.

The Executive Council made an immediate investigation for the purpose of ascertaining the origin of the fire, and, after examining under oath, every person who had any knowledge of the subject, so far as it could ascertain, it arrived at the conclusion that the fire originated in an air shaft near the southeast corner of room No. 5, and that it came from a lighted candle, left in the shaft by one of the electrical workers engaged in equipping the building with electric lights.

Fortunately the disaster was not so great as at one time it was feared it would be, and a comparatively small sum will be required to repair the injury. A most careful examination of the structural iron, and walls, has been made by the most competent experts that could be employed, and it has been ascertained that they have suffered little injury. For the temporary repairs hereafter mentioned, a few splices and bolts are all that will be necessary, and for the permanent repair the substitution of a few beams, girders and rods.

Under the informal advice of a caucus of the members of the Thirtieth General Assembly, the Executive Council empowered the Capitol Commission to go forward, clear away the debris, and put the hall of the House of Representatives in order for use during the present session. So rapidly has this work been dispatched, that it is now believed that the House of Representatives can occupy it at the close of the coming week.

As I have already reported, what is known as the providential contingent fund, put at the disposal of the Executive Council by the Twenty-ninth General Assembly, was entirely exhausted in repairing the fire losses occurring at the School for the Deaf and Dumb at Council Bluffs, the Iowa College of Agriculture and Mechanics Arts, at Ames, and the damage from a tornado at the School for the Feeble Minded, at Glenwood. We are, therefore, without any available money to defray what may be termed the fire expenses, which consist of the payment of men employed on the day of the fire for various things which it is not necessary to mention, and to pay for the temporary repair of the hall of the House of Rcpresentatives, which is now being carried on. I have not been able to secure precise information as to the outlay which will be required for these two purposes, but inasmuch as the obligations created must be discharged immediately, I recommend that an appropriation be at once made of $8.000.00. What remains can be carried into the providential contingent fund, which undoubtedly will be created later in your session.

With respect to the permanent repair of the injury caused by the fire, I have three suggestions to make:

First—I believe that the Capitol Commission, already in working order, should be charged with the duty of repair, in connection with the completion of the plan provided for by the Twenty-ninth General Assembly.

Second—I believe that the material used in reconstruction should be as nearly fireproof as possible.

Third—I believe that an adequate water supply should be installed in the building.

APPLICATION FOR PARDONS BY PRISONERS CONVICTED OF MURDER IN THE FIRST DEGREE AND SENTENCED FOR LIFE.

There have been filed in my office eighteen applications for pardon, by persons convicted of the crime of murder in the first degree and sentenced to imprisonment for life in the penitentiary. Publication as required by law has been made in these ca-es, and the papers are at your disposal for such investigation as it seems proper to make.

More complete detail will be found in the report submitted by me respecting pardons. suspensions, commutations of sentences and remissions of fines.

CALLING OUT OF MILITIA TO PRESERVE ORDER AT DUBUQUE.

On the 20th day of June 1903, under the call of the Sheriff of Dubuque County, supplemented by the representations of many of the citizens of Dubuque, and after a full investigation, I ordered three companies of the National Guard to Dubuque, for the purpose of keeping the peace, and preventing the destruction of property.

Th difficulty grew out of a strike of the street railway employes. As soon as the troops had arrived, I visited Dubuque in order to inform myself more accurately of the conditions then existing. With the aid of the good people of that city I was able, within a short time, to bring about an adjustment of the controversy between the street car company and its employes, and to return the militia to their homes.

I take this opportunity of expressing my appreciation of the faithful service rendered by the officers and men of the Guard in the midst of trouble that at one time appeared to be very serious.

DRAINAGE.

Our experience during the past two years has shown with conclusive force that our laws relating to drainage need complete revision. It is unnecessary for me to go further into the subject, because its importance is deeply impressed upon a great majority of the members of the Thirtieth General Assembly. I earnestly recommend such adequate legislation as will enable the land owners of this State to protect themselves against rainfalls such as we have recently witnessed.

CORPORATIONS.

I had an opportunity two years ago, in my inaugural address, to define to some extent my views upon the organization of corporations. The history of this State, as well as the country, since that time, demonstrates beyond controversy that in the organization of corporations, the law ought to limit the issuance of capital stock to the amount actually paid to the corporation for it. You can render your constituents no better service than to so amend our laws as to make it certain that the capital stock of a corporation, together with any bonded indebtedness, shall not exceed the money or the value of the property coming into the possession of the corporation as the consideration for such stocks and bonds. The most serious menance to the prosperity which has been so generally enjoyed by the people of the United States during the last few years, has grown out of over-capitalization.

I believe also that, before any corporation about to be organizad is permitted to file its articles of incorporation in the office of Secretary of State, they ought to be submitted to a board, composed of the Executive Council and the Attorney General for approval. Our experience has shown that this is necessary in order to restrict corporations within legitimate lines, and to exclude those which are organized for an unlawful or a dishonest purpose. If you will examine the records of the office of the Secretary of State for the past two years, you will feel no doubt respecting the propriety of this suggestion.

LOUISIANA PURCHASE EXPOSITION COMMISSION.

The work of this Commission is fairly under way. Our State building is practically complete, and it will not suffer in comparison with any other. Under the law creating the Commission and making the appropriation, one-half of the sum appropriated is not payable until June 30, 1904. The exposition begins May 1st, 1904, and it is clear that the fund is needed between now and the opening.

I, therefore, recommend that the law be amended so as to enable the last half of the appropriation to be drawn whenever required by the needs of the Commission.

I am advised that the members of the Commission believe that an additional appropriation ought to be made. Upon this phase of the matter my information is not sufficiently definite to warrant specific recommendation.

I can only repeat what I have so often said respecting the importance of the occasion. It is obvious that the Commission should know at once what sum is to be expended.

IN MEMORIAM.

Since last you met, the hand of death has removed many of the eminent citizens of the commonwealth. One of them, Francis Marion Drake, was formerly the Chief Executive of the state of Iowa. He was a man whose youth exhibited the best characteristics of our pioneer period, whose early manhood was brilliant with patriotic courage in the defense of his country, and whose middle life and old age were full of that wisdom which insures the perpetuity of the Republic. His memory will be long revered by the people of his state.

Another of the distinguished dead is Joshua G. Newbold, who became Governor of the State of Iowa upon the selection of Samuel J. Kirkwood as a member of the cabinet of the United States. Governor Newbold was a man whose whole life was an exemplification of the virtues of humanity, and, ripe in years, he passed away amid the affection of his friends and the respect of his fellowmen.

CONCLUSION.

You meet under fortunate conditions. You come directly from a people who hold as perfect a conception of good government as any people in the world. They are prosperous and contented. They believe in the sovereignty of the law. They are not moved by prejudice, nor swept by passion. The duties you have assumed are not light; but they will be discharged free from the influences which sometimes make legislation difficult and disagreeable.

With profound confidence in the high character of the work that will come from your hands, the foregoing message is respectfully submitted.

Albert B. Cummins

INAUGURAL ADDRESS

OF

Albert B. Cummins

GOVERNOR OF THE STATE OF IOWA

DELIVERED

JANUARY 14, 1904

PRINTED BY ORDER OF THE GENERAL ASSEMBLY

DES MOINES
B. MURPHY, STATE PRINTER
1904

GOVERNOR'S INAUGURAL ADDRESS.

Senators, Representatives and Fellow Citizens:

With the profoundest gratitude for the confidence again reposed in me, and the most solemn appreciation of the duties which I have again undertaken, I enter upon my second term as Chief Executive of the State of Iowa.

I am conscious of some mistakes; you undoubtedly have perceived others. It would be idle to say that no more will be made; but I repeat the promise that I will faithfully try to do what is right, and say what is true, as God gives me to see the right and discern the truth.

Since the Thirtieth General Assembly convened, I have, in compliance with the Constitution, laid before its members my views respecting many subjects of purely local concern. Permit me, however, a further word especially directed to the interests of our State.

As I look backward, pride kindles into a growing flame, and as I look forward, hope paints a delightful picture. Two years have intervened since I stood before the Twenty-ninth General Assembly and my fellowmen on a like occasion, and I am glad to be able to say that during this period the people of the State have been prosperous, peaceful and content. Honest labor has had its reward, and sagacious enterprise its profit. While the swift pace, so marked in business and commerce a short while ago, has somewhat slackened, we are making sure progress in a saner and safer way; and it is not to be regretted that we have paused a little to get our breath and take our bearings. Activity in Iowa, or elsewhere, may not be so intense, but it is reasonably certain that the year immediately before us has much of good and little of evil in it. There is nothing foreboding or menacing in the signs of the time. The two years over which my retrospect goes have witnessed, in some parts of our country, a shrinkage in fictitious values which no other nation could have endured without marked disaster; but with us the process has gone on, attended rather with relief than with regret. We are nearing normal conditions through a storm which, though severe, has left few honest wrecks behind it. Least of all has Iowa suffered, and least of all will it suffer. Our people are steady, our business men conservative, and our chief industries are planted upon the firmest rock which sustains industrial structures.

The more I study the relation which this commonwealth holds to the rest of the world, the more serene I feel. There are communities whose energies are mainly employed in making and selling things which, for a period at least, men and women can cease to buy, or buy sparingly; but so long as mortals eat, the business of this State can neither perish nor seriously languish.

I have frequently heard it said that we must develop manufactories to be great. I agree that we would be greater with mills and factories, but I would not exchange the fertile fields of Iowa for all the manufacturing enterprises that could be crowded within our borders. We do not sufficiently appreciate our distinction. We can produce more of the things essential to life upon the fifty-five thousand square miles which comprise our territory than can be produced upon any other like contiguous area in the world. Not only so, but I believe we now surpass, in such productions, any other like extent of land. Remembering these things, and remembering too, that we are barely tickling our generous soil, and that what it will do in response to a full demand passes the most fervid imagination, we ought to mutually congratulate ourselves upon the vantage ground we occupy. We have the fairest opportunity ever offered to mankind for high civilization, exalted morals, good government, intelligent citizenship, honorable riches and that hopeful poverty from which faithful effort swings wide the door into comfortable competence.

At this point permit me to take you into my full confidence and confess that I found it difficult to determine just what phase of our public life to consider during the short time I am to detain you. I meet this difficulty frequently, and you shall know what it is and why the question which always arises is not an easy one to answer. Assuming that I am to speak upon some subject which concerns the growth of evolution of mankind as organized into government, an address falls naturally into one of two veins. We either inquire into what has been done and what is being done—what we have been and are, as a prelude to a eulogy upon things already accomplished and victories already won, leaving it to be implied that we have done enough and are good enough; or, we use the same premises as an introduction to the conclusion that there are many things that ought to have been done which are still undone, and that, although a progress has made which cheers the heart and inspires the mind, there is still vast room for expansion and a beckoning opportunity for improvement. In the moment of decision there are two voices of which we are always conscious. The one whispers, stand still and look upon what has been done, and, looking upon it be content to cover it with the glory it deserves. The other thunders into our ears the imperative command, move on, discover what is to be done and without fear and trembling lift up the flag of reform and change, if reform and change are needed.

In these days of extraordinary prosperity in wealth getting, of unparalleled activity in the production of material things and of mighty national pride, it is not strange that the vein of public speech first suggested, is the more alluring, for its brilliant climaxes easily find the most enthusiastic responses in the popular heart. It is the well considered judgment of many men, eminent in success, and potent in affairs, that it is a species of treason to even breathe a doubt of the completeness of life, or to suggest that there are better conditions possible for mankind and higher altitudes in which the Government may move. They have no toleration for the opinion that if we would create these conditions and attain these altitudes, or even preserve what we have, it is esssential to employ the keenest faculties of the mind and the noblest virtues of the heart in creating new policies for new conditions, in strengthening the civilization in which we live, and in bettering the laws, customs, and habits which perscribe our relations to our fellowmen, and which direct the course of organized society. There are so many honorable pages in the history of our country attesting deeds we love to praise and recording words we love to repeat, that I was much tempted, in preparing for this occasion to pursue the easy path, and thus commend myself to the much feared, greatly beloved, and distinguished personages who honestly believe that he who advocates a change in anything is unsafe, a disturber of the public tranquility and an enemy of business stability and social permanence. It may happen that these men already have all they want and more than they desire, but as to that I shall not pause to inquire.

I have deliberately chosen the other vein, impelled, I hope, by a sense of duty—drawn into it I know, by a conscious inclination. I have never been a disciple of the doctrine expressed in a phrase that has now become famous—"let well enough alone." Abstractly viewed, the maxim is beyond criticism, but its fatal weakness lies in the fact that there never was, nor will be, a day in which it was, or will be, well enough with any community, with any state, or with any nation. When any society ceases to grow better, it has begun to grow worse. There is no such thing as rest in the economy of the universe, and no such thing as "stand pat" in the order of the living world. The dead may heed the injunction, no others can.

I belong to a class, humble, but numerous, earnest and faithful, who believe that what we have today is good, but what we will have tomorrow is to be better: and we propose an honest, persistent effort for the realization of our hopes.

I have said that Iowa leads all her sister states in the products of agriculture, and in the very nature of things she must always maintain the leadership which Providence bestowed upon her. In the years to come there will be one transformation, for in obedience to the natural law which directs the factory to the raw material, our products will be converted into their ultimate form upon our own soil; but this revolution will only serve to make more distinctive our commanding relation to the world of trade. With this understanding of our real place in the commerce, not only of our own, but of other nations, I want a word, first with the farmers of the State, and second, with the men engaged in other kinds of buisness, but whose success and prosperity depend absolutely upon the welfare of the farmers.

With the incoming of the century, the United States put on a new and brilliant garb. It has become a power, interested and potential in the affairs of the whole earth. It is not my purpose to dwell upon the added dignity and importance of American citizenship, or the added luster which shines from our mantle of sovereignty. I leave these fascinating aspects of our national life, upon this occasion, for more practical things.

Contemporaneously with our advent into the wider sphere of influence, the commercial nations seemed to awaken to a conc iousness of what we were doing in the way of trade, and they were amazed to find that we had taken the first place in the business of the world. They perceived for the first time apparently, that while we were making mighty inroads on their markets, they were practically shut out of ours. Day by day the appreciation of the situation grew more complete, and the consequence has been an intelligent and continuous effort on the part of each nation to so adjust its laws and treaties as to give the maximum amount of work to its own people. Free trade, or any semblance of it, both in laws and in the minds of men, disappeared, and there is now but one nation of importance upon the face of the earth that harbors that delusion, and mark my word that the moment Joseph Chamberlain is able to take the sense of the English people, it will disappear there also. So long as we were able to exclude competitive commodities from our markets and enter other lands practically without hindrance, we occupied an ideal position, one which, if it could continue, would make us the absolute masters of the commercial world. But it could not continue, it has not continued; and henceforth we must fight for even a fair chance abroad.

Keeping this meager outline of what is going on across the seas in mind, let us view the situation at home. I trust it will not offend the proprieties of this hour if I say that under the influence of a wise and efficient system of protection, coupled with the enterprise and genius of the men of the United States, working upon most varied and inexhaustible accumulation of raw material that the providence of the Almighty ever bestowed upon a country, we have accomplished a development which for its diversification and capacity of production has no parallel in the history of nations. We have reached a point where a billion dollars substantially measures the value of our annual exports of agricultural products, and a half a billion the value of our exports in manufactures. So far as our own capacity goes, we can increase both indefinitely; but if we do so, it must be through the medium of international trade arrangements—trade bargains that in the language of diplomacy and politics are known as "Reciprocity."

Reciprocity is the generic name given to any trade treaty or trade law which prescribes the terms under which exports from the United States shall enter a foreign country, and the terms under which the exports from any such foreign country shall enter the United States. In one sense it may be said to be a partisan policy, for it cannot be separated from the system of protection. In another, and broader sense, it presents purely a business question, which ought to be answered without a tinge of party color and without a breath of party spirit. View it as it pleases you, while I pursue, for a few moments this inquiry: Ought the farmers of Iowa, and those who depend upon them, to be for or against the general policy of reciprocity? Allow me to go a little farther into definitions. There are two opinions upon the subject, which have now crystallized, and which make a clear, sharp, issue. There are those who assert that they believe in reciprocity, but insist that no trade arrangement shall be made which will permit any article or commodity which we can produce, to enter our ports upon more favorable terms than is prescribed in the existing tariff schedules, or, in other words, that it shall include only such things as we do not and cannot produce in this country. It is hard to believe that any thoughtful person holds this opinion, coupled with an expectation that such a trade arrangement can be made, or that it would be of any value to the people of the United States, if made. No one can reach such a conclusion who at the same time believes in protection, for one of the fundamental principles of the system is the free admission, or the admission with a revenue duty only, of things we cannot produce. More than that, no one will assert with seriousness that we can secure in any foreign country any substantial advantage upon the consideration of the free admission of noncompetitive commodities. This view hardly rises to the dignity of a delusion, and my observation is, that it is a mere cloak to conceal opposition to any trade arrangement whatever, and to any disturbance of existing laws.

The other opinion of reciprocity, which, as I read history, has been held and advocated by every statesman who really wanted to accomplish something in that direction, is that if we can make an international bargain that will, upon the whole, increase the volume of our production, and therefore put more men at work with our standard of compensation, we ought to do it, even though some particular manufacturer might suffer in the transaction.

As so interpreted, the doctrine is a mere extension of the policy of protection, and is consistent with the ends we have always sought to accomplish. Upon past occasions I have, and upon future occasions I may, enter upon a broader discussion of the whole topic than is at the present moment possible. I confine it now to the people of my own State, recognizing that in so far as it comports with the public good they ought to stand for the course which will most benefit agriculture.

It is obvious that the farmers' principal desire and paramount interest is to feed as many people as possible. They sell breadstuffs and meats in their various forms, both at home and abroad, and therefore they ought to be in favor of the policy which will maintain and multiply their markets in their own country, and protect and increase their markets in other countries. To put it in another form: It is plain that they should advocate the proposition which will add to the number of men at work in fields of industry other than agriculture at home, and which will remove burdensome restrictions and impositions which prevent a fair entry into markets abroad. Let us not be content with mere abstractions. It has been possible to make, and in my judgment it is still possible to make, a treaty with Canada which would, for years to come, make us practically masters of the imports into that dominion. In the last ten years American manufacturers have expended one hundred millions of dollars in the establishment of plants in Canada, which would have been kept at home, with all the labor which that implies, if there had been a fair and permanent relation existing between the two countries. Not only so, but every student of affairs knows that the chance we now have across the border will be completely destroyed unless we treat with our neighbors upon a fair reciprocal basis. The farmers of Iowa have lost something in the foreclosure of the opportunity to feed the men who are operating the plants to which I have referred, and they will lose more when Canada raises the barrier so that England, France and Germany will supply the material for the wonderful development upon which she is just entering, and which we are so well prepared to supply. It has been said thát in order to obtain these changes it will be necessary for us to let into our markets Canada's agricultural products or some of them. I believe this to be partially true; but let me ask the farmers of Iowa whether they think they would lose in the exchange? Which would you rather do, lose the market which would be created by our vast imports into Canada or meet Canada in competition in the things which you produce? I assert confidently that in the sharp struggle with Illinois, Wisconsin, Minnesota, the Dakotas, Nebraska, Kansas and Missouri you would never be able to discern the influence of Canada in corn, oats, barley, hay, cattle, horses, hogs, butter and eggs.

I go farther. We can make treaties with Central and South America, with France, Germany, Spain and Italy, that will immensely increase our exports of manufactures to those countries so that for every man deprived of employment here, we can put to work ten. You ought to have a chance to feed these added nine men, and why is it not given you? Simply because of the inertia which seems to prohibit the profane foot from planting itself within the sacred precincts of the tariff schedules.

And how is it with your markets abroad? In England there is still the open door; but you know that a mighty force is now swinging it in your faces, and it may not be long before on those islands there will not be even the "Gates ajar." Do you not think you ought to be alert and make some provision, if you can, for a pass key as the bolt slips in the socket.

In France you are under sore discrimination—discrimination which could be removed immediately without any substantial injury to a manufacturer in the United States.

Germany is making it harder for you all the while, and yet we rest supinely, watching with apparent satisfaction the gradual exclusion of the Iowa farmer from the markets of the German Empire.

I might continue this journey around the world, but it would serve us no useful purpose. If what I have said will not arouse the men who till the soil, who raise the cattle, horses, hogs, and hens, and who produce the cheese, butter and eggs of Iowa, I am mistaken in their intelligence and have overrated their loyalty.

Amidst the cries of the commercial conflict raging throughout the world, I hear the voice of Destiny saying to the men of agriculture as Roderick Dhu said to James Fitz-James:

> "For this is Coilantogle ford
> And thou must keep thee with thy word."

Iowa has been faithful to the policy of protection, and she is still as true as the needle to the pole. The benefits she has derived have been very great, but largely incidental. The time has come for her to raise high into the political heavens the twin flag—Reciprocity. Let us, for a season, take the direct advantages and allow the incidental blessings to fall upon others. Let us have the reciprocity demanded in the republican platform of 1903.

I pass to another topic ; one without a shade of controversy ; but which, nevertheless, needs constant discussion, and everlasting agitation. It is universally agreed that every man and woman, rich or poor, white or black, learned or unlearned, and every corporation or association, great or small, ought to obey the law; not part of the law and part of the time, but all the law and all the time; not merely that meager portion of the law for the violation of which a penalty is prescribed, but every mandate of organized society from those of congress to those of the township trustees. I put away, for the moment, the moral obligation to do right, and present the matter from the utilitarian point of view alone. For you men of property, there is no safety except in the habit firmly fixed in humanity to respect the compact which binds the people of the country together. For you men whose only resource is your labor, there is no permanent security save in the sheltering arm of sovereignty.

If lawbreaking be confined to a few, and the lowest members of the community, the law will enforce the law, and will vindicate itself. If, however, a great number, and the highest and most respectable members of the community are lawbreakers, or wink at lawbreaking, the law will not be executed, and such a community simply lights the fires of general disorder and chaos.

I venture upon some prominent illustrations. Everybody knows that it is unlawful and fraudulent to put upon the market and sell stocks and bonds which have no real value, and which represent nothing but the audacity of promoters; yet very eminent and very pious people engage in this pastime, who are horrified when some idle, passion-smitten mob destroys property and endangers life. I know not which is the more to be condemned, but I do know the unlawfulness of the one begets the criminality of the other, and that the conspirator to defraud might well reason that the rabble will be no more careful of the law than he. We all understand that it is in violation of the law to enter into an association, the purpose of which is to suppress competition, and yet men who are held in the highest regard, and who occupy the most exalted stations, defiantly and contemptuously violate the letter of the statute and the spirit of our civilization. They are men, however, who, when labor unions attempt, wrongfully if you please, to strike down the vital force of competition through strikes, boycots and other well known methods, lift up their hands toward the law they have desecrated, and declare that we are drifting into ruin and anarchy.

It would be easy to pursue this disagreeable train of thought through all the reign of dishonesty, artifice, intrigue, graft, boodling and riots, but I forbear. What I have said is as an introduction to this suggestion: The remedy for the indifference, disobedience, and laxity to which I have referred is plainly not in the direction of legislation—it is in the conversion of the men and women to right ideas, and the training of the boys and girls, as they gather their conceptions of life, its duties and responsibilities. It is not for me to prescribe what the church and home should do. I leave this duty to others. I have a word to say, however, with respect to what the schools should do, and I mean all the schools, from the kindergarten to the university.

What has been, and what is, the dominant note of American schools? In the magnificent symphony of the educational process you can hear it clear and high above every other. It is individual efficiency. It may be granted that until now the score has been well written, but the time has come to re write it, and to give another note a higher or equal place. Hereafter, the schools must teach good citizenship, not inferentially, not as a part of religion, not as a political economy, not even as morality, but as a distinct and independent science of duty—a science of duty not founded alone upon the commands of the Creator, but upon the utility or free institutions and of peace and progress among men—a science of duty whose precepts are not more necessary to attain safety and happiness in the next world, than they are to secure safety and happiness in this world.

In the beginning we needed, more than any other thing individual efficiency, for we had a country in which nature had stored untold treasures to develop; we had a nation to create; it was essential that our professions should be filled with men of the best equipment, for we had to establish a position in the world of professional labor; it was imperative that our artisans should surpass the artisans of other countries in their skill and industry, because the inexorable laws of competition were to to be met and fulfilled; it was required of us to produce the best farmers, because we had to transform a virgin continent into a garden of the nations of the earth. And so our schools undertook their mission, to train men and women so that in every avocation of life the sons and daughters of the Republic could not only keep pace with, but outstrip their adversaries of every region, of every country, and of every race.

There was a time when we could safely rely upon the training of the moral character that followed naturally and inevitably the culture of the mind and the skill of the hand. There was a time when the ordinary moral maxims, always accompanying intellectual preparation, could be depended upon to arm the student for the duties of citizenship. There was a time when religious teaching could be relied upon to develop the mental power. By common consent, however, these things have been accepted as the side-lights of an early career, and the strength of the individual in his chosen avocation, has been the chief concern of the schools. We have been completely absorbed in teaching the young man how to take care of himself; but it is obvious to anyone who patiently surveys and reflectively considers the state of society, that the schools must not only teach the young man how to care for himself, but how to care for others.

What is it we most need now? To answer the question, it is only necessary to look about us, and discover what it is that perplexes the patriotic thinkers of the present time. We have good lawyers, doctors, priests and preachers. In their several callings they meet no difficulties which they do not easily surmount; and if schools maintain their present high standard in the training of such men and women, we may assume that the work which they have to do will be well done. We have good farmers, to whom nature every year yields her richest rewards. The schools are accomplishing everything for them that the most exacting could require. We have good mechanics, whose surpassing skill and increasing power to produce, are the marvels of the whole world, and put us easily in the forefront of industrial affairs. We have merchants and agents of commerce in multiplied variety, who answer the highest criticisms of business. We have a vast body of laborers who have been lifted up above the level upon which dwell their associates in other countries of the world. We have more wealth than has been gathered in any other one country now existing or that ever existed.

But, notwithstanding all these superiorities, we are in constant turmoil. The sense of injustice was never more acute, the duties of man toward his fellows were never more imperfectly understood or inadequately discharged, than in the moment in which I am speaking. The several factors which, united, create wealth, were never in more acrimonious dispute than now, and selfishness, with all its hideous deformities, never seemed more aggressive. Capital has found it necessary to associate, partly for good, and partly for ill, until its power is immeasurable and its corrupting tendencies more to be feared than the invasion of hostile armies. Labor has found it necessary to associate, until the authority of union organization competes with the Government itself. The former is already dreaming of commercial tyranny and the latter in its struggle for emancipation and defense, threatens the peace and order of the Republic. It is, I fear, beyond controversy, that year after year there are more people able and willing to buy power who cannot earn it, and year after year the glitter of gold becomes more fascinating to the voter, whether in his original or representative capacity.

I beg that you will not be alarmed as you confront the conditions I have attempted to describe. They are perfectly natural, and present the outcome that is inevitable in the evolution of every society unless conscious, persistent, intelligent and altruistic effort is applied against the development. We will not be overcome by these tendencies, because you will check them, and you will prevent these evil practices. But to do so, it will be necessary that you concern yourselves in something more than individual success and personal triumph. What we need, and what we must have, if the honor and glory of our country are to be preserved, is enlightened consciences with enlightened minds as an incident, rather than enlightened minds with enlightened consciences as an incident. Morals are more needed than mathematics; right living will do more for us than right spelling; graciousness is more essential than grammar; equity is a nobler attribute than eloquence. What we need, above all things, is that our boys and girls, when they pass into the period of responsible existence, whether it be at twelve years or twenty, shall understand their relation to their fellow members of society; that they shall have clear perception of the ties which bind them to their fellow mortals; that they shall know that this government of ours can only be perpetuated through honesty and justice; that altruism is not only an embellishment of human character, but it has become a fundamental maxim in social government and industrial economy; that selfishness and dishonor will lead us all to common ruin; that the divinest maxim of life is, "I am my brother's keeper."

What we need is a citizen who, however narrow his field of vision, understands what he sees, and measures his conduct by the Golden Rule, a citizen who gives to his country the upright performance of every public duty, a citizen who repudiates that barbaric sentiment that he may take who has the power, and he may keep who can, a citizen who has a Christian regard for the rights of others, a loving sympathy for the weak and unfortunate, a bold voice for truth, and a strong arm for justice.

This very imperfect outline will suggest the course of my thought. Broadly speaking, it is the moral side of human nature that needs most to be nurtured and strengthened. We have learned that it is not sufficient to teach young people how to read and write and then trust them to the vicious currents which flow around every life. They must have some other steadying influence; and it must be supplied in the formative stage.

I do not stand for any revolution in our schools or school system. I plead only for the evolution which will fit them to meet the requirements which new, complex and intricate conditions demand. I would not restrict the breadth nor lessen the depth of purely intellectual teaching, but I would intensify and emphasize the lessons of life, drawn from the experience of mankind. I would teach the boys and girls, with the alphabet, that learning is of little moment, unless accompanied with a desire to obey, not only the laws which the hand of man have written, in constitutions and statues, but to obey as well the vast repository of regulations and ordinances which the Ruler of the universe has inscribed on the consciences of the people; and the last injunction to every departing pupil or student should be, so live that when the end comes it can be said of you that the world was better because you lived in it. I am not preaching a mere abstraction. I am dealing with the most practical and pregnant phase of modern existence. This country is not governed, nor will it ever be, by selected spirits, drawn from the circle of culture, morality and refinement. It is governed, and will be governed by the votes and the sentiments of millions of men to whom the doors of higher learning will never be opened. These men have awakened to their power, and they will exercise it. They will make out laws, and will determine what our civilization shall be. Their desires will turn into realities, and their will is to be written into the annals of society. These desires, therefore, must be upright, just and fair, and this power must be wielded for the welfare of the country, else there is before us the most complete disaster that ever overwhelmed the hopes of the lover of liberty and the progress of the race. If passion usurps the seat of reason and vice drives virtue from her throne, if avarice prevails against justice, these common people, who have been the pride of the Republic, will write their uneducated, untrained, unjust, revenge all over the institutions of our country in characters so plain and terrific, that not only "He who runs may read," but whoever reads will run.

The schools must take up the work with renewed energy, and they must be more conscious than ever before that the most sacred mission committed to them is to make good men and good women, scholars, if possible, but at all hazards, good men and good women.

Senators and Representatives, the welfare of the State is safe in your hands, and I doubt not that whatever you can do to perfect our laws and institutions, will be done; but I remind you, together with all these good people that our highest, most important duties are not official; they are personal. They are not imposed by the votes of men, but by the decrees of fate. They begin with the cradle and end with the grave.

REPORT OF THE AUDITOR OF STATE.

DES MOINES, IOWA, October 15, 1903.

HON. ALBERT B. CUMMINS, Governor of Iowa:

SIR,—In accordance with the provisions of Section 122 of the Code, I have the honor herewith to submit my report as Auditor of State, for the biennial period ending June 30, 1903.

REVENUE AND TAXATION.

The auditor's biennial report for 1901 shows a net cash balance in the treasury of $1,114,000.00, after deducting all outstanding warrants. This has been increased to $1,531,826.00 at the end of the biennial period just closed, showing an increase of $417,826.00. The receipts from all sources for the preceding biennial period amount to $5,120,059.54, and for the period just closed $6,177,855.50, making an increase of $1,057,795.96. This, however, includes $34,866.68 refunded by the United States government on account of the Spanish-American War claim, and $456,417.89 on account of Civil War claim, leaving a net increase from ordinary sources of $566,511.39.

STATE SCHOOL FUND.

Since the legislation enacted by the Twenty-eighth General Assembly, reducing the rate of interest on the permanent school fund from six per cent to not less than five per cent, and increasing the amount which counties may loan to one individual from one thousand to three thousand dollars, this fund has all been placed at interest, and at a profit to the counties as all interest on the fund above four and one-half per cent charged against the counties by the state, accrues to such counties as a commission or profit for handling such funds. In a few instances, the counties are still loaning these funds at six per cent interest. The amount of the state school fund is now $4,754,444.52. Further sale of school lands or funds from escheat estates will not greatly increase this amount, the increase during the biennial period being only $2,139,19.

INSURANCE.

Chapter 4, Title IX, of the Code, treats of insurance other than life and provides for the formation of both stock and mutual companies. The provisions relating to the two are so intermingled as to become confusing even to the well informed attorney. Separate chapters for the regulation of these two classes of companies should be provided, and the provisions applying to one should be kept entirely separate and distinct from those applying to the other.

Chapter 5, Title IX, provides for the organization and management of county and state mutuals, and was designed to afford insurance of the kind mentioned in said chapter at the lowest possible cost to the insured. It is a very desirable kind of insurance and but little can be said by way of criticism so far as county mutuals are concerned. I might also add that, in the main, state associations organized under the provisions of this chapter are doing a creditable and conservative business, and are furnishing insurance to their policy holders at a very low rate. But there are some, especially those doing a hail insurance business, which have been extremely extravagant in the matter of expenses and especially as to the salaries of officers, the latter item in some instances exceeding the entire amount paid to the policy holders for losses incurred, and in some cases the payment of excessive salaries have made the assessments unnecessarily high. It is my judgment, that the legislature should in some manner limit the amount to be paid for salaries and expenses of these associations. If the extravagance indulged in by some of these associations is not checked, it will eventually bring this kind of insurance into disfavor or at least will work an injury to associations which do a conservative business and are not deserving of censure.

Chapters 6, 7, 8 and 9 of Title IX, treat of life insurance. I do not desire to discuss these chapters separately, but to say in general that none of them, except the chapter relating to stipulated premium companies, contain any reinsurance provisions.

The lack of a statutory provision relating to reinsurance was especially noticeable during the past few months, when two of our large life insurance companies reinsured their business. There has also been an occasional reinsurance of fraternal beneficiary associations, and it is often to the best interests of these concerns that such reinsurance takes place; but there being no law governing the same, in some instances companies or associations have proceeded to effect an agreement between themselves without so much as consulting the department or advising it as to what is being done, and the plans agreed upon are not always for the best interests of the insured. It is my opinion that a plan of insurance adapted to the requirements of the various kinds of companies or associations, should be clearly set forth in the insurance laws.

The law relating to the examination of insurance companies and associations should be so amended as to provide that all shall be examined at least biennially, and the examiner should be paid a salary in lieu of fees in order that a competent examiner can be secured, and that his services can be had in the office when he is not engaged in conducting examinations. The present fee of $5.00 per day with no assurance of constant employment, is not sufficient to procure a competent examiner. It is also my opinion that the valuation of policies of old line (legal reserve) companies should be made by this department, which has not been the case in the past. The necessity for such valuation becomes the more apparent when it is remembered that the department now holds nearly two and one-half million dollars of securities belonging to companies not located within the state.

I doubt not that were a sufficient salary provided, an examiner who is also an actuary could be procured. It would certainly be much more satisfactory to have these valuations made by an actuary in the employ of the state than that they should be made by some one comparatively unknown to the department, and who is in no way accountable to the department or to the state as to the character of his work.

In my opinion, there should be a law defining the character of contracts that may be written by life insurance companies, to the end that the state may be better protected against undesirable insurance. In the past there has been but little restriction upon the companies, it being left largely to the companies themselves to determine the kind of contracts they shall place on the market. This has led to the placing of insurance of a very questionable character, and to much criticism and dissatisfaction. While the department is measurably well satisfied with its efforts to exclude from the state insurance contracts of the kind above mentioned, I am convinced that the legislature should make provision as to what shall be offered to the people of the state as a policy of life insurance, and what shall not. So far as Iowa companies are concerned, but little objection can be made to the form of policies now written.

Non-resident assessment life and accident associations pay no taxes into our state treasury, while our own associations are taxed at the rate of one per cent per annum upon the gross amount of premiums received, after deducting the amount paid for losses and for premiums returned. It seems hardly possible that our legislature intentionally exempted these non-resident associations from the payment of taxes while imposing a tax upon resident companies.

UNAUTHORIZED COMPANIES.

The attention of the department is frequently called to companies which are attempting to write or do write insurance without first having received from this department a certificate authorizing them to do an insurance business within the state. In case of fraternal insurance associations, the attorney-general, upon complaint of the auditor of state, is authorized to proceed against the offender by injunction. The same authority should be specifically given him by statute with reference to all other kinds of associations or companies. There should also be some provision whereby the state can be better protected against unauthorized agents. The attention of the department is frequently called to agents, both fire and life, who are writing insurance but have not received an agent's license. It is my judgment that if provision were made whereby each agent should have his license registered by the clerk of the court in any county where he desires to write insurance, it would remedy this evil. The fee, if any, for such registration should be nominal. By this means, the authorized agents, as well as the public, would be able to learn without inquiring of the department whether an agent is authorized or not, and in case he is not, other agents being directly interested would report the matter to the department, and action could at once be commenced against him. Were agents required to have their license registered, it would also serve as notice that the company represented by such agent is also authorized to do business in the state, as no agent is licensed for and unauthorized company.

Under existing circumstances, I have no doubt that the state is losing a large amount of revenue by reason of the failure of agents to procure licenses, and neither the public nor the department know just when the law is being violated. Regularly authorized agents, the companies they represent and also the public are entitled to protection against these fraudulent agents and fraudulent companies.

AN INSURANCE DEPARTMENT.

The question of the establishment of a department of insurance has met with some consideration by the legislature. It is argued in favor of the establishment of such a department, that the insurance interests of the state have grown to such proportions that the entire attention of one man should be given to supervising the work of the department, and that the time of the auditor of state is so occupied with other matters pertaining to the duties of his office, that he is unable to give proper attention to insurance. It is also argued that with a department of insurance a commissioner could be selected with special reference to his fitness for that position, and that there would be less frequent changes in the office. It is further argued that there is merit in the proposition because other states have adopted it. All of these points as well as many others are worthy of consideration. It is argued against an insurance department that it would be more expensive. It might also be stated that were the officer charged with the supervision of the insurance department appointed instead of elected, he would doubtless feel under less obligation to the people and greater obligation to the appointing power. Whether or not the term of office would be increased by its being made appointive would depend largely upon the manner of the appointment. It would doubtless be determined to a large extent by the length of term of office of the officer making the appointment.

These suggestions are made not for the purpose of giving expression to an opinion as to the wisdom or lack of wisdom in the establishment of an insurance department, but rather to furnish a basis for the opinion that it is more important that better preparation be made for taking care of the advancing and rapidly increasing business in the present department of insurance, than it is to settle the question as to whether the department should be supervised by a commissioner or by the auditor of state.

While the work of the department has been turned out with reasonable promptness, it has been done by very close application and many times in such haste as to be unsatisfactory to those who perform the labor. We know of no state that has so little help in its insurance department compared with the amount of business done, as has our own state. This is not said complainingly, as Iowa is not stingy in providing for taking care of any of the state's interests, but the very rapid development of the business of the insurance department has exceeded the preparation for taking care of the same. That the coming session of the legislature will provide ample means for taking care of the insurance interests of the state, I have no doubt.

BANKS.

The banking interests of the state are in a very satisfactory condition. The increase in deposits in the banking institutions under control of this department, as well as the increase in the number of banks during the biennial period ending June 30, 1903, is ample proof that the people of the state have great confidence in our system of regulating banks, as well as in the banks themselves.

One hundred and twenty (120) new state and savings banks, with a combined capital of $2,470,000, were organized during the biennial period just ended, while only twenty (20) surrendered their charters, most of the latter number incorporating as national banks. During this same period, the deposits in the state and savings banks of the state increased from $114,731,614.06 to $132,443,981.00, being an increase of $17,712,366.94. Further evidence of the popularity of the banks incorporated under the state laws is shown by the following figures taken from the bank directory and from the records of this office:

Private banks in Iowa, June 30, 1901	562
Private banks in Iowa, June 30, 1903	572
Increase during biennial period	10
National banks in Iowa, June 30, 1901	214
National banks in Iowa, June 30, 1903	241
Increase during biennial period	27
State and savings banks in Iowa, June 30, 1901	474
State and savings banks in Iowa, June 30, 1903	574
Increase during biennial period	100

The percentage of the increase during the biennial period is as follows:

Private banks	2 per cent
National banks	12 per cent
State and savings banks	21 per cent

The total number of banks in the state, June 30, 1903, was 1,387. The capital stock was $51,579,456.00. The total deposits, $264,482,000.00. The deposit per capita, $118.00. At the beginning of the biennial period, there were 1,250 banks of all kinds in Iowa, with a combined capital of $47,193,057. We are unable to give the amount of deposits. The total increase in the number of banks during the biennial period is 137. Total increase in capital stock, $4,486,393.00.

The present arrangement for publishing the bank reports made to this department is very unsatisfactory, and in my judgment should be changed. The report is published biennially in connection with the auditor's biennial report and includes only the last statement made to the department previous to the close of the fiscal year ending June 30th. Being published with the biennial report, it does not reach the public until so late as to be of little value, either to the banks or to the public, even if the subject matter were such as to make it of interest. If the state is to continue publishing the bank report, it is my opinion that it should be published annually and in a separate volume, should contain a compilation of all statements made by the banks to this department during the year and should be published immediately after the close of the calendar year, or of the fiscal year, so that it could reach the banks and the public in such form and at such time as to be appreciated by them. I would also suggest that as soon as practicable, following each call, a synopsis of the statements in the form of advance sheets might be issued which would be of practical benefit to the banks and to the public. In this connection, I desire to say that many bankers of the state have suggested that five calls be made on the banks each year instead of four. as at present, making the calls uniform with those made upon the national banks. While I do not desire to make any recommendations on this point, it is my opinion that a change of this character would meet with the approval of many bankers of the state and especially those who are in competition with national banks.

BUILDING AND LOAN ASSOCIATIONS.

The reports on building and loan associations for the biennial period show a material reduction in the number of such associations, as well as in the volume of business done by them. Most of them are adjusting their affairs with a view to closing out. This is especially true as to the domestic associations. During the biennial period seven domestic and eight domestic local associations have gone into voluntary liquidation, and others have done so since the close of the period. There are no foreign associations operating in the state nor have there been any during the past two years. There are now but seventeen domestic and fifty-five domestic local associations in the state. The auditor's biennial report for 1901 shows a decrease of $1,272,940.51 in receipts and $3,890,409.12 in assets of these associations for the biennial period. A like comparison for the biennial period just closed shows a further decrease of $2,223,456.09 in receipts and $2,551,936.33 in assets. The total receipts for the biennial period amount to $3,976,766.04 and the total assets $5,656,469.12. The rapidity with which the business of these institutions is being closed out, the small number of domestic associations remaining, and the fact that the domestic locals which now comprise more than three-fourths of all the associations in the state are confined in their operations to the counties in which they are located, raises a question as to the propriety of the further publication of reports according to the present plan. Some plan of local publicity for domestic local associations might prove more satisfactory than the present plan, as by such means the reports might be published annually instead of only once in two years as at present.

INVESTMENT COMPANIES.

I desire to call attention to a class of companies or corporations that do an investment business, some calling themselves realty companies and others bond companies, but none of which, so far as I am aware, are controlled or regulated by any statute of our state.

Some of these concerns do a debenture bond business, while others sell investment contracts similar in some respects to building and loan stock, but varied to such an extent that they cannot be brought under the building and loan or insurance laws. Some of them even represent themselves, through their agents, as having deposited with this department securities to guarantee the maturing of their contracts. Some are located within and some without the state, but all should be brought under strict supervision and regulation or should be prohibited from operating within the state.

TELEGRAPH AND TELEPHONE COMPANIES.

Under the provisions of Section 1328 of the Code, telegraph and telephone companies make report to this office, and under the provisions of Section 1330, assessment of such companies is made by the executive council. Said assessment is then certified by the executive council to the auditor of state, who in turn certifies the same to the auditors of the various counties. Under the provisions of Section 1334 of the Code, railway companies make report to the executive council, and the council certifies the assessment direct to the county auditors. I am unable to understand why one plan should prevail in one instance and a different plan in the other. I believe uniformity in these matters would prove more satisfactory. The number of telephone companies in the state has been increased very greatly during the biennial period, there being only 276 at the beginning of the period, whereas there were more than 1250 at the close, and I have no doubt that many companies failed to make report. The present system of reporting, as well as the present plan of assessment, is unsatisfactory. It is my judgment that the purely local lines should be reported to and assessed by the various county boards of supervisors. No report of the assessment of telegraph and telephone companies appears in this volume for the reason that said report is published both in the Official Register and in pamphlet form by the executive council.

REPORT OF EXPERT ACCOUNTANTS.

BUILDING AND LOAN DEPARTMENT.

Fees collected by this department for the year 1901 amounted to $555.00, all of which was turned into the state treasury and receipts taken therefor. The books and records kept by this department are in good order and sufficient to show all transactions.

REVENUE DEPARTMENT.

The books in this department are divided into four classes to care for the following accounts:

Institutions under the Board of Control,
County revenue accounts,
State officers, employes, and appropriations, and Permanent school funds.

The books are neatly and accurately kept and are sufficient to show all transactions of the office. Very comprehensive books are kept showing the proceedings of the executive council sitting as a board of review.

Under this department there is one matter we desire to call to your attention.

The Code provides that certain accounts shall close at a stipulated date, the balance in the account reverting to the state. When such accounts are charged off at the specified time and bills subsequently appear which accrued prior to the date on which the appropriations expired, it has been the custom to re-appropriate from the amount charged off sufficient to meet such bills.

The correctness of so doing is not clear, and the proper method to be pursued should be determined.

A. L. DENIO.

REPORT BY EXPERT ACCOUNTANTS C. C. HEER AND M. SCANLAN.

The following is a statement of the expert accountants covering the period from January 4, 1902, to January 5, 1903:

To the Executive Council of Iowa:

We submit herewith the report of our examination of the accounts and records of the auditor of state, embracing the period from January 4, 1902, to January 5, 1903.

We have carefully examined all records and vouchers on file and find a correct accounting for all receipts and disbursements of the various departments under the auditor's control.

The books in the general revenue department are kept in a careful and orderly manner and show fully all transactions of the department.

We make the following report in detail:

BUILDING AND LOAN DEPARTMENT.

The total fees collected by this department from January 3, 1902, to January 5, 1903, was $510.00, all of which was turned over to the treasurer of state as shown by receipts taken therefor.

The books of this department are kept in a neat and orderly manner, showing fully all transactions.

C. C. HEER,
M. SCANLAN.

The above reports made by the expert examiners, together with the following tables with reference to the conditions of the various interests of the state which are under the control and supervision of this department, show the same in general to be in a very satisfactory condition and that the development especially in the insurance and banking interests of the state has been very great.

Respectfully submitted,

B. F. CARROLL,
Auditor of State.

CONDITION OF THE TREASURY.

The amount of funds in the Treasury at the close of the last fiscal period, June 30, 1901, including agricultural college mortgage bonds, was $1,834,981.73, belonging to the several funds as follows:

General revenue	$ 1,143,883.17
Agricultural college endowment fund	649 235.89
Special Iowa state college fund	30,498 91
Swamp land indemnity fund	9,778.95
Special university tax	1,516.47
Permanent school fund	63.34
Total	$ 1,834,981.73

The amount received from all sources during the fiscal period ending June 30, 1903, was $6,762,204.81, which was distributed in the several funds as follows:

General revenue	$ 6,177,855.50
Agricultural college endowment fund	208,420.00
Special university tax	145,697.06
Special Iowa state college tax	143,964.61
Special Iowa state normal school tax	82,645 78
Agricultural college additional endowment	50,000.00
Swamp land indemnity fund	2,359.01
Temporary school fund	1,262.85
Total	$ 6,762,204.81

The receipts being added to the balances on hand June 30, 1901, as shown above makes $8,597,186.54 as the amount to be accounted for. The disbursements during the fiscal period ending June 30, 1903, were as follows:

General revenue	$ 5,751,264.79
Agricultural college endowment fund	191,200 00
Special university tax	143,275.00
Agricultural college additional endowment	50,000.00

STATEMENT No. 4.

Estimated expenditures for the fiscal period beginning July 1, 1903, and ending June 30, 1905, being such only as are contemplated by existing laws, and exclusive of any extraordinary appropriations that may be made by the General Assembly. Where the term "general law" is used opposite an estimate, it indicates that there is a standing appropriation for that purpose in the law, and no further appropriation will be necessary. The estimates are made to pay salaries and expenses up to April 1, 1906. All estimates for clerk's fund, Governor's contingent fund, and Railroad Commissioners' expense fund, are made in accordance with Joint Resolution No. 5, passed by the Twenty-ninth General Assembly together with a few slight additions.

STATEMENT No. 36.

AMOUNT DUE FROM REVENUE TO SCHOOL FUND.

The revenue fund has become responsible to the school fund for the following bonds.

Bond No. 3, issued to the permanent school fund of the state for losses to the school fund, under section 2, chapter 134, laws of 1864, dated November 1, 1871, interest payable on the first days of January and July in each year, at 6 per cent for	$ 8,553.14
Bond No. 4, issued to the permanent school fund of the state for losses to the school fund, under section 2, chapter 134, laws of 1864, dated January 5, 1876, interest payable on the first days of January and July in each year, at 6 per cent for	2,379.04

SUMMARY.

Showing the total amount of the permanent school fund, and how it was invested June 30, 1903, as shown by the books in this office, as follows:

Amount held by the several counties	$4,743,507.34
Amount in state bonds drawing 6 per cent interest	10,937 18
Amount of contracts on hand for real estate sold	600.00
Total	$4,755,044.52

The above may be considered the entire available interest-bearing school fund of the state. In addition to this there are, as described in statement No. 38, lots and lands bought in by the state for the use of the school fund on foreclosure of mortgages belonging to the Eads' loans, and not yet resold, estimated in previous reports to be worth $3,985; this is not available and is not included in the foregoing summary. Neither are the notes and mortgages shown on preceding page included, because they are practically worthless.

There has been an increase in the permanent school fund, from the sale of school lands since last report, of $1,930.81.

STATEMENT No. 37.

Showing the apportionment of the interest of the permanent school fund made by the Auditor of State on the second day of September, A. D. 1901, as provided by sections 89 and 2847 of the Code, on the basis of fourteen and ninety one-hundredths cents for each youth in the county. The total amount of permanent school fund on the first day of January, 1901, was $4,750,510.73, as shown below, upon which this apportionment was computed.

NOTE—Telegraph and telephone companies were assessed by the executive council by virtue of sections 1380 and 1381 of the Code up to and including the assessment of 1889, and their taxes were paid into the state treasury direct, the levy being 3½ per cent, that having been the average rate of taxation in the state for all purposes. Beginning with the assessment of 1900, the values of both telegraph and telephone, and express companies' property was certified to the various county auditors by the auditor of state, the same having been valued by the executive council, in accordance with chapters 42 and 45 of the laws of the Twenty-eighth General Assembly. The values as certified are placed on the tax lists of the various counties and the taxes collected by the county treasurers, the same as taxes on all other classes of property.

NOTE—The corporation taxes shown in the counties of Dubuque, Linn and Scott include the taxes levied by the cities of Dubuque, Cedar Rapids and Davenport, which were reported by the city officials to this office by request; they being organized under special charters, collect their taxes independently of the county treasurer, and do not certify them to the county auditor.

Beginning with the levy of 1901, the taxes paid by telegraph and telephone companies were paid to the various county treasurers instead of the treasurer of state, the law being changed by the Twenty-eighth General sAssembly.

FINANCIAL REPORT.

STATE OF IOWA,
TREASURY DEPARTMENT,
DES MOINES.

To His Excellency, Albert B. Cummins, Governor of Iowa:

As required by section 107 of the Code of 1897, I have the honor to submit herewith the biennial report of this department for the period from July 1, 1901, to June 30, 1903, exhibiting the amount of cash received and paid out by me as Treasurer of State, and also showing the balance remaining in the treasury at the close of business June 30, 1903. In giving this information, I have followed the forms heretofore adopted, with slight variations, the transactions all being shown in detail and recapitulated. The reader will easily be enabled to make comparisons by using the tables of this and former reports.

The volume of business transacted by this department continues the steady increase of former years. From all sources of revenue greater receipts are noted and the number of transactions multiplied. The systematized records permit prompt disposition of the business of the department.

GENERAL REVENUE.

Conservative estimates by the several State departments and the committees on ways and means of the Twenty-ninth General Assembly as to probable receipts and disbursements, placed the cash balance in the treasury January 1, 1904, belonging to the general revenue, at between $200,000 and $300,000. Large receipts from unexpected sources will make this balance nearer $1,000,000. The balance at the close of June 30, 1903, was $1,570,478.88. Many appropriations made by the Twenty-ninth General Assembly have either not been drawn or are yet to become available, and therefore this present balance will be much reduced later. The estimated receipts were much below the actual receipts. No such increase from the several sources was anticipated as is shown in the following:

SOURCE.	Period ending June 30, 1901.	Period ending June 30, 1908.	Increase 1908 over 1901.	Decrease 1908 Over 1901.
Counties	$ 3,939,328.12	$ 4,188,812.08	$ 249,488.96	.....
Corporation tax	425,189.76	475,484.11	50,344.35	.....
Fees state officers	281,875.36	481,228.12	199,352.76	.....
Collateral inheritance tax	196,464.54	234,664.76	38,200.22	.....
State institutions	181,547.04	163,558.12	.....	$ 17,988.92
Miscellaneous	95,709.72	634,108.31	538,398.59	.....
Total	$ 5,120,059.54	$ 6,177,855.50	$1,075,784.88	$ 17,988.92

Total receipts ending 1908	$6,177,855.50
Total receipts ending 1901	5,120,059.54
Increase 1908 over 1901	$1,057,795.96

Every source of revenue save one shows an increase over the preceding period. The receipts from State institutions under the Board of Control show a decrease of $17,988.92. The others show large increases. Those from miscellaneous receipts are accounted for by the receipt from the United States government of the following:

Refund civil war claim	$ 456,417.89
Refund Spanish war claim	33,771.66
Refund Tama Indian quarantine	7,000.00
Total	$ 497,189.55

The increase from corporation tax and collateral inheritance tax was not extraordinary, and yet considerably greater than estimated.

The increase from fees of State officers was unusually large, amounting almost to two hundred thousand dollars. This is accounted for to a large extent by the receipt by the Secretary of State of two filings made in his office of fees aggregating about one hundred and forty-five thousand dollars.

The increase of $249,488.96 in receipts from counties is divided between the proceeds of the State levy and remittances covering support of county inmates at State institutions. About two thirds is accredited to the former and one third to the latter. Less than one fourth of the total increase is from direct taxes. Almost one half is from the United States government refunding amounts heretofore expended by the State for purposes for which the general government was liable.

The State Auditor's warrants redeemed during the period amount to $5,751,264.79. This is an increase over the preceding period of $1,330,091.05. Of this, $899,601.63, or more than two thirds, is on account of State institutions under the Board of Control.

This is principally accounted for in the completion of the insane hospital at Cherokee, the expenditures for which during this period were $534,789.83, as against $31,828.81 during the preceding biennial term. The purchase of land for several of the institutions, amounting to $143,339.70, added to the above, together with new buildings and the increased cost of maintenance, affords an explanation for the growth of expenditures by the State Board of Control. The increase for State educational institutions is $113,024.21. The balance is distributed among numerous other expenditures. It will therefore be seen that the principal increase in expenditures is charged to our educational, eleemosynary and penal institutions, the two latter showing much the larger increase.

COLLATERAL INHERITANCE TAX.

The receipts from the collateral inheritance tax continue one of the principal sources of revenue. They rank fourth in importance among those that regularly contribute to the State's income. Receipts from counties, fees from State officers and corporation taxes, each exceed the receipts from the collateral inheritance tax. The increase in this tax was $38,200.22, or about twenty per cent over the preceding period.

The Twenty-ninth General Assembly made no change in the law relating to the collection of this tax, and the difficulties remain as related in former reports. A bill was prepared by this department, its provisions being approved by the Attorney-General, and it was introduced in both branches of the last general assembly. It was not designed to radically change the present statutes, but to make them conform to the decisions of the supreme court, where disputed points had been determined by that tribunal, and where they had not been so determined, to conform to the opinions of the Attorney-General. In the House it was reported from the committee but so changed that it was generally thought best not to pass it, and it was indefinitely postponed. The Senate, observing the position taken by the House, did not report the measure out of the committee.

While there is considerable revenue derived from this source, there is much inequity existing in the enforcement of the law.

There are counties in the State from which steady returns are made. Many estates are reported and much tax is received, everything indicating that the officers, attorneys, and those generally connected with the settlement of estates, are in accord with the law and are not engaged in an attempt to evade its provisions. In other counties it is very apparent that the opposite is the case. Some counties by reason of their long settlement and the wealth of their people should naturally contribute greater sums to the treasury than those whose settlement is more recent, but in counties differing little in this respect there should not be the difference shown on our records. Delinquencies are often discovered caused by ignorance of the law. Attorneys in charge of estates often admit of this. Some of the officers charged with enforcement make similar admissions. Probably the principal cause is that no point can safely be determined unless one is thoroughly familiar with the whole law and the several decisions of the supreme court. The same question is dealt with in successive acts of the legislature, besides a set of rules promulgated by a commission, which rules are nowhere found in any of the session laws, though they are now published in the Code supplement. It is because of this confusion that we advocated a codification in our last report, and the two years that have since elapsed have in no way changed our position except to strengthen our advocacy of the measure. There should be uniformity in the enforcement of any law. Especially should this be true of revenue laws. To procure uniformity the codification indicated in the printed bill before the Twenty-ninth General Assembly should be enacted.

IOWA STATE COLLEGE OF AGRICULTURE AND MECHANIC ARTS ENDOWMENT AND INTEREST.

The tables setting forth the transactions in the endowment fund of the Iowa State College of Agriculture and Mechanic Arts show that during the biennial period there were new mortgage bonds made in the sum of $189,100; that there were paid or sent to the financial agent for foreclosure $170,750, and that there were in my custody at the close of the period bonds amounting to $666,450, and cash $5.89. At last report the bonds amounted to $648,100 and cash $1,135.89. But one bond, in the sum of $1,600, was sent to the financial agent for foreclosure during the last two years. There was collected $74,241.04 interest, all of which was, on the requisition of Herman Knapp, college treasurer, remitted to him. The interest collections were $1,347.06 less than for the preceding period.

On July 11, 1901, there was received from the United States government $25,000, and on July 18, 1900, from the same source, $25,000, making a total of $50,000. This sum on various requisitions has also been remitted to the college treasurer. Iowa now receives the maximum $25,000 annually allowed any state by this government appropriation, known as the Morrill Endowment.

SPECIAL UNIVERSITY, STATE COLLEGE, AND STATE NORMAL TAX.

Special levies for the State University and State College of Agriculture and Mechanic Arts have varied during the period covered by this report. During the last half of the year 1901 and all of 1902 the collections were on a one-tenth of one mill levy, and during the first half of 1903 they were on a levy of one-fifth of one mill. The State Normal School during the latter period has had a levy of one-tenth of one mill.

The collections for the period were:

State University	$ 145,697 06
State College	143,964.61
State Normal	82,645.78
Total	$ 322,307.45

For preceding period:

State University	$ 108,718 28
State College	80,493.91
Total	$ 189,212.19

On account of these institutions there was disbursed from the proceeds of these collections during fiscal period:

State University	$ 143,275.00
State College	143,762.48
State Normal	16,000 00
Total	$ 303,037.48

For preceding period:

State University ..... $ 157,375.00

From the foregoing it is found that the collection of taxes was increased over the former period $183,095.26, and the expenditures were increased $145,662.48.

Respectfully submitted,

G. S. GILBERTSON,
Treasurer of State.

August 5, 1903.

Collateral Inheritance Tax Matters

Since Publication of Last Report

THE COLLATERAL INHERITANCE TAX IS IMPOSED ONLY UPON THE ESTATE OWNED BY THE DECEDENT AT TIME OF DEATH AND NOT UPON INTEREST OR INCOME SUBSEQUENTLY ARISING.

STATE OF IOWA,
TREASURY DEPARTMENT,
DES MOINES, July 24, 1901.

The question as to whether the collateral inheritance tax should be computed on the value of an estate as it existed at the time of the death of the decedent, or upon its value at the time of distribution to the heirs or legatees, having often arisen, and there being a considerable division of opinion on this point among those concerned in the settlement of this tax, the Treasury Department called upon Hon. Chas. W. Mullen, Attorney General, for an opinion covering the question.

His opinion follows herein. We request county attorneys and clerks of the district court to give this publicity among the attorneys of the several counties of the state.

G. S. GILBERTSON,
Treasurer of State.

STATE OF IOWA,
OFFICE OF ATTORNEY-GENERAL.

SIR: In response to your inquiry as to whether interest accumulations upon property liable to pay a collateral inheritance tax, which accrues after the death of the testator or intestate, and before the property is distributed, is liable to pay collateral inheritance tax, I submit the following opinion:

Our statute providing for the collection of a collateral inheritance tax is modeled after the statutes of New York and Pennsylvania, and in determining the interpretation which our courts will give the statute, we naturally turn to see what construction has been placed upon similar statutes in those states.

The question submitted arose early in Pennsylvania, and in Miller's Estate, reported in Pennsylvania County Court Reports, at page 522, it was held that accumulations of interest after the death of the decedent, and before the distribution to the heirs, was not liable to pay the collateral inheritance tax.

The court in that case said:

"Collateral inheritance tax is imposed only upon the estate owned by the decedent at the time of his death, and not upon interest or income subsequently arising."

This doctrine was subsequently adhered to by the Supreme Court of Pennsylvania, in Williamson's Estate, 153 Pa. St. Report, page 508, in which it is stated:

"The Orphans' Court was also in error in holding that our decision, In re Williamson's Estate, 143 Pa., 150, subjects the income for the first year to the collateral inheritance tax. This tax fastens upon so much of the estate as passes to collaterals as it stands at the death of the testator. It comes out of the corpus of the gift, upon its descent or transmission upon the death of the former owner to the beneficiary. Income accruing subsequently comes not from the testator but from the property held by, or for the use of the legatee or other beneficiary, and is not to be distinguished from income derived by the same persons from any other source."

In Matter of Will of Vassar, reported in the 127 New York, at page 1, the Court of Appeals of New York squarely holds that interest accruing after the death of the testator, and before distribution, is not chargeable with collateral inheritance tax. The court, in passing upon the question, says:

"The better and more reasonable construction of the statute is that the property of which the person died seized or possessed is subject to the tax; that the increase or interest thereafter obtained by the executors is property of which the testator was not seized or possessed at the time of his death; that the property should be appraised, and the tax assessed as soon after death as practicable, and that the tax should then become immediately due and payable; the provision for charging interest thereon in case it is not paid is in lieu of any increase or interest that may be derived from the estate by the executors."

Substantially the same provision, found in the New York statute, relating to the charging of interest for the non-payment of the collateral inheritance tax, if not paid within the time fixed by the statute, was enacted in our own statute on the subject, in these words:

"All taxes imposed by this chapter shall be payable to the Treasurer of State, and those which are made payable by executors, administrators, or trustees, shall be paid within fifteen months from the death of the testator or intestate, or within fifteen months from assuming of the trust by the trustee, unless a longer period is fixed by the court. All taxes not paid within the time prescribed by this act shall draw interest at the rate of eight per cent. per annum until paid.

By this provision the legislature has imposed a penalty of eight per cent. per annum upon all property liable to pay the collateral inheritance tax if the same is not paid within fifteen months. One of the purposes of such provision is to compel the payment of such penalty in lieu of any increase or interest that may be derived from the estate by the executor or administrator.

Under the holding of these cases, decided upon a statute almost identical to ours, both in New York and Pennsylvania, I am very clear that the interest which accrues upon the estate after the death of the testator or intestate, and before the distribution, is not liable to pay the collateral inheritance tax, and our courts will so hold when they are called upon to pass upon the question.

Under section 5 of chapter 51 of the Laws of the Twenty-eighth General Assembly, the entire estate, subject in whole or in part to the payment of the collateral inheritance tax, should be appraised for the purpose of computing such tax, by the collateral inheritance tax appraisers. From the value so fixed by the appraisers, the debts of the decedent, as defined in Section 1, of this chapter, should be deducted, and the computation of the collateral inheritance tax made upon the amount of the value of the estate, after such debts are deducted, without adding accumulating interest.

The case of Hooper vs. Shaw, 176 Mass., has sometimes been cited as holding a doctrine contrary to that herein expressed, but a careful reading of that case will disclose that the question whether interest accruing upon property in the hands of an executor or administrator, after the death of the testator or intestate, and before distribution, was liable to pay collateral inheritance tax, was not involved in the decision of that case, the issue determined by the court being as to whether the United States legacy tax should be deducted as a debt before computing the state collateral inheritance tax, and while the court has used language which possibly might be construed as adhering to a different doctrine, I cannot regard the case as authority against the rule laid down by the New York and Pennsylvania courts.

Another rule of construction which obtains as to statutes of this character, and which leads me to the conclusion arrived at, is that taxes imposed by the collateral inheritance act are special and not general.

In Matter of McPherson, 104 New York, 306.

And it is the rule that special tax laws are to be construed strictly against the government, and favorable to the tax payer; that a citizen cannot be subject to special burdens without clear warrant of law.

REAL ESTATE SITUATE WITHIN THE STATE OF IOWA, ALTHOUGH THE SAME HAS BEEN, BY A PROVISION IN THE WILL OF A TESTATOR WHOSE LEGAL RESIDENCE IS PENNSYLVANIA, DIRECTED TO BE SOLD AND THE PROCEEDS DISTRIBUTED, IS LIABLE TO PAY THE COLLATER INHERITANCE TAX IMPOSED BY OUR STATUTE.

STATE OF IOWA,
OFFICE OF ATTORNEY-GENERAL.

Upon the liability of lands in the state of Iowa owned by Wm. Huber at the time of his decease, to pay a collateral inheritance tax, I submit the following opinion:

William Huber, a resident of the state of Pennsylvania, died in March, 1901. At the time of his death he was the owner of land in the state of Iowa, which under the provisions of his will is to be sold by his executor and the proceeds thereof distributed among collateral heirs named in the will. It is claimed by the executor that such provision in the will is an equitable conversion of the real estate situated in Iowa into personalty, and that the domicile of the deceased draws to the state of Pennsylvania jurisdiction over all his personalty, wherever situate, and that by fiction of law the real estate in Iowa being converted into personalty by the terms of the will, is within the jurisdiction of Pennsylvania and not liable to the collateral inheritance tax imposed by the statutes of this state. In support of this proposition I have received from Mr. Wm. S. Hosmer, attorney for the executor, a very able brief and argument, setting forth very clearly the claims of the executor and the holding of the Pennsylvania courts upon the questions involved. The position taken by the executor through his counsel is undoubtedly the law of Pennsylvania. The courts of that state have carried the principle contended for to a complete logical conclusion. In Miller vs. Commonwealth, 111 Pa. St., 321, it is held that where a testator provided in his will that land in another state should be sold by the executor, and the proceeds thereof distributed among collateral heirs of the testator, such provision was an equitable conversion of the real estate into personalty, and the domicile of the testator being in Pennsylvania drew to the jurisdiction of that state all personalty of which the testator died seized; the proceeds of the land, being a part of his personal estate in Pennsylvania, was liable to pay the collateral inheritance tax imposed by that state. This principle was subsequently reaffirmed in later cases and the court has applied the doctrine with equal force to land in the state of Pennsylvania as to lands in other states. Coleman's Estate, Pa. St., 231.

I cannot, however, agree with the rule of law announced by these decisions, or the reasoning which leads to the conclusion reached.

Our statute provides:

to or for the use of the father, mother, husband, wife, lineal descendant, adopted child, the lineal descendant of an adopted child of a decedent, or to or for charitable, educational or religious societies or institutions within this state, shall be subject to a tax of five per centum of its value above the sum of one thousand dollars, after the payment of all debts, for the use of the state; * * *"

The real estate owned by Huber at the time of his decease is within the jurisdiction of the state of Iowa. The proposition that real estate cannot be taxed or charged except in the jurisdiction where it is situate applies equally to succession taxes as to other forms of taxation. This principle has been enunciated in a large number of cases.

The rule that real estate and everything pertaining to its devolution, transmission and tenure is governed and controlled by the law of its situs, is a vital principle of the interstate law of this country and one which the clashing of the taxing powers of the several states.
probably more than any other has maintained the equilibrium and avoided

To charge the succession of foreign real estate with the payment of collateral inheritance taxes is inconsistent with the spirit of such taxation. Land situated abroad and devised by a domestic will to persons living within the state does not devolve by force of the will nor of the domestic law, but by permission of the state where the land is situated and under the provisions of the laws of that state.

The doctrine that real estate may be converted into personalty, by a provision of the will of the testator that the same shall be sold and the proceeds distributed upon his death, is an equitable fiction of the law, which can have no place in a system of taxation.

The conversion thus effected by a court of equity is designed to prevent injury, or to better carry out and further the intentions of the testator; but a fiction in equity will not bring within the jurisdiction of the state for the purpose of taxation, lands which cannot otherwise be taxed under the laws of that state, nor can it take out of or remove from the jurisdiction of a state, lands situated therein. The land remains as realty within the state where it is siuate, subject to the laws of inheritance of that state and subject to the laws providing for a succession tax thereon.

This question was ably considered in Swift's estate, 137 N. Y., in which Gray, J., said:

"The question of the right of a state to tax is one of fact, and cannot turn upon theories or fiction, which, however serviceable to adjust the rights of parties, were never intended to furnish a basis of constitutional power."

I am clearly of the opinion that the supreme court of this state will not adopt the reasoning or conclusion of the Pennsylvania courts upon this question and will hold that real estate situate within the jurisdiction of Iowa, although the same has been, by a provision in the will of a testator, directed to be sold and the proceeds distributed, is liable to pay the collateral inheritance tax imposed by our statute.

DEDUCTION OF "STATUTORY FEES OF EXECUTORS, ADMINISTRATORS OR TRUSTEES," AND "LOCAL OR STATE TAXES DUE FROM THE ESTATE PRIOR TO THE DEATH OF DECEDENT," AS DEBTS; ALSO AS TO WHEN INTEREST SHALL BE CHARGED FOR UNPAID COLLATERAL INHERITANCE TAX.

STATE OF IOWA,
TREASURY DEPARTMENT,
DES MOINES, May 28, 1902.

While section 1, chapter 51, Acts of the Twenty-eighth General Assembly seems explicit as to just what shall be deducted as "debts" from the value of an estate before computing the collateral inheritance tax, yet an occasional controversy has arisen, and upon application of the Treasury Department, Hon. Chas. W. Mullan, Attorney-General, has rendered an opinion as to what constitutes "statutory fees of executors, administrators or trustees," also what constitutes "local or state taxes due from the estate prior to the death of decedent." He also supplements the opinion of his predecessor regarding the question of when interest shall begin to accrue on unpaid collateral inheritance tax. The opinion follows, and this department will be governed by it in arriving at the amount of tax in estates where these points are involved.

G. S. GILBERTSON,
Treasurer of State.

STATE OF IOWA,
OFFICE OF ATTORNEY-GENERAL.

SIR: Complying with your request for an opinion upon the questions suggested in the letter of Deacon & Good in reference to the collateral inheritance tax upon the estate of Mary Leghorn, I submit the following opinion:

I. My predecessor, Mr. Remley, in an opinion given to your department, passed upon nearly all of the questions involved in the matter under consideration, and I am not disposed to overturn his decision unless I am clearly convinced that he was mistaken as to the law governing the questions submitted.

Section 1 of chapter 51 of the Acts of the Twenty-eighth General Assembly provides:

"The term 'debts' in the eleventh line of section 1467 of the Code shall include, in addition to debts owing by decedent at the time of his death, the local or state taxes due from the estate prior to his death, and a reasonable sum for funeral expenses, court costs, including the cost of appraisement made for the purpose of assessing the collateral inheritance tax, the statutory fees of executors, administrators, or trustees, and no other sum."

It was held by Mr. Remley that the phrase "statutory fees" means the fees which an executor or administrator is entitled to charge as a matter of right under the statute, without the intervention of an order of court.

While this is perhaps a strict construction of the statute, I shall adhere to the position taken by my predecessor until the question shall be determined by the courts. Under this holding the extra compensation allowed an executor or administrator beyond the statutory fee, is not a debt which can be deducted.

II. The section permits the deduction of local or state taxes due from the estate prior to the death of the decedent. In the case under consideration, Mrs. Leghorn died in November, 1900. The taxes for that year became due on the first Monday in January following. The tax assessed against the property of which she died seized and possessed, was not due at the time of her death. The legislature in using the phrase, "the local or state taxes due from the estate prior to his death," intended to confine the debts which may be deducted from the estate because of taxes assessed against it, to taxes which become due prior to the death of the decedent.

The machinery of the law by which taxes are assessed and collected requires that the state board of review shall, on or before the first Monday of August of each year, finish its review and adjustment, and the state auditor shall thereupon transmit to each county auditor a statement of the percentage to be added or deducted from the valuation of each kind or class of property in each county, and shall certify the rate of state tax fixed as required by law. The county auditor is required to transcribe the assessments of the several townships and complete the tax list, and deliver the same to the county treasurer on or before the thirty-first day of December, and such list is the authority of the treasurer for collecting the taxes assessed.

While it may be said that the tax assessed against the property may be owing from the owner of the property before the first day of January, the tax cannot be said to become due until that time. It has long been understood by the officers and people of the state that taxes become due on the first day of January, and delinquent on the first day of March; and when the legislature provided that taxes which become due prior to the death of the decedent might be deducted as a debt from his estate in making computation of the amount upon which the collateral inheritance tax should be charged, the word "due" was used in its ordinary accepted sense with reference to taxes. The taxes of 1900 did not become due until after the death of Mrs. Leghorn, and do not fall within the class of debts which may be deducted from the amount of the estate, under the provisions of the act of the legislature.

A debt cannot be said to be due as long as no obligation rests upon the person from whom it is owing to pay it. When it becomes due the obligation at once arises and is imposed upon the person who owes such debt to pay the same at the time it matures. The levy of taxes against property undoubtedly creates a valid existing obligation against the owner thereof, but such obligation does not mature or become payable until the first day of January of each year.

III. As to the question when interest shall be charged for the unpaid collateral inheritance tax, my predecessor, Mr. Remley, in an opinion given to your department, held that interest must be collected from fifteen months after the death of the testator or intestate, without regard to the fact that the time within which such tax could be paid had been extended by an order of court.

This is undoubtedly a strict construction of section 1475 of the Code. The language of the statute is, "All taxes not paid within the time prescribed in this act shall draw interest at the rate of eight per centum until paid." The time prescribed by the act is fifteen months after the death of the testator or intestate, and it may reasonably be said that any further extension of time granted by a court for the payment of the taxes is not within the time prescribed by the act of the legislature, but an additional time which the court in its discretion has the power to grant.

This is the view taken by my predecessor, and I am disposed to adhere to it until the question is determined by the courts.

Under this construction of the statute, interest should be charged upon the collateral inheritance tax due from the estate of Mary Leghorn from fifteen months after her decease.

Respectfully submitted,

BEQUESTS TO PRIESTS FOR SAYING MASSES DO NOT COME UNDER ANY OF THE EXEMPTIONS NAMED IN THE LAW.

The question of the liability for the collateral inheritance tax of bequests to priests for saying masses, having arisen on numerous occasions, it was submitted to Hon. Chas. W. Mullan, Attorney-General. In the following opinion he holds that such bequests are liable.

G. S. GILBERTSON,
Treasurer of State.

STATE OF IOWA,
OFFICE OF ATTORNEY-GENERAL,
DES MOINES, February 5, 1903.

Hon. G. S. Gilbertson, Treasurer of State:

DEAR SIR: I have given the questions raised in the letter of Messrs. Longueville & Kintzinger of February 3d, consideration, and beg to make the following answer thereto:

Section 1467 of the Code provides:

"All property within the jurisdiction of this state, and any interest therein, whether belonging to the inhabitants of this state or not, and whether tangible or intangible, which shall pass by will or by the statutes of inheritance of this or any other state, or by deed, grant, sale, or gift, made or intended to take in possession or in enjoyment after the death of the grantor or donor, to any person in trust or otherwise, other than to or for the use of the father, mother, husband, wife, lineal descendant, adopted child, the lineal decendent of an adopted child, of a decendent, or to or for charitable, educational or religious societies or instutions within this state, shall be subject to a tax of five per centum of its value, above the sum of one thousand dollars, after the payment of all debts," etc.

The provisions of this section are clear and explicit, and no question can arise as to their proper construction, or the character of property which falls within its provisions.

In the estate of Anton Hemmi under consideration, it appeared that the decedent bequeathed one thousand dollars to three different priests named in the will. It is claimed by the executor that such bequest is not in the nature of a legacy to these priests, but is money set aside to them for the payment of services to be rendered.

The position is clearly untenable. The money so given to the priests passes by the will of the decedent, and takes effect after his death, and it makes no difference whether it is in payment of services to be thereafter performed, or whether it is a legacy given without any services to be rendered therefor. Any property which passes by will or by deed, grant, sale or gift, where such bequest or property conveyed by deed, grant, sale or gift, is intended to take effect after the death of the testator, grantor, or donor, if given or conveyed to any person other than the father, mother, husband, wife, lineal descendant, adopted child, lineal descendant of an adopted child, or to or for charitable, educational or religious societies or institutions within the state, is subject to pay the collateral inheritance tax under the statute.

The one thousand dollars devised by Anton Hemmi is property conveyed by his will and passes to the enjoyment of the beneficiaries after his death, and the fact that such beneficiaries, in consideration of such bequest, are to perform masses for the soul of the decedent, does not take the property so given out of the class which is liable to pay the collateral inheritance tax. The fact that the services to be rendered by the priests are of a religious character can make no difference, as the statute only exempts property given for charitable purposes or to educational or religious societies or institutions, and a priest does not fall within any of the classes or institutions to which property may be given by a decedent and be exempt from the collateral inheritance tax.

I think the one thousand dollars so given by the will of Anton Hemmi is liable to pay the collateral inheritance tax.

I am, yours very truly,

CHAS. W. MULLAN.

DESCENT OF REAL PROPERTY: Inheritance Tax: Statutes. Where the owner of land dies intestate after enactment of Acts Twenty-sixth General Assembly, chapter 28, requiring the payment of an inheritance tax, which was unconstitutional, and before the adoption of the amendment thereto (Acts Twenty-seventh General Assembly, chapter 37), curing the error therein, the succession to such land was not subject to the inheritance tax, since under Code, section 3378 et seq., the title and right of disposition and possession passed to the heirs immediately on the owner's death and before the inheritance tax law became effective by amendment.

Appeal from Pottawattamie District Court.—HON. WALTER I. SMITH, Judge.

ACTION for the collection of collateral inheritance tax. Petition dismissed, and plaintiff appeals.—Affirmed.

Chas W. Mullan, Attorney-General, and Chas. A. Van Vleck, Assistant Attorney-General, for appellant.

Saunders & Stuart for appellees.

LADD, C. J.—John Lawson died intestate September 7, 1896, seized of 280 acres of land in Pottawattamie county. The defendant was duly appointed administrator of the estate November 11, 1896, and then being without knowledge of the heirs, took possession of the real estate. In the spring of 1897 he ascertained that one sister, a minor, resided in Sweden, where she still remains, and that two others lived in the northern part of Minnesota. He immediately notified them of the death of their brother, and of their interest in the estate. The last two were in Pottawattamie county at the time of the trial, and able to take charge of the land; but the same was, under the direction of the court, retained by the administrator, with the view of collecting therefrom rents and profits sufficient to meet the expenses of administration. No personal property then passed to these collateral heirs, and we have only to determine the liability for the inheritance tax on the succession to the real estate.

It will be noted that Lawson died after chapter 28 of the Acts of the Twenty-sixth General Assembly became effective, and before the adoption of an amendment thereto providing for the notice of the appraisement. Chapter 37, Acts Twenty-seventh General Assembly. It was held in Ferry v. Campbell, 110 Iowa, 290, that the first of the above acts was unconstitutional, because authorizing the taking of property without due process of law, and the defect therein cured by the last in providing for notice to those interested of the assessment of value, and that, regardless of the time of decease, the personal assets not distributed were subject to the payment of the tax. While the right to the distributive share of personal property vests in the heirs at the time of the decedent's death, title to specific property and the amount to be received is not determined until distribution through the probate court is effected. This merely ascertains and segregates the particular portion to which each heir is entitled, and his title immediately attaches, and relates back to that of decedent of whom he takes. Sections 3362, 3364, Code; Moore v. Gordon, 24 Iowa, 158; Weaver's Estate v. State, 110 Iowa, 328. See Foss v. Cobler, 105 Iowa, 728. But at decedent's death it passes to the possession and control of the executor or administrator, subject to his disposal, and only after the payment of the debts and costs of administration is it to be distributed. On the other hand, the title to real estate descends to the heirs eo instante upon the death of the ancestor, with the quantity of each definitely ascertained. From that instant, subject to the right of the administrator to resort thereto for the payment of the debts of the deceased, they may dispose of the particular property as the owners, by sale, devise, or gift, and are entitled to possession and the rents and profits. Section 3378 et seq., Code; Laverty v. Woodward, 16 Iowa, 1; Toerring v. Lamp, 77 Iowa, 488; 3 Washburn, Real Property, 18; 1 American Law Administration, sections 15, 16. The sections of the statute authorizing the administrator, in certain contingencies, to take possession of real estate, merely directs that he exercise existing authority over a class of property with which he formerly had no concern. Virtually he is but the agent of the owners to care for the estate, collect rent, and do other acts for their benefit under the direction of the court. Valley National Bank v. Crosby, 108 Iowa, 651. The devolution of the title is in no way interrupted or affected thereby, nor by his right to sell or mortgage for the payment of debts, as each may transfer a definite portion subject thereto. See 2 American Law Administration, section 337. The distinction between the descent of personalty and realty is clearly recognized by our statutes. Chattels continue in the control of the administrator, subject to the direction of the probate court, and pass to the heirs only upon distribution. The title to the respective shares in land vests absolutely and immediately in the heirs or devisees upon the death of the owner. This depends not on an order of the court, and none is essential to the vesting of the title to the particular share in each heir. True, the land may be seized for the payment of the debts of the deceased by the administrator, or on certain contingencies the administrator may take possession. But in either event title is not suspended nor distribution delayed thereby. The title acquired by each heir or devisee upon the death of the owner is complete, and subject to these contingencies alone. It follows, then, that title to this land had vested absolutely in the three sisters of the deceased prior to the enactment of chapter 37 of the Acts of the Twenty-seventh General Assembly, providing for notice "in all cases where real estate has been subject to or liable for the payment of the tax provided for in this chapter, or where any real estate has heretofore been appraised and the tax not yet paid." Evidently, then, if this land was not subject to the tax, the statute had no application, as no claim is made that it had been previously appraised. It will be observed that the provision is not in the nature of a curative act, but purports only to aid in collection of a valid tax. If, then, the land was "not subject to or liable for the payment" of the tax, the act has no application.

Real estate, when taken by collateral heirs, was declared by the Acts of the Twenty-sixth General Assembly to be subject to a tax of five per centum of its value, above the sum of $1,000, after the payment of all debts, for the use of the state, and this made a lien thereon from the death of the decedent. But as held in Ferry v. Campbell, supra, no remedy not invading the constitutional right to due process of law, existed or was then provided by the legislature by which the amount of the tax could be fixed or enforced. A tax that cannot be exacted by any remedy is no tax at all. Any obligation which cannot be enforced is simply a moral, not a legal, obligation. A lien which cannot be made effective is not a burden to property. The inheritance tax is not levied on property, but depends wholly on the collateral heir taking property. It is on the right to succeed to ownership, and after this has passed to the heirs the estate has fallen out of the class at which the particular tax is aimed, and become subject to that rule of equal taxation, guaranteed to all property of like character. If a tax on succession, the amount of which cannot be ascertained, may relate back one year, so as to compel payment by those who have acquired property by inheritance within that time, then it may stretch back over a period of 20 or any number of years, and the citizen never know with any degree of certainty what burdens are to be imposed. If an unenforceable lien for an indefinite sum may be created, and the next legislature either abrogate it or provide an effective remedy at pleasure, then this may be done by any subsequent general assembly, and all property put in continued jeopardy, and the freedom of disposition entirely destroyed. Section 30, article 3, of the constitution, requires that all laws for the assessment and collection of taxes for state, county, and road purposes shall be general and of uniform operation throughout the state. This refers to the principle or plan of taxation, and not to specific taxes. "It means that all individuals and all classes shall be uniformly taxed." A different tax may not be exacted from one person than from another, unless differently situated; nor from a designated group of persons than from another, unless difference in condition or relation or situation suggest and justify such difference. Nor may different burdens be imposed on property of the same kind in like situation. Otherwise the rule of uniformity exacted by the constitution would be destroyed. "The rule means that all individuals and all classes must contribute uniformly with like individuals and like classes to the burden of taxation." Warren v. Henly, 31 Iowa, 31. To levy a tax on property, not the succession thereto, because acquired by collateral inheritance not imposed on other property, would be a clear violation of this section of the constitution; for the mere manner of obtaining property would not seem to afford a reasonable basis for a classification resulting in discrimination in its taxation. It is certain, however, from the language of the acts under consideration, that nothing of the kind was intended by the legislature. As the land "has not been subject to or liable for" the payment of the tax, the district court rightly found there was no liability to the state therefor. In re Rahrer, 140 U. S., 545, (11 Sup. Rep. Ct., 865, 35 L. Ed., 572), is not in point, as that decision merely holds that the enactment of the so-called Wilson bill removed the impediment to the enforcement of the Kansas prohibitory law with respect to acts committed after its enactment. Undoubtedly a tax may be exacted on the inheritance of land by collateral heirs, occurring after the enactment of the statute providing for notice of appraisement. Neither is Gelsthorpe v. Furnell, 20 Mont., 299, (51 Pac. Rep., 267, 39 L. R. A., 170), decisive, as it appears therefrom that real estate in Montana is subject to the control of the court, and held in possession by the administrator until the order of distribution. This appears from the following excerpt from the opinion: "Clearly, it is not obnoxious to the constitution to lay a tax on the right to take, even where such right is vested, while the estate is subject to the control of the district court to ascertain the exact value of the right, and the possession of the executor for the purposes of administration." As already pointed out, real estate in this state is not within the control of the probate court in any case for such purpose, and the possession of the adminstrator, when taken in the contingencies specified, is not for the purposes of administration, but solely for the benefit of the heirs.—AFFIRMED. INHERITANCE TAX—VALUE OF ESTATE.

1. Code, section 1467, provides that all property passing by will or by inheritance to collateral heirs or strangers to the blood of a decedent shall be subject to a tax of five per cent. above the sum of $1,000 after payment of debts. Sections 1470 and 1471 declare that, when one whose estate above debts exceeds $1,000 shall devise property for the use of any one for a term of years or for life, with remainder to a collateral heir or stranger to the blood on the termination of such estate, the remainder-man shall pay the tax. Held, that, in view of sections 1470 and 1471, section 1467 is to be construed as exempting all estates of less than $1,000, but when an estate exceeds that amount all property passing to collateral heirs or strangers to the blood is subject to the tax.

Chas. W. Mullan, Attorney-General, and J. M. Dower for appellee.

MCCLAIN, J.—The value of decedent's estate, after the payment of debts, exceeded $1,000, all of which, by will, passed to collateral relatives. The executor paid the collateral inheritance tax of five per cent. required by Code, section 1467, on all of the estate in excess of $1,000 left after the payment of debts, and this action is brought to recover the five per cent. tax on $1,000, which the defendant claims is exempt. The construction of the section of the Code just referred to has already been considered by this court. In re McGhee's Estate, 105 Iowa, 9, 74 N. W. R., 695; Herriott v. Bacon, 110 Iowa, 342, 81 N. W. R., 701. Counsel for appellant admit that in the latter case the court indicated its view to be that, construing Code, section 1467, with sections 1470 and 1471, an estate exceeding in value $1,000 after payment of debts was taxable, so far as it passed to collateral relatives, without the allowance of any exemption; the expression "above the sum of $1,000," found in Code, section 1467, being descriptive of an estate which was to be exempt from the tax, and not of a portion of the estate which was to be so exempt. But they urge now the adoption of a construction which they contend would be consistent with the result reached in the two cases above referred to, although different from the construction adopted in the latter of the two cases in reaching the result. The construction contended for is that $1,000 in value of the estate after the payment of debts is, in any event, to be exempt from taxation, but that all in excess of $1,000 is to be taxed so far as it passes to collateral relatives. In other words, it is claimed that, while there is not an exemption of $1,000 to collateral relatives, either individually or collectively, there is an exemption of $1,000 of the estate. This construction might be permissible if the language of Code, section 1467, alone were considered. But, as pointed out in Herriott v. Bacon, supra, all the sections relating to collateral inheritance tax having been adopted at the same time they must be construed together; and we cannot see that the construction now urged in behalf of appellant would solve the difficulties which would arise in construing sections 1470 and 1471. We are satisfied that the conclusion reached in Herriott v. Bacon is the only one which will harmonize the three sections, and therefore adhere to the ruling in that case, which is that there is no exemption where the value of the estate, after the payment of debts, exceeds $1,000.—AFFIRMED. BY THE

OF

PARDONS, SUSPENSIONS AND COMMUTATIONS OF SENTENCE

AND

REMISSIONS OF FINES

FROM JANUARY 14, 1902, TO JANUARY 1, 1904

PRINTED BY ORDER OF THE GENERAL ASSEMBLY

DES MOINES:
BERNARD MURPHY, STATE PRINTER.
1908.

EXECUTIVE OFFICE, January 11, 1904.

To the General Assembly:

In accordance with the provision of the Constitution, I herewith transmit to you a report of each case of pardon, reprieve, commutation and suspension granted, and the reasons for the same, also all persons in whose favor remissions of fines and forfeitures have been made during the biennial period ending January 1, 1904.

Albert B. Cummins

PARDONS

ADVISED BY THE TWENTY-NINTH GENERAL ASSEMBLY.

J. WESLEY ELKINS, Clayton county. Committed January 14, 1890, for the term of his natural life, for the crime of murder. Conditionally pardoned April 19, 1902. Notice of application having been published as required by law and papers submitted to the Twenty-ninth General Assembly, and by it recommended.

WILLIAM YOUNG, Woodbury county. Committed to the penitentiary February 20, 1897, for life for the offense of murder. Conditionally pardoned April 24, 1902, notice of application having been duly published and papers submitted to the Twenty-ninth General Assembly and by that body recommended.

GEORGE STANLEY, Story county. Committed to the penitentiary April 30, 1872, for life for the crime of murder. Conditionally pardoned April 26, 1902, notice of application having been duly published and papers submitted to the Twenty-ninth General Assembly and by it recommended.

OTTO OTTEN, Pocahontas county. Committed to the penitentiary January 27, 1887, for life for the offense of murder. Conditionally pardoned April 29, 1902, notice having been published of application for pardon, as by law required, and papers submitted to the Twenty-ninth General Assembly and by that body recommended.

THEODORE BUSHICK, Mills county. Committed October 10, 1879, for the term of his natural life for the crime of murder. Pardoned conditionally April 29, 1902, after notice of application had been published and the papers submitted to the Twenty-ninth General Assembly and by it recommended.

JOHN BELLEW, Webster county. Committed to the penitentiary October 10, 1894, for the term of his natural life for the offense of murder. Conditionally pardoned April 29, 1902, notice of application having been duly published and papers submitted to the Twenty-ninth General Assembly and by that body recommended.

JOSEPH MCCRARY, Mills county. Committed to the penitentiary March 21, 1879, for the term of his natural life for the crime of murder. Conditionally pardoned April 29, 1902, after publication and submission of papers to the Twenty-ninth General Assembly and recommendation by it.

PARDONS.

HARRY TAYLOR, Lee county. Committed to the penitentiary March 16, 1901, for one year for the offense of larceny. Pardoned February 12, 1902,—three days prior to the expiration of his sentence. Pardon recommended by trial judge, county attorney and a large number of the best citizens of Lee county.

DAVID SODERSTROM, Lucas county. Convicted of robbery and committed to the penitentiary for term of five years, on February 19, 1901. Pardoned August 9, 1902, for the reason that a strong showing was made which indicated almost conclusively that he was innocent of the crime.

JULIA GENT, Scott county. Convicted of the offense of perjury, and sentenced October 6, 1902, to a term of sixty days in the penitentiery. She had, on July 5, 1902, hired a bicycle which she failed to return, and, when arrested for embezzling the same, claimed to have returned it by messenger, in which she was corroborated by Emma Kranz. This claim was shown to be false although Miss Kranz did not know it to be so. Former good conduct and the extrème youth of the defendant, being only sixteen years of age, was strongly urged. Judge Brannan and County Attorney Lischer recommended pardon in which they were joined by E. G. McArthur, sheriff. Pardoned October 13, 1902, before commitment.

EMMA KRANZ, Scott county. Age sixteen years. Same as Julia Gent.

ALVA HUNT, Polk county. Committed to the county jail October 15, 1902 for the term of three months for the offense of assault with intent to commit great bodily injury. Based on new facts which developed after sentence was pronounced, Judge Holmes, Assistant County Attorney Brennan and F. E. Duncan strongly urged that he be pardoned. Pardoned November 26, 1902.

JOSEPH MULICK, Howard county. Convicted at the December term, 1902, of the offense of manslaughter and sentenced to serve a term of one year in the county jail. The showing in support of the application for pardon was an unusually strong one, in which eleven of the jurors who sat in the trial of the case joined. Pardoned March 25, 1903.

SUSPENSIONS.

GEORGE WILLIAMS, Dubuque county. At the October term, 1901 was sentenced to the penitentiary for a term of three years for the offense of breaking and entering. Sentence suspended February 1, 1902, on the recommendation of Hon. Fred O'Donnell and Hon. M. C. Matthews, Judges, and Hon. E. E. Bowen, County Attorney, and for the further reason that a statement was filed from Warden Hunter to the effect that Williams was suffering from valvular trouble of the heart and was in a precarious condition. He died March 19, 1902.

JULIA O. CROSBY, Clarke county. Sentenced December 16, 1899, to a term of six years in the penitentiary, for the offense of manslaughter. Sentence was suspended February 4, 1902, upon the recommendation of Hon. W. B. Tallman, State Senator, Hon. M. L. Temple, Representative, and nearly all of the attorneys of Osceola in said county. A strong petition was also filed in support of the application, and for the further reason that the evidence strongly indicated that the shooting was done in self-defense.

ED BAROFSKY, Scott county. Sentenced to the county jail for a term of one year for the offense of assault with intent to do great bodily injury. On the day sentence was pronounced in this case Judge Bollinger and County Attorney Lischer asked that sentence be suspended during good behavior, stating that "sentence was passed with this parole in view." Sentence was suspended February 6, 1902.

JAMES MORAN, Dubuque county. Convicted at the October term, 1901, of the offense of assault with intent to do great bodily injury, and sentenced to the county jail for a term of four months. Sentence suspended on the 17th day of February, 1902, upon the recommendation of Hon. M. C. Matthews, Judge, Hon. E. E. Bowen, County Attorney, and on the statement of Dr. Harry T. Walker that further imprisonment would impair his health.

GEORGE TWIGGS, Scott county. Sentenced on the 22nd day of October, 1900, to a term of ten years in the penitentiary for the offense of rape. Sentence suspended February 20, 1902, on the recommendation of Judge Bollinger and County Attorney Lischer, and for the further reason that Dr. Druet, Prison Physician, on February 19, 1902, wrote as follows: "He had a severe pulmonary hemorrhage about two weeks ago and has since been confined to his bed. These hemorrhages are liable to occur at any time, and may prove fatal." Died March 14, 1902.

JAMES O'KEEFE, Polk county. Convicted of the offense of burglary and sentenced to the penitentiary December 21, 1899, for a term of fifteen years. The application for clemency was signed by John J. Halloran, Assistant County Attorney, two members of the Board of Supervisors, Deputy Clerk of the District Court, and Deputy Sheriff. The Warden reported that he had a good prison record. His father was lying at the point of death and was very anxious to see his son.

H. J. PAAP, Calhoun county. Sentenced to the penitentiary at the February term, 1900, of the District Court for a term of four and one-half years for the offense of breaking and entering. Suspended March 5, 1902, upon the recommendation of the Judge and County Attorney, and for the further reason that a statement by a reputable physician had been filed indicating that Mrs. Paap was in danger of losing her mind because of the incarceration of her husband. A very strong petition signed by the citizens of Pomeroy supporting the application was also filed.

C. P. MOORE, Worth county. Sentenced January 17, 1902, to the penitentiary for a term of three months for the offense of perjury. Sentence suspended March 14, 1902, on the recommendation of the Judge and the County Attorney, and of Hon. James E. Blythe, and for the further reason that a petition containing fifty-six names had been filed in support of the application.

HUGH KELLEY, Polk county. Committed to the Industrial School for Boys September 12, 1899, to be therein detained until he attained his majority. The applicant was given permission to visit his home on account of the fatal illness of his father —his mother being left in practically destitute circumstances and greatly needed the aid of her son, who at the time was eighteen years of age. Sentence suspended March 17, 1902.

LEONARD WYCOFF, Shelby county. Convicted of the crime of seduction and sent to penitentiary on the third day of February, 1899, for a term of eighteen months. Suspension recommended by the county attorney, and a number of prominent citizens of Shelby county. Application also supported by a petition containing 240 names.

MARGARET PLUMMER, Woodbury county. Committed to the penitentiary October 7, 1901, for a term of two and one-half years for the offense of assisting a prisoner to escape. In this case Mrs. Plummer assisted her husband to escape from the jail of Woodbury county. The judge and county attorney recommended that she be paroled after having served six months.

CLYDE CUPP, Polk county. Committed to the penitentiary October 10, 1897, for a term of seven years for the offense of conspiracy. Judge Conrad, who pronounced sentence, James A. Howe, who prosecuted the case, recommended clemency, in which they were joined by a large number of citizens whose names appear on three petitions on file in this case.

NAT L. FELTON, Jones county. Sentenced March 10, 1902, to the State Industrial School for boys until he attained the age of 21 years, for the offense of assault with intent to rob. Suspension granted March 25, 1902, before commitment. A very strong petition was filed in support of the application for clemency signed by the leading citizens of Jones county. In this petition it was stated that the applicant had always deported himself properly, and that no previous charge had ever been preferred against him. A large number of letters are also on file signed by leading business and professional men, including the principal of the school which the applicant attended, the pastors of several of the churches, and one by Judge Remley, who pronounced sentence.

WM. J. BAUGHMAN, Cass county. Sentenced to the penitentiary February 8, 1899, for a term of five years, for the offense of incest. Sentence suspended March 26, 1902. An unusually strong showing is on file in support of the suspension of this sentence. A large number of the prominent business and professional men of Cass county, including the present County Attorney, recommended clemency. A petition is on file signed by all of the voters, except four, in the township in which the crime was alleged to have been committed. The suspension was also recommended by Senator Emmert and Representative Pipher.

NICHOLAS ENGLE, Dubuque county. Convicted at the October term, 1901, of the District Court of Dubuque county, of the offense of uttering a forged instrument, and was sentenced to the penitentiary for a term of eighteen months. Sentence suspended on the first day of April, 1902, on the recommendation of Judge Matthews and County Attorney Bowen of Dubuque county. Prior to the conviction he served five months in the county jail awaiting trial. Having previously borne a good character, and being at the time of his release sixty years of age, it seemed to the best interest of all concerned that he be paroled.

CLARENCE ROBINSON, Kossuth county. Sentenced March 5, 1902, to the penitentiary for a term of seven years, for the offense of assault with intent to commit murder. Clemency was recommended by Judge Quarton and County Attorney Cohenour. Judge Quarton urged an absolute pardon in this case, basing the same on previous good conduct both of the young man and his family, stating that he had known them for twenty years. A suspension was also recommended by Hon. Gardner Cowles, and by a petition signed by many of the best citizens of Algona.

FRANK MORARIE, Linn county. Convicted at the January term, 1902, of the district court of Linn county of the offense of selling intoxicating liquors contrary to law, and sentenced to the county jail for a term of four months and pay a fine of $400. On the recommendation of Hon. M. H. Remley, Judge, W. O. Clemans the County Attorney, the members of the Board of Supervisors of Linn county, and a large number of other citizens of Linn county who signed a petition, that part of the judgment requiring his imprisonment in the county jail was suspended after he had served one and one-half months.

W. O. HEDRICK, Marshall county. Sentenced to the penitentiary May 1, 1901, for a term of three years for the offense of forgery. Sentence suspended April 17, 1902, on the recommendation of Judge Burnham, who pronounced sentence, and of Henry Stone, County Attorney at the time of the trial. Suspension was also strongly recommended by Hon. C. J. Sparks, County Attorney of Boone county, and by a numerously signed petition.

WESLEY HAMPTON, Dubuque county. Sentenced February 19, 1902, for a term of five months in the county jail for the offense of assault with intent to inflict great bodily injury, the court making the order at the time of sentence that he should be released at the end of four months if his conduct during all that time had been good. Sentence suspended April 21, 1902. Suspension recommended by the Judge and County Attorney, also by Dr. Harry T. Walker, who stated that he had been treating him for chronic catarrh of the stomach, and that his health would be impaired if permitted to remain any considerable length of time in the county jail. A petition was also filed signed by thirty-two citizens of Dubuque.

MACE BELL, Jasper county. Committed to the penitentiary December 20, 1899, for a term of five years, for the offense of rape. The county attorney recommended that he be released after having served eighteen months. A petition was filed in support of the application for clemency signed by forty-three citizens of Jasper county. Also a statement from Dr. Philpott, prison physician, stating that he was in bad physical condition having symptoms of tuberculosis. Sentence suspended April 22, 1902, after he had served two years, three months and twenty-four days.

FRED SCHULTZ, Sioux county. Sentenced to the penitentiary on the 21st day of September, 1900, for a term of six years, for the offense of rape. Suspension of sentence recommended by Judge Hutchinson, who pronounced sentence, and P. D. Van Oosterhout, who prosecuted the case, and by Anthony Le Paske, County Attorney at the time the application was made. A very grave doubt of the guilt of the accused exists in this case.

JOHN LEE, Sioux county. Sentenced to the penitentiary on the 21st day of September, 1900, for a term of six years, for the offense of rape. Suspension of sentence recommended by Judge Hutchinson, who pronounced sentence, and P. D. Oosterhout, who prosecuted the case, and by Anthony L ePaske, County Attorney at the time the application was made. A very grave doubt of the guilt of the accused exists in this case.

J. H. PHILIPS, Wapello county. Sentenced to the penitentiary for the term of two years for the offense of manslaughter. The defendant was acting in the capacity of special policeman, having been appointed and sworn in by the mayor of Eldon. A fair was in progress and the deceased, who lived in an adjoining county was under the influence of liquor and persisted in causing trouble. The defendant arrested him and started to take him to jail. He resisted and was struck on the head by the defendant with a policeman's billy. If a crime was committed it could not have been more than involuntary manslaughter. Judge Eichelberger wrote: "The circumstances of this case were such that I was a little surprised at the conviction and yet the evidence was such that I was not warranted in setting aside the verdict." County Attorney Enoch, after stating that evidence had been introduced "which was not true," says, "Other facts and circumstances in the matter leads me to believe that I would not be doing my duty if I did not endorse the granting of a pardon." A petition signed by several hundred citizens was filed. Sentence suspended May 6, 1902.

PAUL E. J. BLAKE, Jones county. Sentenced June 11, 1900, to the penitentiary for a term of two years and six months, for the offense of uttering a forged instrument. Clemency was recommended by Judge Remley and County Attorney Herrick if the defendant could obtain steady employment. This condition being complied with through a letter placed on file signed by Clarence A. Moore of Chicago, offering employment, sentence was suspended May 12, 1902.

CHARLES SUNDELL, Marshall county. Convicted of the crime of larceny and sentenced to the penitentiary for the term of two years and six months. Committed April 3, 1901. Clemency was recommended by the judge and county attorney and a large number of business and professional men and by the sheriff. Sentence suspended May 12, 1902.

REASON HOYT, Cass county. Convicted of the crime of manslaughter and sentenced to the penitentiary for a term of six years. A young lady living near Cumberland becoming enceinte, the defendant permitted a friend, who was implicated, to take the young lady to his brother's house where he resided, where a Doctor Johnson attempted to produce an abortion and which resulted in the death of the girl a few minutes afterward.

Judge Green wrote: "Further developments have caused me to doubt whether he was anything more than an accessory, led into the crime by persons much more blameworthy and whose motives were much more pernicious, and without any direct interest in the matter on his part. Under such circumstances I believe it would be well to give him the benefit of the doubt. I recommend that he be now paroled." A petition was filed containing the names of one hundred and eighty-five of the citizens of Cumberland and vicinity. Also a large number of personal letters. Sentence suspended May 15, 1902.

ALFRED LARSON, Mitchell county. Convicted of the offense of larceny and sentenced to the penitentiary for the term of three months. The record shows that he was addicted to the use of intoxicants. That he was in the habit of indulging in prolonged carousals, during which he often became stupid and irresponsible. That during one of these sprees he took a horse and sold it to obtain liquor with which to satisfy his appetite. He entered a plea of guilty. The judge and county attorney and six of the county officers wrote urging suspension of sentence before commitment. It was shown that he had been confined in the county jail awaiting trial for a period of nearly seven months. That in this time he had overcome the desire for liquor. Sentence suspended May 17, 1902.

VIRGIL SAWVELL, Cherokee county. Committed to the penitentiary September 12, 1901, for a term of four years for the offense of assault with intent to commit rape. A petition in support of the application for clemency was filed on which were names of seven hundred and five citizens of the county. Among which were eight county officers. Clemency was recommended also, by the presiding judge, and a large number of letters on file including one from Hon. G. F. Coburn, Representative. Sentence suspended June 5, 1902.

CHARLES DAVIS, Polk County. Sentenced February 10, 1898, to the penitentiary for a term of nine years for the offense of robbery and breaking and entering. Judge Conrad stated: "I gave the sentence I did with intent after two or three years to have his sentence suspended. I would recommend that he be paroled." The county attorney also recommended clemency. Sentence suspended June 11, 1902.

JAMES D. CURRIER, Linn county. Committed to the penitentiary October 21, 1901, for a term of one and one-half years for the crime of adultery. Clemency was urged by his wife and recommended by the judge and county attorney. It was shown that his family was in destitute circumstances. Suspension granted June 20, 1902.

HARRY PHILLIPS, Muscatine county. Convicted of the offense of larceny and sentenced to the penitentiary October 16, 1901, for the term of two and one-half years. Suspended June 19, 1902. Judge and county attorney state that it was understood when sentence was pronounced that at the end of six months they would recommend suspension of sentence. Several letters are on file urging clemency.

ALFRED L. BECKWITH, Cerro Gordo county. Committed to the Industrial School for Boys, February 9, 1897, for the offense of larceny. Sentence suspended June 16, 1902, on the recommendation of Superintendent Miles and of the Board of Control on condition that he accompany his father, who was removing to the territory of Oklahoma.

GEORGE MOYER, Dubuque county. Sentenced April 14, 1902, to the penitentiary, for a term of nine months, for the offense of larceny. The defendant was employed by the Union Electric Railway Company, of Dubuque. He in company with one Anton Weidlich, took wire of the value of forty-five dollars from the company. Clemency was asked before commitment to the penitentiary, being recommended by the judge and county attorney and the attorney for the company whose property was taken, and by the sheriff. Suspended June 19, 1902.

ANTON WEIDLICH, Dubuque county. Same facts as Moyer.

GEORGE ROBB, Scott county. Sentenced October 19, 1899, to serve a term of five years in the penitentiary for the crime of assault with intent to commit murder. On the 26th day of June, 1902, Warden Hunter gave notice that the prisoner was in such physical condition as to warrant the belief that he would not long survive and recommended that he be paroled and permitted to go to his people in the state of Illinois. He also filed the official statement of the prison physician as follows: "He has pulmonary tuberculosis and is subject to frequent hemorhages and has had one hemorhage of five days duration. He is gradually growing worse and will probably not live to serve out his term of sentence." Sentence suspended June 17, 1902.

E. D. TURNER, Lee county. Committed to the penitentiary December 28, 1900, for seven years for the offense of breaking and entering. It was shown that this was his first offense. That he had, prior to this conviction, been an honest and industrious boy. That the commission of this crime was due to evil associations. Numerous letters are on file showing that the above statements are true. Clemency was recommended by both the judge and county attorney and by Hon. J. C. Davis, who procured remunerative employment for him upon which he entered immediately after his release. Sentence suspended June 22, 1902.

GROVER BRINDLEY, Polk county. Convicted at the May term, 1902, of the crime of breaking and entering and sentenced to the county jail for the term of sixty days. Sentence suspended July 3, 1902, on the recommendation of the judge and county attorney and sheriff and numerous other citizens familiar with the facts.

ORA ALLEN, Polk county. Same facts as in Grover Brindley case.

SAMUEL WILLIAMS, sentenced January 16, 1902, in the district court of Washington county to the county jail for the term of one year and to pay a fine of one thousand dollars, for the offense of breaking jail. The prisoner was arrested on the fifteenth day of September, 1901, charged with rape. The county attorney subsequently dismissed this case. On September 18, 1901, he, with two other prisoners, escaped from the county jail. Three days later he was captured and returned to jail. The sheriff reports that he does not believe that the prisoner had anything to do with the jail breaking except to walk out after the way had been provided by the other prisoners. Clemency was recommended by the county attorney, sheriff and by a number of reputable citizens who signed a petition. Also by Hon. D. J. Palmer and Hon. C. J. Wilson. Sentence suspended July 31, 1902, he having, at that time, served continuously for a period of nine months and sixteen days, excepting the three days referred to above.

E. S. JENKS, Scott county. Committed to the penitentiary December, 7, 1901, for a term of five years for the offense of forgery. Judge Bollinger wrote: "His case is something like stealing bread because he was hungry. He has a devoted wife who lost her mind temporarily after the death of their only child. He nursed her back to her normal condition of mind, went into debt, and been struggling to get out of debt since.

Got into the claws of a money shark and committed five forgeries." The county attorney recommended clemency. A petition, containing the names of one hundred and forty-seven citizens, urging clemency, is on file. Suspended August 9, 1902.

E. S. BURKE, Winnebago county. Convicted of the offense of adultery and sentenced to the penitentiary for the term of two years. The prisoner's wife urged that he be released stating that she thought he would live true to her in the future. On April 11, 1902, Judge Kelley wrote: "It might be possible that this man will behave himself in the future and it might do no harm to give him a trial on parole." The county attorney, in a letter dated August 9, 1902, said: "I think that in the Burke matter I would recommend a parole at this time. I was up to Buffalo Center yesterday, the place where he used to live, and there does not seem to be very much opposition out there, in fact most think that it would be a good thing for him." A petition urging clemency, signed by seventy-two respected citizens who are familiar with the circumstances. Sentence suspended August 4, 1902.

ISAAC FITZ, Guthrie county. Committed to the penitentiary December 17, 1898, for the term of twelve and one-half years for the offense of murder in the second degree. Sentence suspended September 6, 1902. A petition signed by nearly all of the county officers recites that there were many extenuating circumstances. That "the provocation offered would have taxed to its utmost endurance the temper of a man of strong and most conservative mind." Clemency was recommended by both the judge and county attorney and by six of the witnesses who testified for the state in the trial.

MARION WOODS, Iowa county. Sentenced January 25, 1901, to the penitentiary for a term of three years for the crime of incest. The crime for which he was convicted was the unlawful marrying of his niece. The record shows that both were far below the average in intelligence, and were incapable of realizing the enormity of the crime. Judge Wade, who pronounced sentence, stated at the time, that he would recommend clemency after the defendant had served one year of his sentence. Clemency recommended by the judge and county attorney. Sentence suspended September 13, 1902.

FRANK B. FERGUSON, Woodbury county. Sentenced at the January term, 1902, of the district court, to a term of one year in the county jail for the crime of assault with intent to inflict great bodily injury. Clemency was recomended by both the judge and county attorney, also by the sheriff. The certificates of two leading physicians were filed showing that his health was being permanently injured by his confinement in jail. Sentence suspended October 2, 1902.

MAGGIE POULSON, Audubon county. Convicted of the offense of conducting a house of prostitution and sentenced to the penitentiary for one year. Judge Green expressed his opinion as follows: "I think that the desire of the community was simply to put a stop to what had become a nuisance to any well ordered neighborhood. She has now sold her hotel and is about to move away, so that the object of the prosecution is accomplished, and I think it would be well to pardon her, or parole her." It was shown that she permitted persons of questionable repute to frequent her place of business and there was nothing to indicate that she received any of their ill-gotten gains. Sentence suspended October 2, 1902.

LEVI NORRIS, Jones county. Sentenced June 13, 1902, to a term of four months in the county jail for the offense of assault with intent to inflict great bodily injury. The person on whom the assault was made was an officer who was trying to arrest him, while the defendant was under the influence of intoxicants. A suspension of sentence was recommended by the judge and county attorney, and by the sheriff. Sentence suspended October 2, 1902.

DREW MARTIN, Cerro Gordo county. Convicted at the December term, 1901, of the district court of the offense of maintaining a nuisance and sentenced to pay a fine of $400, and in default of payment of said fine, to be imprisoned in the county jail for one hundred days. The defendant was committed under this sentence July 30, 1902. Clemency was recommended by the county attorney and by a petition signed by sixty-seven representative citizens who were familiar with all of the circumstances in the case. That part of the sentence requiring his imprisonment in the county jail was suspended October 13, 1902.

EARNEST HINDLEY, Wayne county. Committed to the penitentiary March 8, 1902, for a term of three years for the offense of burglary. The extreme youth of the defendant, previous good character, and the influence of evil companions are pleas in extenuation of the crime committed. A very strong petition, containing the names of nearly all of the county officers and of the prosecuting witness, was filed. Clemency was also urged by Hon. Claude R. Porter, Senator of the third district. Sentence suspended October 13. 1902.

JOHN A. LARSON, Harrison county. Sentenced at the August term, 1902, to a term of three months in the penitentiary for the offense of adultery. It was shown by letters on file from the county attorney and others that a propoposition was made to the defendant that if he would plead guilty to the indictment, that a short jail sentence would be imposed; that through a misunderstanding Judge Greene imposed sentence as indicated above. Clemency was recommended by the judge and county attorney. Sentence suspended November 8, 1902, before commitment.

STEPHEN SHAW, Polk county. Sentenced to a term of thirty days in the county jail for the offense of assault, being committed under said sentence October 24, 1902. A petition, numerously signed, and letter from the sheriff, and the certificate from Dr. C. J. Loizeaux, are on file. The doctor's certificate stated that Mr. Shaw was suffering from heart trouble; that he should be kept free from any excitement and should have plenty of fresh air. Sentence suspended November 8, 1902.

HARRISON CRAWFORD, Washington county. Sentenced January 13, 1902, to pay a fine of $1,000 for the offense of maintaining a liquor nuisance, in default of payment of same to be committed to the county jail. A petition signed by a large number of citizens familiar with the facts in the case was filed; also one signed by three of the members of the board of supervisors. Clemency was also recommended by the county attorney. Sentence suspended November 8, 1902.

FRED A. LAWRENCE, Cerro Gordo county. Committed to the penitentiary November 13, 1900, for a term of twenty years for the offense of rape. The showing made in support of the application for clemency in this case raises a very grave doubt as to whether the crime was committed. In response to inquiry the county attorney wrote as follows: "If Mr. Lawrence has really repented of the offense that he committed and he can be furnished a proper place to work at once, and he will discontinue the use of intoxicating liquors and cigarettes and lead a proper life, I should not oppose granting a parole." Judge Clyde, who pronounced sentence, wrote as follows: "Mr. Telford is on the ground and can make investigation as to facts. If he learns of enough facts to warrant him in recommending parole in this case, I will feel much disposed to second his action." It being shown that the defendant could at once secure a lucrative position, sentence was suspended November 15, 1902.

EDWIN CRUM, Van Buren county. Convicted of the offense of breaking and entering a depot in the nighttime and sentenced to the penitentiary for a term of six months. Prior to commitment the judge and county attorney joined in a recommendation to the Governor to suspend the sentence. After a careful investigation, and being thoroughly convinced that such action would be for the best interest of all concerned, sentence was suspended November 15, 1902.

HOWARD ELERTON, Van Buren county. Same facts as in case of Edwin Crum.

ZARL CLAAR, Washington county. Convicted of the offense of maintaining a nuisance and sentenced to pay a fine of $300, in default of payment of which to be incarcerated in the county jail. On his failure to pay said fine he was committed to the county jail September 29, 1902. It was plead in extenuation that he was technically guilty only; that he had deported himself properly prior to this indictment; that he had a family dependent upon his daily labor for support. A strong petition, signed by a large number of representative citizens, was filed; also one signed by seven county officials, including the county attorney. Sentence suspended November 26, 1902.

EMMA JAMISON, Linn county. Sentenced to a term of one year in the county jail for the offense of larceny from a building in the daytime. Prior to commitment under sentence the judge and county attorney joined in the recommendation to the Governor to suspend the sentence. Sentence suspended December 2, 1902.

WILLIAM G. YEARICK, Johnson county. Committed to the penitentiary September 28, 1901, for a term of five years for the crime of larceny from the person. The judge who pronounced sentence wrote that at the time judgment was pronounced it was his intention to recommend a parole in a year and a half or two years. The county attorney states that he makes it a rule not to make recommendation in such cases. Clemency was recommended by Hon. Milton Remley, ex-Attorney General of Iowa, by a petition signed by thirty-six citizens familiar with the circumstances of the case, and by Hon. George W. Ball, State Senator. Sentence suspended December 2, 1902.

Revoked August 4, 1903.

STEPHEN HAWK, Keokuk county. Committed to the penitentiary October 24, 1901, for a term of two and one-half years for the offense of uttering a forged instrument, The offense for which the defendant was convicted was that of forging the names of two sureties to a note in the sum of $250.00 and one of $50.00. The defendant was indicted on two counts and convicted on each. Clemency was recommended by the judge and county attorney, and by a petition signed by sixty-five representative citizens. In addition to the usual conditions imposed, the defendant was required to pay ten dollars a month during the period of one year from the date of his release to Mrs. Ida Ashcroft, and for the first three months of the second year to pay to C. M. Brown the sum of $10.00 per month. During each of the succeeding nine months of the second year he is to pay Mrs. Ashcroft the sum of ten dollars. Each month of the third year he is to pay said C. M. Brown the sum of ten dollars until the note forged is paid, and thereafter pay to the said Mrs. Ashcroft the sum of ten dollars per month until her note is paid. Sentence suspended December 2, 1902.

EDWARD BELL, Johnson county. Sentenced June 4, 1901, to serve a term of five years in the penitentiary for the offense of assault with intent to commit robbery. The judge who pronounced sentence in a number of letters on file, recommended the extension of clemency. A petition containing the names of twenty-eight citizens, including those of Hon. C. S. Ranck, Hon. J. J. Ney, Hon. Milton Remley was filed, in which the youth of the defendant and the dependent condition of his family is urged as a reason for asking clemency. Sentence suspended December 16, 1902.

DENNIS MAHER, Johnson county. Committed to the penitentiary June 5, 1901, for a term of five years for the offense of larceny from the person. Sentence suspended on the recommendation of the trial judge and a large number of influential citizens who signed the petition. Sentence suspended December 16, 1902.

CHARLES PHILLIPSON, Audubon county. Sentenced October 21, 1902, to pay a fine of $500.00, or in default of payment to be incarcerated in the county jail for a period of one hundred and fifty days, for the offense of obtaining a marriage license by false affidavit. The defendant was committed to the county jail under this judgment October 20, 1902. Clemency was recommended by twenty-eight citizens who signed a petition; also by the county attorney, Fred H. Blume, who, in behalf of Audubon county, entered into an agreement with the defendant by which he executed three notes for the payment of the balance of the fine imposed by the said judgment; one in the sum of $75.00, due five months after date; one in the sum of $50.00, due ten months after date; and one in the sum of $75.00, due fifteen months after date, $100.00 being paid in cash; the payment of said notes being made one of the conditions of the suspension of sentence. Sentence suspended December 24, 1902.

ALVA CASKEY, Webster county. Sentenced March 29, 1899, to the penitentiary for a term of ten years for the offense of rape. The investigation of this case revealed such a condition as to create a grave doubt as to whether or not the crime charged had in fact been committed. Both parties were shown to be below the average intelligence. The county attorney who tried the case strongly urged a suspension of sentence, in which he was joined by the judge. A renumerative position was obtained for the defendant upon the discharge of the duties of which he entered immediately on his release. Sentence suspended January 6, 1903.

JOHN S. JACKSON, Crawford county. Committed to the county jail May 27, 1902, for a term of one year for the offense of assisting a prisoner to escape. Clemency extended on the recommendation of Judge Church and County Attorney O'Hare. A petition was filed signed by four of the county officers. Sentence suspended January 7, 1903.

CHARLES H. NEWHOUSE, Monroe county. Committed to the penitentiary January 25, 1901, for a term of three years for the offense of larceny. Clemency was urged by the prosecuting witness and by one hundred and twenty-five citizens of Monroe county who signed a petition; also by the judge who pronounced sentence. Sentence suspended January 7, 1903.

SUSAN SPARKHAM, Jasper county. Sentenced August 20, 1901, to pay a fine of $400.00, for the offense of contempt of court and in default of payment of said fine to be committed to the county jail. Failing to pay the fine she was incarcerated in said jail January 22, 1903. It was shown that the presiding judge at the time said fine was imposed gave verbal direction to the county attorney "to suspend her sentence provided she did not further violate the terms of the injunction against selling intoxicating liquors." It was also urged that this condition had been faithfully complied with. Clemency was urged by P. H. Gragan, county attorney, and by Hon. E. J. Salmon. Sentence suspended temporarily January 7, 1903.

C. H. MACY, Lee county. Committed to the penitentiary December 28, 1900, for a term of seven years for the offense of breaking and entering. Clemency was recommended by Judge Banks, and by John E. Craig, county attorney. Statement of the prison physician was filed certifying that the defendant was suffering from consumption and that further confinement would be dangerous to his life. Sentence suspended January 10, 1903.

JOHN WILLIAMS, Polk county. Sentenced April 19, 1902, for a term of five years in the penitentiary for the offense of breaking and entering. The judge who pronounced sentence and the police department who worked up the evidence in the case became convinced that the defendant was innocent of the crime charged. Sentence suspended January 17, 1903.

J. P. WILSON, Jefferson county. Convicted of the offense of larceny and sentenced to the county jail for a term of ——— days. Clemency recommended by the county attorney, Charles S. Crail, for the reason that the defendant had been charged with burglary in the state of Nebraska and a default would be entered against him if he was not permitted to appear and make defense. Sentence suspended January 10, 1903.

ROBERT COTTERELL, Lucas county. Sentenced to serve a term of seven months in the county jail for the offense of assault with intent to commit great bodily injury. The uniform good character of the defendant was urged; also the dire need of the family of his support. Clemency was urged by all of the county officers and by a petition containing the names of one hundred and eleven citizens familiar with the circumstances attending the commission of the crime. Sentence suspended January 24, 1903.

GEORGE W. SNYDER, Jefferson county. Sentenced April 9, 1901, for a term of two and one-half years in the penitentiary for the offense of assult with intent to commit rape. The uniform good conduct of the defendant, the doubt of his guilt, and the helpless condition in which his family would be left was urged in support of the application for clemency. A petition signed by all of the jurors who sat in the trial of the case, urging clemency was filed. Sentence suspended January 24, 1903.

HERMAN MOHR, Plymouth county. Committed to the penitentiary June 21, 1900, for a term of nine years and eleven months for the offense of rape. This application was voluntarily made by the county attorney who prosecuted the case, and who raised the question as to whether or not the crime had actually been committed. On his recommendation, in view of his doubt, and the statement of the judge who pronounced sentence that he had no objection to offer, sentence was suspended January 24, 1903.

DAVID HOUSER, Pottawattamie county. Sentenced to the penitentiary December 16, 1902, for a term of ten months for the offense of larceny. A petition in support of the application for clemency was filed, signed by a number of leading citizens, also by the county attorney, in which the extreme youth of the defendant, former good character, and intoxication of the defendant at the time the crime was committed, was urged. Clemency was also recommended by the trial judge. Sentence suspended January 24, 1903.

ALBERT GATHMAN, Pottawattamie county. Sentenced to the penitentiary June 6, 1901, for a term of fifteen months for the offense of seduction. An appeal was taken to the supreme court where the sentence was reduced to three months. A petition signed by eighty-five of the leading citizens of the vicinity in which the crime was committed was filed in support of the application for clemency. Clemency was recommended by Hon. A. S. Hazelton, State Senator, and by Judge Greene, who said: "It seems to me that if he ought to receive no more than three months, he ought not to receive any penalty whatever." The county attorney wrote as follows: "This was rather an unusual seduction case in that some of the seductive arts generally used were not present. The defendant is a reputable young man in all other respects, and so far as I can learn has never at any other time been guilty of a violation of the criminal laws." Sentence suspended January 31, 1903.

JOSEPH WILDER, Harrison county. Committed to the county jail January 29, 1903, for a term of thirty days for the offense of assault and battery. A petition signed by twenty-five of the leading citizens of Missouri Valley was filed, in which, among other things, the following reasons were urged in support of the application for clemency: "Wilder is a widower and has four small children dependent upon him for support. He is a laboring man and has nothing except his personal earnings with which to support his family. It would be an act of justice to his family to release said Wilder on parole." Clemency was also urged by Judge Wheeler who pronounced sentence. Sentence suspended February 3, 1903.

WILLIAM RILEY, Fayette county. Convicted September 16, 1902, of the offense of maintaining a nuisance, and sentenced to pay a fine of $500.00 and the costs of the case, in default of payment of which he was committed to the county jail. A very strong petition, signed by a large number of the leading professional men of West Union, also by ten of the county officers and deputies, was filed in support of the application for clemency. Clemency was also recommended by the county attorney. Sentence suspended February 4, 1903.

FRANK PRANGE, Calhoun county. Committed to the penitentiary February 24, 1900, for a term of four and one-half years for the offense of breaking and entering. Clemency extended on the recommendation of Hon. L. S. Coffin, who had procured employment for the defendant upon which he could enter immediately on being released. Sentence suspended February 4, 1903.

FRANK L. PERKINS, Adair county. Sentenced September 8, 1902, to pay a fine of $50.00 and serve a term of sixty days in the county jail for the offense of adultery. Clemency was recommended by the county attorney in the following language: "As to the sentence of imprisonment I feel that it is a case for executive clemency. The boy had kept company with the woman in former years, were engaged to be married, and her folks objected, and under their influence she married another person with some wealth. She was dissatisfied with her new home and induced Perkins to elope with her. Perkins at the time being young and inexperienced, and probably not balanced the best, did what any ordinary young man thrown in the same environment would undoubtedly have done." Sentence suspended February 7, 1903.

J. T. JOHNSON, Jasper county. Committed to the county jail on or about January 5, 1903, in default of the payment of a fine of $300.00, which had been imposed upon him for a violation of the mulct law. It was urged in support of the application for clemency that the defendant had a wife and three children, the oldest of whom was seven years of age; that his wife was sick and sorely needed his attention and support. The certificate of two reputable physicians in support of this statement was filed. Clemency was also recommended by the county attorney. That part of the sentence regarding the imprisonment was suspended February 13, 1903.

NATHAN BETHERS, Pottawattamie county. Committed to the penitentiary April 10, 1902, for a term of one year for the offense of larceny. An unusually strong petition was filed in support of the application for clemency, in which, among other things, it was alleged that defendant was only eighteen years of age, and that this was his first and only offense. Clemency was recommended by both the judge and county attorney. It was also shown that his sister was very ill and that she was anxious to see him. Sentence suspended February 13, 1903.

Revoked March 12, 1903.

ALBERT FREEMAN, Linn county. Sentenced October 19, 1901, to serve a term of two years in the penitentiary for the offense of breaking and entering a building in the nignt time. Clemency was recommended by Judge Thompson, who wrote: "I at the time had serious doubts as to the sufficiency of the evidence and would have sent him to the reform school if I could have done so. If guilty he has been sufficiently punished, and I recommend his pardon and restoration to his anxious and distressed parents." The county attorney also recommended clemency. Sentence suspended February 14, 1903.

JESSE HUNT, Decatur county. Committed to the penitentiary January 3, 1901, to serve a term of four years for the offense of burglary. Three young men were charged with entering the residence of a farmer living three miles from the town of Lamoni; all were indicted; one (Krucker) testified in behalf of the state and was never tried, and another was tried and acquitted, and the defendant was convicted as above stated. He was the only one of the three who bore a previously good reputation, and a very grave doubt existed in the minds of many as to his guilt. A petition signed by practically all of the residents, men, women and children in the township in which the crime was committed, was filed. A number of affidavits were also filed, made by persons to whom the defendant Krucker talked subsequent to the trial, in which he voluntarily stated that he had sworn falsely in the trial. Clemency was also recommended by the county attorney. Sentance suspended February 14, 1903.

ED SHAFFER, Hardin county. Sentenced October 31, 1902. for a term of one year in the penitentiary for the offense of larceny. Clemency was recommended by the county attorney, in which he was joined by the sheriff, clerk of the district court and his deputy, county recorder and his deputy, and city marshal. The defendant took $50,00 from an old friend, a part of which he used to defray his wedding expenses, paying back a large portion of this amount, his mother restoring the balance. Sentence suspended February 14, 1903.

WILLIE INMAN, Dickinson county. Committed to the penitentiary October 8, 1902, for the term of one year for the offense of breaking and entering a building with intent to commit a public offense. It was urged in support of the application for clemency that the defendant "was not overly bright." It was also shown that he was influenced by an older man who seemed to exercise an undue influence over him. Clemency was recommended by both the judge and county attorney. Sentence suspended February 14, 1903.

ELMER J. DONOHUE, Dallas county. Committed to the industrial school January 20, 1900, for the offense of breaking and entering. A petition signed by many of the leading citizens of the town of Perry was filed in support of the application for clemency. It was urged in support of the application that his mother had no income and was in great need of his assistance. Clemency was recommended by the superintendent of the industrial school. Sentence suspended February 14, 1903.

FRED BENSON, Polk county. Committed to the penitentiary November 17, 1899, for a term of seven and one-half years for the offense of larceny. The judge who pronounced sentence. after reciting that Judge Conrad had tried the case and had asked him to pronounce judgment, wrote as follows: "I did not go into the merits of the matter but fixed the judgment as indicated. I have since gone over the case and feel convinced that had I tried the case and been familiar with the facts I should not have given him more than three and one-half years. After the expiration of that length of time of service therefore I recommend that a parole be granted," Sentence suspended March 2, 1903.

FRANK PETERSON, Clinton county. Sentenced to the penitentiary May 23, 1899, for a term of twenty-five years for the offense of rape. The case was appealed to the Supreme Court and the sentence was reduced to eight years. The showing made in support of the application for clemency in this case was a very strong one. In addition to this a personal investigation was made in the vicinity where the crime was committed. Clemency was recommended by the county attorney and by L. A. Ellis, who assisted in the prosecution; also by a number of the jurors who sat in the trial of the case. Sentence suspended March 16, 1903.

J. M. WALRATH, Polk county. Sentenced November 5, 1902, for a term of six months in the county jail for the offense of breaking and entering a building. Clemency was recommended by the county attorney who prosecuted the case; also by his successor in office. Sentence suspended March 19, 1903.

WILFRED LABRANT, Clay county. Sentenced to serve a term of six months in the county jail and pay a fine of $100.00 for the offense of breaking and entering. A petition signed by thirty-four citizens of the town of Dickens, also by the judge who pronounced sentence and the county attorney who prosecuted the case was filed in which the extreme youth of the defendant, repentance for the wrong he had done, and the dependent condition of his father were urged as reasons for an extension of clemency. Sentence suspended March 30, 1903.

FRED DAVENPORT, Poweshiek county. Sentenced September 19, 1902, to serve a term of eight months in the county jail for the offense of breaking and entering a building. Clemency was recommended by both the judge and county attorney, and by a petition containing the names of a large number of representative citizens of the vicinity in which the crime was committed. Sentence suspended April 14, 1903.

HARRY GOODY, Johnson county. Committed to the penitentiary September 26, 1896, for a term of ten years for the offense of rape. A very strong showing was made in support of the application for clemency, including a petition numerously signed by citizens familiar with all the circumstances, and also a large number of letters written by business and professional men, including O. A. Byington, C. S. Ranck, Judge S. E. Farrall, Dr. J. C. Schrader and Hon. Milton Remley. Sentence suspended April 20, 1903.

A. E. DuBose, Wapello county. Committed to the penitentiary September 11, 1902, for a term of two years for the offense of embezzlement. Clemency was recommended by Judge Sloan who pronounced sentence, and by a petition signed by Calvin Manning, J. H. Pickler, mayor of Ottumwa, J. H. Kremer, sheriff, and nine other leading citizens of Ottumwa. Sentence suspended April 23, 1903.

Georgia Mason, Marshall county. Committed to the penitentiary April 29, 1902, for a term of two years for the offense of adultery. Clemency was recommended by Judge Burnham. The county attorney states that she was addicted to the excessive use of morphine and thinks if she has been cured of this habit that it would be wise to extend clemency. A letter received from the matron of the female department of the prison stated that in her opinion the defendant was cured. Sentence suspended April 23, 1903.

Revoked September 19, 1903.

Emery Salyards, Dickinson county. Committed to the penitentiary March 20, 1900, for a term of eight years for the offense of burglary and larceny. A petition signed by the two men against whom the crime was committed and by practically all of the business men and citizens of Lake Park, where the defendant had lived during the greater part of his life, was filed in which clemency was strongly urged; the same was also recommended by the county attorney who prosecuted the case, and by Hon. A, B. Funk. Sentence suspended April 18, 1903.

Revoked December 26, 1903.

Henry Mungoven, Wapello county. Committed to the penitentiary June 16, 1902, for a term of three and one-half years for the offense of assault with intent to commit murder. A petition in support of the application for clemency containing the names of several hundred citizens of Ottumwa was filed. Clemency was also recommended by the judge who pronounced sentence. Sentence suspended May 7, 1903.

Willliam Johnson, Woodbury county. Sentenced June 10, 1901, to serve a term of five years in the penitentiary for the offense of larceny. Clemency recommended by the judge and county attorney. Sentence suspended May 9, 1903.

H. O. Soper, Washington county. Sentenced to the penitentiary October 20, 1900, for a term of two years for the offense of conspiracy. The crime for which the defendant was convicted grew out of the sale of certain agency rights in a patent which he sold at $1,000 each. Seven different parties claimed to be injured by reason of said sale. After his conviction and before the appeal to the Supreme Court was determined, he made restitution to the injured parties in amounts aggregating $3,250.00, and paid the costs in both courts to the amount of $1,400.00. From the showing made in this case it is very uncertain as to whether or not Mr. Soper had any criminal intention in the transaction out of which this conviction grew. Clemency was recommended by the county attorney at the time of the trial, by the county attorney at the time the application was was made, and by Hon. J. A. Young, state senator, and Hon. C. J. Wilson, representative. Sentence suspended May 9, 1903.

JAMES SANFORD, Marshall county. Committed to the penitentiary November 27, 1901, for a term of three years for the offense of larceny. Clemency was recommended by both the judge and county attorney. Sentence suspended May 9, 1903.

J. DEFORD, Polk county. Sentenced to serve a term of four months in the county jail for the offense of larceny. F. E. Duncan, Esq., who pronounced sentence, recommended suspension of sentence before commitment under the above judgment, in which recommendation he was joined by thirty-five citizens who were familiar with the circumstances attending the commission of the crime, who signed the petition. Sentence suspended May 18, 1903.

H. RHINER, Polk county. Same facts as in case of J. Deford.

ERNESTINE BERTOCH, Clinton county. Committed to the penitentiary February 18, 1898, for a term of her natural life for the offense of murder in the second degree. The defendant, together with one Charles Bertoch, was convicted of murdering her former husband, their trials being separate and conviction had on substantially the same evidence. Said Charles Bertoch appealed to the supreme court and the decision of the lower court was reversed, the opinion in which case concluded as follows: "Our conclusion is, after the most careful consideration of all the evidence, that it fails to sustain the verdict, and therefore the judgment of the district court is reversed." The latter part of the month of April, 1903, notice wes received from the warden of the serious condition of the health of the defendant. He was instructed to furnish the professional opinion of the prison physician touching this point, and on May 1st he reported as follows: "Since reporting the physical condition of Ernestine Bertoch, No. 3950, on April 3d, her condition has very much changed for the worse. She is to-day suffering from deficient circulation caused by feeble heart action. The deficient action of the heart is caused by nervous condition incident to the change of life. Her chances of recovery are very much less than at the time of the last report. I consider her now in a very critical condition." Sentence suspended May 18, 1903, on condition that she go to Milwaukee, Wisconsin, and reside with her people.

JOSEPH MILTON, Marshall county. Convicted of the offense of obtaining money by false pretenses and sentenced to serve a term of four months in the county jail. Both the judge and the county attorney recommended suspension of sentence. A petition was also filed in support of the application which contained the names of a large number of respected citizens of the county, including that of the sheriff. Sentence suspended May 18, 1903.

CARL SIDES, Pocahontas county. Sentenced January 31, 1902, to serve a term of two years in the penitentiary for the offense of larceny from a store in the night time. It was urged in support of the application for clemency that the defendant was intoxicated at the time the crime was committed; that the crime for which he was convicted was his first and only offense. A large number of citizens joined in recommending the extension of clemency, and the same was recommended by both the judge and county attorney. Sentence suspended May 19, 1903.

EDGAR O. DEMEULLES, Dubuque county. Sentenced to the penitentiary April 20, 1903, for a term of six months for the offense of larceny. It was urged in extenuation of the offense that the defendant was twenty-two years of age; that since childhood he had not the watchful care and guidance of a father and mother; that he entered the employ of the corporation from which the larceny was committed at the age of fifteen; that he remained with the corporation for a period of five years, when he resigned his position and entered the law school at Ann Arbor, Michigan, returning during vacations to work in the office of said corporation; that the amount of the larceny was $50; that full restitution had been made, and that the corporation joined in the application for executive clemency. The president of the educational division of the Womens Club of Dubuque also joined in recommending clemency. Executive interference was also recommended by the judge and county attorney. Sentence suspended May 23, 1903, before commitment.

BEN ALSTAD, Winneshiek county. Sentenced May 22, 1903, to serve a term of six months in the county jail for the offense of burglary. In a letter signed by both the judge and county attorney, the following statement is made: "The defendant is a boy seventeen years old, and so far as we have been able to learn his previous record is unimpeachable. He is well connected and is highly thought of by many of the prominent citizens of Decorah. We believe that the issuance of a parole pardon will be a wise exercise of power which will work to the good of the young man and of the community. We heartily join in the application for the issuance of a parole pardon recommending the same, and hope that it may be granted him as per his application." Sentence suspended May 26, 1903.

WILLIAM BURGESS, Mahaska county. Sentenced to serve a term of three months in the county jail for the offense of maintaining a nuisance. Clemency was recommended by the county attorney, clerk of the district court, auditor, and the chairman of the board of supervisors. Sentence suspendeded May 26, 1903.

M. H. BADGETT, Mahaska county. Same facts as in case of William Burgess.

H. D. ROSENSTEEL, Benton county. Committed April 22, 1903, to serve a term of three months in the county jail for the offense of maintaining a nuisance. Clemency was recommended by the judge and county attorney, and by Judge Caswell. A petition signed by a large number of citizens was also filed. Sentence suspended June 2, 1903.

LEWIS JONES, Wapello county. Committed to the penitentiary May 20, 1901, for a term of five years for the offense of assault with intent to commit murder. Clemency was recommended by the judge and county attorney, by Hon. J. G. Hutchinson, Hon. S. W. Harper, and several other leading citizens of Ottumwa. Sentence suspended June 12, 1903.

HOYT S. WILKINS, Polk county. Sentenced June 18, 1903, to serve a term of thirty days in the county jail for the offense of larceny. The sentence in this case was imposed by William Christie, justice of the peace, with the understanding that after the defendant had served a week the sentence would be suspended. Subsequently the justice of the peace discovered that he had not the authority under the law to carry out the above arrangement. Suspension was recommended by J. C. Simpson, secretary of the state agricultural society, William Christie, justice of the peace, T. L. Sullivan, Esq. Sentence suspended June 30, 1903.

ALICE MILLER, Polk county, Committed to the penitentiary November 2, 1901, for a term of four years for the offense of keeping a house of ill fame. A very strong petition in support of the application for clemency signed by several hundred citizens was filed. Clemency was also recommended by both the judge and county attorney, the latter stating that at the time of the trial he offered to dismiss the case of the co-defendant and recommend the imposition of a term of six months for the defendant. Sentence suspended July 6, 1903.

CHARLES PETERSON, Emmet county. Sentenced April 25, 1902, to serve a term of three years in the penitentiary for the offense of burglary. In response to an inquiry the judge wrote as follows:

"In relation to the case of Charles Peterson, now confined in the penitentiary at Anamosa under my sentence and from Emmet county, I desire to say that I heartily join in the recommendation of N. J. Lee, county attorney of Emmet county." The county attorney wrote as follows: "Mr. Peterson has been confined now something like fourteen months. I am convinced that he will endeavor to live faithfully up to the conditions of any parole that may be granted him. He is well connected here by marriage and I think it would be for the best that he be paroled." A petition containing the names of over two hundred respected citizens of the county was filed in support of the application. Sentence suspended July 7, 1903.

EDWIN A. WALTHALL, Mahaska county. Committed to the penitentiary January 22, 1902, for a term of three years for the offense of breaking and entering. A petition signed by a large number of citizens, including a number of the county officers, Senator Blanchard and Judge McCoy was filed in support of the application for clemency. The county attorney neither recommended nor opposed clemency. The judge, among other things said: "Owing to circumstances now existing I am rather inclined to think some leniency in way of reducing penalty would be commendable." Sentence suspended July 21. 1903.

THOMAS J. CLAY, Johnson county. Convicted of assault with intent to inflict great bodily injury and sentenced to serve a term of six months in the county jail, under which sentence he was committed April 10, 1903. Clemency was recommended by the sheriff and by Hon. George W. Koontz; also by the county attorney. A certificate signed by the county physician was also filed certifying that the defendant was suffering from a disorder of the stomach, and recommending that he be pardoned or paroled. Sentence suspended July 22, 1903.

W. H. JOYNER, Warren county. Committed to the penitentiary January 16, 1903, for the term of two years for the offense of obtaining money by false pretenses. It was shown in the application for clemency that the defendant had borrowed money on two occasions, $200 in each instance, giving a mortgage on certain cattle which he did not own but which he intended to purchase with the money thus obtained. It was also shown that he was influenced in these transactions by one J. M. Hall who was represented as being a shrewd and unscrupulous man; that after the commitment of the defendant said Hall eloped with defendant's wife. Clemency was recommended by the prosecuting witness and was strongly urged by the judge and county attorney. Sentence suspended July 27, 1903.

LAURA D. BERKHOLTZ, Lyon county. Sentenced to the penitentiary February 17, 1902, for a term of three years for the offense of keeping a house of prostitution. Clemency was recommended by the warden and by the prison physician, who stated that she was in very poor health, being "subject to attacks of nervous prostration and has functional heart trouble. Since received at this institution she has not been able to do any work and in my judgment she will not be." Sentence suspended July 27, 1903.

FRED STIER, Jasper county. Convicted at the February term, 1900, of the district court of the crime of breaking and entering and assault with intent to commit murder and sentenced to the penitentiary for a term of five and one-half years. In a petition filed in this case, signed by fifty-one representative citizens, it was alleged that the defendent was under the influence of intoxicants at the time the crime was committed; that his condition was such as to make him irresponsible at the time. A petition signed by all the jurors who sat in the trial of the case was also filed in which the opinion was given that he had been punished sufficiently for the crime committed. A number of letters were filed signed by citizens residing in the vicinity where the crime was committed, certifying to the former good character of the defendant. The judge who pronounced sentence wrote under date November 26, 1902, as follows: "The case as presented was somewhat aggravated but would feel no objections to some modification, though to return him as early as this would be a little premature perhaps, and divide of one-half of the whole would be reasonable." Sentence suspended July 30, 1903.

HARRY A. JOHNSON, Linn county. Committed to the penitentiary July 1, 1901, for a term of three years for the offense of robbery. Clemency was recommended by both the judge and the county attorney. Sentence suspended August 3, 1903.

JOHN PLUMB, Pottawattamie county. Convicted of the offense of larceny from the person and committed to the penitentiary June 21, 1902, for a term of three years. The showing filed in support of the application for clemency in this case recited that the defendant left his father's home in Indianapolis, Indiana, in the month of May, 1902, going to Chicago to visit his grandparents; that while in Chicago he fell in company with two men of questionable repute who induced him to accompany them to Omaha; that he was only eighteen years old, unfamiliar with the ways of the world and therefore easily influenced by older men; that the three took passage in box cars, in which were several other men traveling in the same direction and in the same way; that during the trip and before reaching Council Bluffs one of the men claimed to have been severely beaten and robbed. That complaint was made to the authorities in Council Bluffs and all those in the box car were taken into custody and incarcerated in jail. That afterwards the two men whose acquaintance he had formed in Chicago succeeded in effecting their escape. In the trial of the defendant his conviction was procured through the identification of one Goths, the man who had been robbed. This man subsequently made an affidavit to the effect that the defendant did not participate in and had nothing whatever to do with the robbery and beating of himself. Clemency was urged by reason of the extreme youth of the defendant and the conflicting statements of the prosecuting witness. Sentence suspended August 18, 1903.

WILLIS MCVICK, Mills county. Committed to the penitentiary October 11, 1900, for a term of seven years for the offense of robbery. The defendant was committed to the Ft. Madison penitentiary where he became insane. He was afterwards transferred to the insane hospital at Anamosa where he remained several months, when the prison physician recommended that he be released, for the reason that no permanent improvement could be effected while incarcerated in the penitentiary. His sister came from Shreveport, Louisiana, to take him to his former home. Sentence suspended August 21, 1903.

CLARK BATTIN, Davis county. Sentenced August 29, 1903, to serve a term of four months in the county jail for the offense of breaking and entering. The offense of which the defendant was convicted was that of entering the Wabash depot from which he removed sundry articles. Clemency was recommended by Judge Sloan, County Attorney Dabney, S. S. Carruthers, attorney for the Wabash Railway, and by E. Rominger. Sentence suspended September 5, 1903.

CHARLES SAYLES, Davis county. Same facts as in case of Clark Battin.

ROBERT S. ELDER, Polk county. Convicted of the offense of larceny and committed to the penitentiary February 11, 1903, to serve a term of one year for the offense of larceny. Clemency was recommended by Judge Given, Judge Silvari and by County Attorney Miller. Sentence suspended September 17, 1903.

JOHN W. SANDERS, Cass county. Committed to the penitentiary December 12, 1902, for a term of three years for the offense of conspiracy. The investigation of this case developed the fact that the defendant had left his home in the state of Louisiana about three years prior to his conviction. That his people knew nothing of his whereabouts until the month of August, 1903; that they had distributed several thousand circulars throughout the country describing his personal appearance and asking for information; that subsequently the case was placed in the hands of the Pinkerton Detective Agency in Chicago, through the efforts of which he was finally located, under an assumed name, in the penitentiary at Ft. Madison. The crime of which he was convicted was that of conspiring with two others to commit larceny. The basis for the application for clemency was predicated largely on the previous good character of the defendant, the high standing of his people for several generations back in the community in which they resided. After having been fully apprised of all the circumstances in the case the judge and county attorney joined in the recommendation for clemency. A number of prominent men of Cass county also interested themselves in his behalf. Clemency was also advised by Hon. S. B. Packard of Marshalltown, who, prior to his removal to this state, had been intimately acquainted with the defendant's family. Sentence suspended September 19, 1903.

GEORGE STEWART, Mills county. Convicted of the offense of larceny and committed to the penitentiary April 24, 1903, for a term of six years. The investigation of this case was taken up on receipt of a letter from Warden Jones of the Ft. Madison penitentiary who, among other things, said: "This seems to be a case worthy of sympathy. The prisoner is a mere youth, not sixteen years of age until next November. He was undoubtedly drawn into the crime by an old and hardened criminal whose record I have sent to the pardon secretary." It developed that the crime of which he was convicted was that of horse stealing; that he was forced to participate in the same by a negro named Smith; that this negro was also convicted and is now serving his sixth term in the penitentiary. In response to an inquiry the county attorney wrote under date of August 12, 1903, as follows: "It is my opinion that the boy was not only led but forced to do as he did by his companion, not only in committing the offense, but in lying to the court and myself when brought before us for inquiry. This being my conviction and realizing that it is the purpose of the law only to administer retributive justice with the hope of bettering the individual, I can cheerfully recommend your clemency in behalf of this boy." Judge Thornell, under date September 8, 1903, wrote as follows: "I think the sentence under the circumstances is too severe. It should either be reduced to one year, or he should be transferred to the state industrial school at Eldora, or if he turns state's evidence and states the real fact about the matter in the case against the colored man, perhaps his sentence ought to end with that trial. The colored man is an old offender." Under date September 30, 1903, in response to an inquiry, the county attorney wrote as follows: "Replying to your favor of 21st inst., relative to George Stuart, otherwise Abe Buckman, will say that he was brought back by the sheriff to testify against Charles Smith, the negro whom we desired to give a long sentence. The negro plead guilty and was given eight years in addition to the six years given him last April. Buckman, however, gave me a clear statement of the facts and would have testified strongly for the state had it been necessary. I can cheetfully renew my recommendations to the Governor in behalf of Buckman." In addition to the recommendations of the officials quoted above a large number of letters were filed signed by reputable persons who had known the defendant prior to his conviction, all certifying to his uniform good character up to that time. Sentence suspended October 12, 1903.

ROBERT BROWN, Cass county. Sentenced October 22, 1900, to serve a term of eight years in the penitentiary for the offense of manslaughter. The crime of which the defendant was convicted was that of taking a young girl to the house of a neighbor for the purpose of enabling a traveling doctor named Johnson to perform a criminal operation upon her, from which she died a few minutes after the attempt was made. A careful investigation of this case by the pardon secretary who visited the neighborhood indicated very strongly that the defendant had been the victim of a conspiracy and been made to suffer for the wrongful act of another; that he was led into his connection with the affair through more ignorance of the laws of nature than through any criminal intent on his part. A remarkably strong showing was made in support of the application for clemency in this case. A petition was filed signed by practically all of the residents in the vicinity of the town of Cumberland, within a mile of which the crime was committed; also a very large number of personal letters written by parties resident in the above named neighborhood. Sentence suspended October 19, 1903.

JAMES MAXWELL, Keokuk county. Sentenced January 16, 1901, to serve a term of one year in the county jail for the offense of seduction. It was recited in the application for clemency that subsequent to the conviction of the defendant and prior to the determination of the appeal to the supreme court, the prosecuting witness had married; that the defendant within this time had also married and had a wife and child dependent upon him for support; that he was committed to the county jail under the above judgment November 13, 1902; that he had borne a good reputation prior to his conviction in this case. Clemency was recommended by the judge who pronounced sentence. The county attorney having left the state, and his whereabouts being unknown, it was impossible to procure his opinion. Sentence suspended October 19, 1903.

WALTER GLAZIER, Howard county. Committed to the penitentiary December 25, 1897, for a term of ten years for the offense of arson. The crime of which the defendant was convicted was that of assisting in the burning of a barn. At the time the crime was committed he was working for another man. It is alleged in the application that both were under the influence of liquor at the time the crime was committed. The county attorney wrote as follows: "From the evidence offered and the information gathered outside the trial I became fully convinced that Dunn was the moving spirit in the commission of the crime and that Glazier, who at the time of the act was in the employ of Dunn as a farm laborer, that Glazier was more of an accessory thereto, or more properly speaking was a tool of Dunn." Clemency was also recommended by the judge who pronounced sentence; by Senator Lyons, and by a petition signed by a large number of reputable citizens. Sentence suspended October 19, 1903.

GEORGE RILEY, Polk county. Committed to the penitentiary January 29, 1902, for a term of three years for the offense of forgery. Clemency was recommended by a petition numerously signed and by the county attorney who wrote as follows: "Riley is a bright fellow and if there is some way to keep him sober, he would be a good citizen. His fault is, as I remember, after prolonged drunks he is given to wholesale forgeries of small amounts. His mind was at one time somewhat deranged by strong drink, but he may be cured now; if (so), I would say pardon him at once." In response to an inquiry as to the physical condition of the defendant the prison physician reported as follows: "I have made an examination of George Riley, No. 8037, and find that he is mentally and physically sound. He has only visited the hospital once since his incarceration and that was for the extraction of a tooth. His condition has steadily improved since entering the prison." Sentence suspended October 26, 1903.

CHARLES JONES, Audubon county. Committed to the penitentiary November 1, 1900, for a term of seven years for the offense of larceny from the person. Clemency was recommended by both the judge and county attorney; by a petition signed by all of the jurors who sat in the trial of the case, and by a petition signed by forty-one of the respected citizens of the town of Audubon, including several of the county officers. Clemency was also recommended by Hon. Asmus Boysen. Sentence suspended October 26, 1903.

SYLVIA CONNER, Polk county. Sentenced to the penitentiary October 31, 1901, to serve a term of four years for the offense of keeping a house of ill fame. The defendant was jointly indicted with Alice Miller, whose application is referred to above. It was stated in support of the application that the defendant was employed by the said Alice Miller in the capacity of housekeeper; that she had nothing whatever to do with conducting the house and did not participate in the revenue of the same. The county attorney stated that he offered to dismiss the case as to the defendant and recommend six months for said Alice Miller in the event both plead guilty to the indictment. There is no doubt but that the sentence imposed in this case was excessive. Sentence suspended November 7, 1903.

D. T. MILES, Madison county. Convicted October 17, 1901, of the crime of assault with intent to commit manslaughter and sentenced to pay a fine of $350, and serve ten days in the county jail. The defendant paid the fine and asked to be relieved of the jail sentence. The same was recommended by a number of leading citizens, including the sheriff, county attorney, and Hon. J. A. Guiher. Sentence suspended November 9, 1903.

ANNA CRAWFORD, Clinton county. Committed to the penitentiary December 9, 1901, for a term of four years for the offense of manslaughter. An investigation of this application developed the fact that the defendant in early childhood had been bereft of both her father and mother; that she had grown to womenhood with no supervising hand to direct her, many times being in the most destitute circumstances, and under such condition and environment naturally drifted into places of questionable repute. After leading a more or less checkered career for a few years she became enamored of one Thursdon, who induced her to leave the associations of former years and become his mistress. A house was rented and they began housekeeping together. Shortly after entering upon this relation one Dillon, a frequenter of saloons and like places, who was a pugilist as well, visited her residence and insisted on certain privileges which were refused by the defendant, who at the time notified him that she had forsaken her former life. He insisted and a fight ensued during which practically all of the clothing was torn from the body of the defendant. Still insisting, the defendant finally shot him, resulting in almost instantaneous death. The circumstances attending the commission of the crime, if indeed a crime was committed, would seem to have justified, in a measure at least, the act of the defendant. A number of jurors filed letters in the case in which they stated that had it not been for her previous immoral character she would not have been convicted of this offense. Sentence suspended November 10, 1903.

ERNEST B. WILLEY, Polk county. Sentenced June 24, 1902, to serve a term of two years in the penitentiary for the offense of larceny. Clemency was recommended by both the judge and county attorney and by a large number of letters and by petition signed by a large number of citizens familiar with the circumstances of the case. Sentence suspended November 10, 1903.

MICHAEL SHEA, Polk county. Convicted of the offense of intoxication and committed to the county jail November 11, 1903, for a term of thirty days. The defendent agreed to sign a pledge to obstain from the use of intoxicants; that he would support his family who greatly needed his assistance. A certificate of the family and county physician was filed showing that he was suffering from neuralgia in his face. Sentence suspended November 17, 1903.

EDWARD WILSON, Mahaska county. Convicted at the April term 1903 of the offense of larceny and sentenced to the penitentiary for a term of eighteen months. An investigation of this case revealed the fact that the defendant had been a traveling salesman for a number of years; that he had prior to this mishap borne an excellent reputation and no one was able to give any rational reason for the commission of the crime. Clemency was recommended by the judge and county attorney, by the grandjurors who returned the indictment, and by a number of other reputable citizens familiar with the circumstances surrounding the commission of the crime. The prosecuting witnesses whose property was taken wrote that they would recommend clemency if it was shown that this was the only offense of which the defendant had been guilty. A large number of letters were received in response to inquiries from men prominent in business and professional life, all of which certified to the previous good character and high standing of the applicant. Sentence suspended November 17, 1903.

F. B. RICHARDS, Cass county. Committed to the penitentiary December 21, 1902, for a term of three years for the offense of conspiracy. After the defendant was committed to the penitentiary it developed that he was suffering from tuberculosis, and inquiry of the prison physician brought the following response: "I write you that the physical and mental condition of F. B. Richards, the convict No. 8246, is not good; he is in the last stages of tuberculosis. He is weak-minded and is in fact a wreck." In view of his physical condition the county attorney recommended that clemency be extended to him. His brother came from the state of Arkansas and on his release took him back to his former home. Sentence suspended November 20, 1903.

G. T. TWEED, Winnebago county. Convicted October 20, 1903, of the offense of intoxication and sentenced to serve a term of twenty days in the county jail. The application recited that the defendant was convicted in justice court April 23, 1903, and appeal was taken to the district court. That subsequent to his conviction in the justice court he had refrained from the use of intoxicants in any form and it was believed that he would continue to do so. A petition signed by twenty-six citizens of Forest City, including the mayor, county superintendent, postmaster, city marshal, representative in the legislature, county auditor, sheriff, clerk of the district court and state veterinary surgeon was filed, in which clemency was strongly recommended, and in which recommendation the county attorney joined. Sentence suspended November 24, 1903.

EDWARD BURNS, O'Brien county. Convicted at the December term 1901 of the crime of seduction and sentenced to the penitentiary for a term of one and one-fourth year. The investigation of this case forced the conclusion that the crime was not an aggravated one, to say the least—in fact a very grave doubt is created as to there being an act of seduction. Subsequent developements revealed a condition that forced the conclusion that the wrong was very easily appeased. The evidence of the prosecuting witness describes a condition which would have been absolutely impossible of accomplishment. The defendant was several years younger than the prosecuting witness. The files in support of the application show that he paid the prosecuting witness the sum of $1,665.00. That this amount, together with the expense incident to the trial cost the defendant and his father more than $3,000.00. Clemency was recommended by the county attorney who conducted the prosecution and by the present incumbent of that office; also by Hon. Timothy Donohue, representative, and Hon. Ed. C. Brown, member of the Iowa Railway Commission. Sentence suspended November 24, 1903.

HENRY J. PRINS, Sioux county. Committed to the penitentiary November 3, 1902, for a term of two years for the offense of forgery. A petition in support of the application for clemency containing the names of one hundred and fifty-three citizens residing in the vicinity of where the crime was committed was filed, in which the former good character and industrious and temperate habits of the defendant was plead in extenuation. A letter was also filed signed by the complaining witness strongly urging clemency; also a large number of personal letters were filed in all of which interference was urged. Sentence suspended December 1. 1903.

M. J. HIGGINS, Pottawattamie county. Convicted of the crime of adultery and sentenced at the March term, 1901, of the district court to serve a term of two years in the penitentiary. From this judgment an appeal was taken to the supreme court, in which the decision of the lower court was affirmed. It is probably true that no application for clemency was ever before made in which as strong a showing by as many prominent men was made as in the case of the defendant. On or about 1887 the defendant removed from the city of Baltimore to the city of Chicago with his wife, Margaret Higgins. In 1894 trouble arose between these parties in the last named city, resulting in a separation. Mrs. Higgins returned to Baltimore, where she remained for perhaps ten months, returning to Chicago. It is alleged that she informed the defendant that she had obtained a divorce from defendant while absent, on which statement he relied. On August 1, 1896, he married another woman, subsequent to which date they continued to live together as husband and wife. They afterward removed to Council Bluffs, Iowa, where they resided for a period of four or five months. In the meantime it developed that Mrs. Higgins had not obtained a divorce, as the defendant had been informed. She appeared before the grand jury in Pottawattamie county, procured an indictment against the defendant for the crime above referred to, resulting in his conviction aforesaid. On learning that his wife had not obtained a divorce the defendant brought an action in the courts of Omaha, Nebraska, and obtained a divorce and remarried the woman to whom he had been married, or supposed he had been married, on August 1, 1896. The matter was very carefully investigated. Personal investigation was made in Chicago for the purpose of arriving at the real facts in the case. All efforts to locate the former Mrs. Higgins proved futile, and the evidence indicating that the defendant had acted in good faith in believing that his former wife had obtained a divorce, it did not seem equitable to require defendant to pay the penalty imposed by the judgment referred to above. All the jurors who sat in the trial of the case joined in the recommendation for clemency. Clemency was also recommended by nearly all of the members of the bar of Council Bluffs, most of the officers of Pattawattamie county, by the sheriff, the prosecuting attorney of Kansas City, Missouri, by the probate judge, by the judge of the United States District Court, the Mayor of Kansas City, members of congress, chief of police, secretary of the board of park commissioners, the county collector, the recorder of deeds, all of Kansas City, Missouri. By Hon. George S. Wright, who began the prosecution at Council Bluffs under which the conviction was obtained; by Hon. Ernest E. Hart, Judge G. H. Scott, and a large number of other prominent officials in both Kansas City and Council Bluffs. Sentence suspended December 7, 1903.

CHARLES FLEMING, Dubuque county. Committed to the county jail November 12, 1903, to serve a term of five months for the offense of breaking and entering. The statement filed in support of the application in this case recited that the defendant's mother resided in St. Louis; that he was only seventeen years old, and of previous good character. The application was made by the president of the educational division of the Dubuque Women's Club, and was recommended by both the judge and county attorney. Sentence suspended December 7, 1903.

EARL GARMAN, Mills county. Committed to the penitentiary June 6, 1902, for a term of five years for assault with intent to commit murder. It appears from the showing made in this case that the defendant's father, being intoxicated, was quarreling with defendant's mother and threatened to drive her out of her home; that the defendant interfered, and in the encounter which ensued, shot his father. Clemency was recommended by both the judge and county attorney: by a petition containing, among others, the names of Judge W. S. Lewis, County Attorney Cook, L. H. Robinson, Dr. F. M. Powell, C. E. Dean, Hon. John Y. Stone, and Hon. Shirley, Gillilland, state senator. The father of the defendant also recommended clemency. Sentence suspended December 18, 1903.

JOHN SCANLON, Wapello county. Sentenced October 4, 1901, to serve a sentence of seven years in the penitentiary for the offense of robbery. The recommendations in support of the application for clemency were unusually strong. The innocence of the defendant of the crime charged was persistently urged. The uniform good character of the defendant was also plead in extenuation. This was supported by a strong array of personal letters written by acquaintances in both Iowa and Illinois. Clemency was also recommended by the judge who pronounced sentence. Sentence suspended December 17, 1903.

ALBERT KUBA, Linn county. Committed to the penitentiary October 17, 1901, for a term of fifteen years for the offense of placing dynamite with the intent to destroy an inhabited building. The defendant was a saloon keeper, and being exasperated by the vigilance of an attorney in prosecuting the violaters of the mulct law, consulted with one Charles Meeter who was jointly indicted with him and who was familiar with the use of dynamite, and who placed the dynamite on the door step of the attorney referred to above. It was urged in extenuation that the defendant had no knowledge whatever of the probable effect of such an act; that it was not his intention to destroy or endanger life; that at the time of his trial, which occured shortly after the commission of the crime, public sentiment ran very high and the long sentence imposed was given him for the deterent effect it would have on others who had been guilty of petty offenses. A very strong petition was presented in support of the application. Clemency was also recommended by both the judge and county attorney. The defendant Meeter referred to above was convicted and sentenced to three years in the penitentiary. The sentence was commuted to one year and nine months. Sentence suspended December 30, 1903.

Pardons and restorations to citizenship were granted in the following cases, for the reason that in each case the person to whom the same was granted has been previously paroled from the penitentiary, and in most cases the full term of commitment had expired. Before issuing the Order of Restoration a showing was required signed by five or six reputable citizens who knew the applicant personally, and who stated that in their opinion his deportment subsequent to his release gave promise that he would not again violate the law.

COMMUTATIONS.

EDWARD HALE, Lee county. Committed to the penitentiary March 27, 1899, for a term of twenty-two years for robbery. Commuted March 18, 1902, to twelve years. Commutation was recommeded by the judge and county attorney, who based their recommendation on the former good conduct of the defendant, information they were not in possession of at time of trial.

CHARLES MILLER, Lee county. Committed to the penitentiary March 27, 1899, for a term of thirty years. Commuted to six years on same recommendation as in case of Edward Hale, above.

HENRY WILCOX, Calhoun county. February term, 1901. Sentenced to eighteen months for manslaughter. The defendant's term would have expired July 6th. Commutation of six days granted to enable him to reach home to attend a family reunion.

GUS WATTS, Washington county. September term, 1898. Sentenced to five years for larceny. Commuted to three years and nine months, on recommendation of the warden, the object being to restore to him thirty days of "good time" forfeited the first years of his imprisonment.

E. L. TROTH, Van Buren county. September term, 1900. Sentenced to a term of two years for receiving stolen property. Commuted June 17, 1902, to one year eleven months, and twenty-one days on the recommendation of L. S. Coffin, who had procured a remunerative position for him, and which could not be held open until his term would have expired.

WILLIAM BURTON, Jones county. Committeed to the penitentiary for a term of two years for prison breach. Commuted November 8, 1902, to one year on the recommendation of the warden, who stated that one year was the usual length of term imposed for like offenses.

FRED BRADAEY, Linn county, November term, 1900. Sentenced to two years for forgery. Commuted November 11, 1902, to the extent of restoring to him the "good time" which he had forfeited.

LEVI LOAR, Van Buren county. December term, 1900. Sentenced to six months in the penitentiary for attempting to produce a miscarriage. Commuted November 15, 1902, on recommendation of the warden, who stated that the defendant was in the hospital unable to leave his bed, being at the time sixty-nine years of age. Commuted to five months twenty-four days.

ROBERT GOFF, Cherokee county. September term, 1901. Sentenced to the penitentiary for two years for assault with intent to commit manslaughter. Commuted December 8, 1902, to one year seven months on showing that the defendant had served five months in the county jail prior to his commitment to the penitentiary.

A. J. MORRISON, Warren county. Committed April 25, 1902, for ten months for larceny by embezzlement. Commuted December 16, 1902, on recommendation of county attorney to nine months in said penitentiary.

W. R. HALL, Boone county. February term, 1899. Sentenced to eight years for manslaughter. Commuted January 6, 1902 to six years six months on showing made indicating that the sentence was excessive.

FRANK DEGEORGE, Hardin county. October term, 1902. Sentenced to pay a fine of $300.00, failing to pay the same was committed to the county jail. Commuted January 23, 1903, on recommendation of the county attorney, to eighty-six days in said county jail.

E. C. RUSHLOW, Marshall county. September term, 1898. Sentenced to seven years in the penitentiary for assault with intent to commit murder. Commuted January 24, 1903, to six years nine months on the recommendation of the warden, who stated that the defendant had filled many positions of trust in the penitentiary the duties of which required him to work on Sunday and at night during the greater part of his term.

C. F. HOWARD, Fremont county. Sentenced September 20, 1902, to a term of two years in the penitentiary for adultery. Commuted February 14, 1903, to one year in said penitentiary, the county attorney strongly urged interference in this case, in which he was joined by a large number of prominent citizens familiar with all the circumstances.

FRANK HICKMAN, Jasper county. Committed to the penitentiary March 3, 1897, for nine years for burglary. Commuted March 30, 1903, by restoring him, on the recommendation of the warden, sixty-five days of "good time" forfeited by reason of an infraction of the prison rules.

WILLIAM SMITH, Polk county. Committed to the penitentiary February 8, 1900, for a term of three years for breaking and entering. This sentence was subsequently suspended and he was released from said penitentiary. On December 26, 1901, he was arrested for the murder of one Johnson, was indicted, tried and acquitted. At the time of his arrest, the Order of Suspension was revoked. He remained in the county jail from December 26, 1901, to May 8, 1902, when he was re-committed to the penitentiary by reason of said revocation. Sentence commuted to two years, seven months and eighteen days for the purpose of giving him credit for time served in the county jail, on April 2, 1902.

D. S. CLAYMAN, Adair county. Sentenced May 28, 1894 to a term of sixteen years in the penitentiary for murder in the second degree. Commuted August 27, 1903, to fifteen years, ten months and fourteen days for the purpose of restoring to him forty-six days of "good time" which he had forfeited, which restoration was recommended by the warden.

JOHN ADAMS, Wapello county. Committed to the penitentiary September 14, 1899, for five years for assault with intent to commit murder. Commuted October 24, 1903, on recommendation of the warden to four years, one month and eleven days.

EDWARD STEIN, Cass county. Committed to the penitentiary June 12, 1901, for a term of three years for larceny and embezzlement. Commuted December 2, 1903, for two years, eleven months and twenty-four days to enable him to procure passage on the steamship Rhein, which sailed from New York for the Port of Bremen December 10, 1903.

ADA HAZLEWOOD, Polk county. September term, 1902. Sentenced to one year in the penitentiary for keeping a house of ill fame. Commuted December 18, 1903, to eight months on the recommendation of the county attorney, who stated that she had been detained in the county jail of Polk county after sentence from December 15, 1902, to April 29, 1903, for the purpose of receiving her testimony in a criminal case then pending.

THOMAS CATHER, Marshall county. Sentenced December 4, 1903, to serve a term of two years for assault with intent to commit manslaughter. Commuted December 21, 1903, to one year in the county jail of said county, on the recommendation of the trial judge and a very large number of the most reputable citizens of said county.

APPLICATIONS FOR PARDON SUBMITTED TO GENERAL ASSEMBLY.

To the Senate and House of Representatives:

W. P. Glyndon, Frank Hall, Leonard W. Haley, Sarah Kuhn, Clarence Mills, Ormand McPherson, Frank M. Rainsbarger, Nathan Rainsbarger, Hugh Robbard, John G. Steel, Betsy Smith, William Tool, L. R. VanTassel, Frank P. Watkins (died), Thomas W. Watson, George Weems, and G. A. Williams, convicted of the crime of murder in the first degree and sentenced to imprisonment in the penitentiary for the term of their natural lives, have made application for pardon. The statute provides that for this crime no pardon shall be granted by the gevernor until he shall have presented the matter to the general assembly for its advice. It likewise requires publication of the notice of application for pardon containing the grounds upon which it is asked, which notices have been published as required by statute. The original applications with accompanying papers are on file in the executive office for the inspection of the members of the general assembly. In the case of Ormand McPherson a mistake was made in computing the time for the publtcation of notice. It is urged that this oversight shall not be permitted to militate against his application.

OF THE

Secretary of State

TO THE

GOVERNOR OF IOWA,

OF THE

Transactions of the Land Department,

July 1, 1901, to June 30, 1903.

W. B. MARTIN, Secretary of State.

DES MOINES:
B. MURPHY, STATE PRINTER.
1903.

REPORT.

OFFICE OF SECRETARY OF STATE,
DES MOINES, IOWA.

To His Excellency, ALBERT B. CUMMINS, Governor of Iowa:

SIR—In accordance with law, I have the honor to submit the following report of the transactions of the state land department during the biennial period ending June 30, 1903, with such additional information of public interest as I am enabled to give relative to matters connected with the land department.

A few patents and certificates for railroad lands, embracing in all 1,385.96 acres were received from the general government during the biennial period. The railroad land grants have now practically all been adjusted by the department of the interior and there are but a few tracts yet to be approved under these grants. These are mostly tracts which have been held up by the general land office on account of contests or conflicts with other grants.

During the biennial period the general government has approved and patented to the state of Iowa 1,179.61 acres of swamp lands "in place." The state has also received from the government swamp land cash indemnity to the amount of $1,419.78 which was in turn paid over to the counties entitled thereto by the treasurer of state. The adjustment of the swamp land grant by the department of the interior is proceeding very slowly, and it will take ten or fifteen years to complete this work.

The Twenty-ninth General Assemby adopted a concurrent resolution authorizing the secretary of state to have mounted with cloth and bound in volumes of convenient size the photo-lithographic plats of all the congressional townships in the state, which were furnished the department by the commissioner of the general land office. The same resolution also gave the secretary of state authority to have rebound the volumes containing the original field notes of survey and records of conveyances. In accordance with the provisions of the said resolution, I have had the photo-lithographic plats mounted on muslin and bound in twelve large volumes with canvas sides and leather backs and corners. This work was done by the state binder in a very acceptable manner. The work was well done and the books will last for years. The work of rebinding the volumes containing the original field notes of survev and also the volumes containing records of conveyances of lands has been commenced by the state binder and will be completed in a few weeks.

The following statement gives the transactions of the land department during the biennial period, relative to conveyances by the state of the various classes of lands:

LANDS PATENTED OR CERTIFIED.	ACRES.
Sixteenth section grant	1,503.00
Five hundred thousand acre grant	845.04
Mortgage school lands	410.00
Agricultural college grant	1,490.00
Swamp lands "in place"	1,179.61
Railroad lands	2,129.04
Des Moines river lands (Chapters 209 and 210, Twenty-ninth General Assembly)	320.00
Two islands in the Mississippi river (Chapter 214, Twenty-ninth General Assembly)	6.70
Total	7,988.39

The following statement gives the number of acres of land belonging to the several grants still subject to patent:

LANDS UNPATENTED.	ACRES.
Sixteenth section grant	15,785.675
Five hundred thousand acre grant	9,184.35
University grant	653.31
Saline grant	1,815.68
Agricultural college grant	1,016.02
Swamp and railroad grants (cannot be estimated)	.....
Total	28,455.175

The following statement gives the quantity of unsold school and university lands at the close of the biennial period:

LANDS UNSOLD.	ACRES.
Sixteenth section grant	1,160.00
University grant	612.34
Saline grant	1,5 9.99
University lands (donated and mortgage)	560.00
Agricultural college lands (mortgage)	40.00
Total	3,942.33

FEES.

The fees received by the department during the two years ending June 30, 1903, for certificates and certified copies of records, amounted to $608.01, which sum was paid into the state treasury as required by law.

Respectfully submitted,

W. B. MARTIN,

Secretary of State.

SCHOOL LANDS.

The school lands of the state of Iowa consist of the sixteenth section in every congressional township, or lands in lieu thereof, granted to the state by act of congress, approved March 3, 1845; the lands acquired by the state under the act of congress, approved September 4, 1841, known as the "500,000 Acre Grant," and the lands called the "Mortgage School Lands," the latter being the lands the state has acquired under foreclosures of mortgages given to secure loans of the school fund in the several counties.

The proceeds of the sales of lands acquired under the sixteenth section and 500,000 acre grants, together with 5 per cent on the sales of the public lands within the state, granted by act of congress, and the proceeds of the sales of intestate estates which escheat to the state, constitute the permanent school fund of the state of Iowa, the interest of which is used for the support of the common schools.

*In conflict with swamp title.

The northwest fractional ¼ of section 30, township 97 north, of range 28 west, containing 149.67 acres, was selected for the state of Iowa by the duly authorized agent of the state, in pursuance of the act of congress, approved July 2, 1862, entitled: "An act donating public lands to the several states and territories which may provide colleges for the benefit of agriculture," etc., the said tract being subject to be selected for said purpose and found free from conflict. The selection was approved by the secretary of the interior, December 13, 1864.

On November 6, 1865, the United States patented said tract to the state of Iowa, under the swamp land indemnity act of March 2, 1855, and the state did, on the 22d day of November, 1865, patent the same to Mahaska county, in pursuance of the said act of March 2, 1855.

THE SWAMP LANDS.

The swamp lands consist of lands which have been acquired by the state under the act of congress, approved September 28, 1850, known as the "Swamp Land Grant," and the acts of congress, approved March 2, 1855, and March 3, 1857, acts amendatory of and supplemental to the act making the grant.

Since the date of the grant the state has selected about 4,571,735.94 acres of swamp lands. The department of the interior has held that a large amount of the lands embraced in these selections was not of the character defined and granted by the act of 1850. The state has acquired 869,795.39 acres of swamp lands in place, and 321,845.23 acres of indemnity swamp lands; and has received cash indemnity for about 467,102.60 acres. The state has received in lands and cash only about 1,658,743.22 acres out of the 4,571,735.94 acres selected.

The following statement shows the status of the swamp land grant accounted to the state by the general government:

1. Total quantity of swamp lands in place and swamp land cash and land indemnity in Iowa, selected, approved and patented, from September 28, 1850, to June 30, 1908:

Selected	4,571,735 94 acres.
Approved—Lands in place	940 288. 79 acres.
Patented—Lands in place	869,795. 39 acres.
Approved—Cash indemnity	$ 582.511. 64
Approved—Land indemnity	841,632. 97 acres.
Patented—Indemnity lands	821,845. 23 acres.

2. Total quantity of swamp land selections rejected from July 1, 1901, to June 30, 1908:

Number of acres	82,895. 20

3. Total quantity of swamp land selections remaining unadjusted on June 30, 1908:

Swamp lands in place—claims	(not compiled).
Swamp lands indemnity claims	943,431. 20 acres.

SWAMP LANDS PATENTED.

During the biennial period ending June 30, 1903, 1,179.61 acres of swamp lands in place have been patented to the state, all of which have been in turn patented by the state to the counties entitled thereto. The following is a descriptive list of the lands so patented:

The following special swamp land indemnity certificates (or scrip) are deposited in this office, which authorize the location of 12,727.22 acres as lands in lieu of swamp lands located with land warrants or scrip in the following counties, to wit:

	ACRES.
Greene county (certificate No. 91)	10,658.22
Guthrie county (certificate No. 94)	1,840.00
Marion county (certificate No. 16)	120 00
Chickasaw county (supplemental certificate No. 33)	109.00

The several counties credited with these certificates are entitled to the indemnity, but the location of these certificates is confined to vacant lands within the state of Iowa subject to sale at $1.25 per acre. As there are no lands in the state upon which these certificates can be located, congress should either allow the locations outside of the state of Iowa, or provide for payment of the indemnity due the state in cash.

SWAMP LAND CASH INDEMNITY.

TABLE No. 19.

Giving the settlement of cash indemnity claims of the state of Iowa, during the period from July 1, 1901, to June 30, 1903. The tracts on which indemnity has been paid are situated in seven different counties, as follows:

THE RAILROAD LANDS.

The railroad lands of Iowa consist of all lands granted by the various acts of congress to aid in the construction of certain railroads in the state of Iowa. Lands which inured to the state under these grants have either been patented or certified to the state by the proper government officials, and in turn were granted to the railroad companies entitled thereto by the legislature of Iowa. The lands inuring to the railroad companies, under the act of congress, approved June 2, 1864; were certified and approved direct to the said companies by the commissioner of the general land office and the secretary of the interior. Certified copies of lists of lands approved under this act are of record in the state land office.

The biennial report of this department for the year 1901 contained a complete list of all the acts of congress; and of all the acts of the general assemblies of Iowa relative to the railroad lands. Copies of this report can be obtained either in the state land office or in the document room of the secretary of state.

The railroad land grants have been practically all adjusted by the department of the interior, and there are but a few tracts yet to be approved under the grants. These are mostly tracts which have been held up by the department on account of conflicts with other grants. During the biennial period just closed, 1,285.96 acres of land were patented or approved to the state under the various railroad grants, and 560.10 acres of land were patented by the state to the railroad companies and 1,568.94 acres were certified and approved by the state to the said companies.

RAILROAD LANDS PATENTED OR APPROVED.

The following tract was approved and certified by the department of the interior, under act of May 15, 1856, to the state of Iowa for the use and benefit of the Chicago, Rock Island & Pacific Railroad company, as the same appears by the certified copy of the original list furnished the state by the commissioner of the general land office:

SURVEYS.

The original field notes and plats of the government survey of the state of Iowa were turned over to the state by the general government when the office of surveyor-general was discontinued. Any one desiring information relative to the original survey can obtain the same from this department. Certified copies of field notes and plats will be furnished for a reasonable fee.

The biennial reports of the state land office for the years 1897 and 1899 contain a synopsis of the acts of congress relative to surveys, and also the general rules prescribed by the department of the interior relative to surveys and the restoration of lost or obliterated corners. The supply of these reports is not entirely exhausted, and copies of the same can be obtained on application to this department.

MEANDERED LAKES.

In his message to the Twenty-eighth General Assembly, Governor Shaw recommended that "a legislative grant be made of all the lake beds that have or may hereafter become dry, either to the State University or to the State College of Agriculture and Mechanic Arts; or perhaps better still to both these institutions jointly; and that a commission be appointed to make selections from time to time, and report the same to the executive council for confirmation, under such provisions for hearing and appeal as may be deemed wise in the premises."

No action having been taken by the legislature upon this recommendation, the executive council decided in April, 1901, to rent the lake beds and instructed the secretary of the council to advertise for proposals to rent the dry lands within the meander lines of the lakes of the state. The council also requested the attorney-general to draw up a form of lease which would answer the purpose desired. It was determined at first to rent the lake beds for a period of from one to five years, but the council finally concluded, in view of the fact that the next legislature might take some action relative to the disposition of the lake beds, that they should be leased for only one year. Proposals to rent several of the lake beds were received by the executive council in response to the advertisement. Leases were authorized and executed by the executive council in accordance with the form furnished by the attorney-general. The following table gives a list of the leases executed during the year 1901.

Governor Shaw, in his message to the Twenty-ninth General Assembly, again recommended the granting of the lake beds to the educational institutions, but his recommendation was not acted upon by the legislature. MEANDERED STREAMS.

The Twenty-ninth General Assembly enacted the following law authorizing the reclaiming of lands between the meandered lines of streams dividing the territory within the corporate limits of certain cities, and vesting title to the beds of the meandered streams in the "River Front Improvement Commission" of such cities:

CHAPTER 210 OF THE ACTS OF THE TWENTY-NINTH GENERAL ASSEMBLY—IMPROVEMENT OF THE CHANNELS OF THE MEANDERED STREAMS WITHIN THE CORPORATE LIMITS OF CERTAIN CITIES.

(S. F. 234.)

AN ACT to authorize the improvement of the channels of meandered streams dividing the territory within the corporate limits of certain cities and to authorize the reclaiming of lands between the meandered lines of said streams within said corporate limits and to create a commission therefor and defining its powers and prescribing its duties.

WHEREAS, The title to the beds of the meandered streams in Iowa, including all the land between the meandered lines of such streams is vested in the state of Iowa and under control of the legislature; and,

WHEREAS, Much of said lands between the meandered lines of such streams is land not needed by the waters of such streams for channels or water courses; and,

WHEREAS, Such lands as lie within the corporate limits of said cities would be of great value to the public if reclaimed by walls or embankments to secure an adequate channel for such streams; and,

WHEREAS, The courses of such streams through such cities could be beautified and made regular and sanitary and the expense of bridging greatly reduced, where they are now unsightly, irregular, unsanitary and of such great width that the expense of bridging and maintaining bridges is very great; and,

WHEREAS, The state can make no use of said lands and has an interest in the improvement of the channels of streams; therefore,

Be it Enacted by the General Assembly of the State of Iowa:

SECTION 1. Petition—River Front Improvement Commission. That whenever five hundred electors of any city whose corporate limits are divided by a meandered st eam, shall, in writing, petition the governor of state for the appointment of a commission, as provided for by this act, he shall within one month thereafter, appoint three electors, residents of the city of the said electors so petitioning, who shall constitute a body corporate to be known as the River Front Improvement Commission of ———, inserting in said blank the name of the city of the said electors so applying.

SEC. 2. Election. That one commissioner shall be elected at each biennial city election, after the passage of this act, to succeed one of the commissioners so appointed, whose term shall expire when his successor is elected and qualified.

SEC. 3. Organization—secretary-treasurer. The commission shall, within ten (10) days after their appointment, qualify by taking the oath of office, determine, by lot, the order of the expiration of their terms, and organize by the election of one of their number as chairman; they shall also elect a secretary, not one of their number; and shall also elect a treasurer, not one of their number, who shall give bonds in the sum of twenty-five thousand dollars ($25,000), the penalty of which may be increased by the commission. The treasurer shall receive and pay out all moneys under the control of said commission as ordered by it, but shall receive no compensation for his services. Each of the commissioners shall be reimbursed for the actual expenses incurred or money paid out by him in connection with the discharge of his official duties, but shall receive no compensation for his services. An itemized statement of all expenses and moneys received and paid out shall be made under oath and filed with the secretary and allowed by the commission.

SEC. 4. Title to river bed. That when said commissioners have been so appointed and qualified, the fee simple title to the bed of the meandered stream, separating the corporate limits of the city, for which they are appointed, shall immediately vest in the commission in trust for the public and the same while held by the commission, shall be exempt from taxation, provided that the fee title to the channel or bed of the stream to be located and preserved as hereinafter provided shall remain in the state, and provided also, that the vested rights of riparian owners and owners of water powers, shall not be injuriously affected by this act.

SEC. 5. Powers of commission. Said commission may redeem lands between the meandered lines of such stream, construct, regulate and maintain dams across such stream, provide for and protect, by secure walls or banks, a channel adequate to carry flood waters of a volume equal to all reasonable expectations, based on past experience, and the area drained by such stream, according to expert authority, beautify such walls or banks, and park so much thereof as public interest may require, and where circumstances permit make any part of the area redeemed and acquired suitable for sites of public buildings.

SEC. 6. Profiles and specifications—approved. That said commission may adopt plans, profiles and specifications for the improvement of the said river channel and banks, and the reclaiming of lands between the meandered lines of said streams within such city, and the construction of dams; but before the beginning of the execution of the same, such plans, profiles and specifications shall be approved by the executive council of Iowa.

SEC. 7. Additional powers—annual report. Said commission may acquire real estate and riparian and other rights within such city in the vicinity of such stream by donation, or purchase, or by condemnation for the public uses herein authorized in the manner provided by law for the taking of private property for public use, and shall take the title to property in the name of the commission and its successors, in trust for the public, and hold the same exempt from taxation. It may sell, and convey or lease, or exchange any property acquired by it, by virtue of this act and otherwise. It shall have exclusive control of all the lands acquired by it, and of the banks and waters of such stream for carrying out the purposes of this act, may make contracts and sue and be sued. It shall keep a record of all its transactions, which shall during ordinary business hours be open to inspection by the public and shall make an annual report of all moneys received and expended by it and for what general purposes, and of all moneys owing to it and by it and for what general purposes, to the city council at the regular November meeting, and publish such report in some newspaper in the city.

SEC. 8. Bonds—mortgages. For the purpose of paying for real estate and improvements and accomplishing the purposes of its creation, said commission may issue bonds in such amounts as it may deem necessary, and may execute trust deeds or mortgages upon its property by virtue of this act and otherwise or any part thereof to secure the payment of said bonds and interest thereon.

SEC. 9. Cities may aid in making improvements. That such city shall not be liable for any indebtedness incurred by said commission or for any bond issued by said commission. That such cities are hereby authorized to aid in making the improvements specified in this act by appropriating money from its general fund or from the surplus remaining at the end of the fiscal year in any special fund, except in cases where such diversion of moneys is especially prohibited by statute, and may appropriate in aid of the improvements herein provided for, the reasonable saving effected in the building of bridges and otherwise by reason of said improvements.

SEC. 10. Rules and regulations—penalty. Said commission may, in writing, prescribe rules and regulations for the government of the public grounds under their control and persons resorting thereto, which rules and regulations shall been forced when entered in the record of the proceedings of the commission, and a copy thereof signed by the commissioners has been posted at each gate or principal entrance to any such public grounds and a wilful violation thereof shall be a misdemeanor, punishable by fine not exceeding twenty-five dollars ($25). Anyone who shall cut, break or deface any tree or shrub growing in such public grounds, without authority, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and be punished by fine not exceeding one hundred dollars ($100) or by imprisonment not exceeding thirty (30) days in jail. Any magistrate in the city shall have jurisdiction to try such offenses.

SEC. 11. Police protection—water supply. The mayor, on written request of the commission, shall furnish adequate police protection for such public grounds and the city shall furnish such water supply as may be necessary therefor, and properly light the same at its expense. The commission shall be entitled to the services of the city engineer, when requested, without expense to it. It shall have the power to permit or forbid the erection of poles or the stretching of wires for electric light, street railway or other purposes by persons or corporations, in such public grounds or in or along streets, highways or over public places laid out or controlled by it.

SEC. 12. Wharves, landing places, bath and boath ouses. That said commission shall have power, in and over the bed and banks of such river as specified, to construct and regulate the use of wharves, landing places, bath houses, boat houses and other suitable structures, and shall have exclusive jurisdiction over the water of such stream within the corporate limits of such city, and may maintain said stream in a suitable condition for boating, skating and other public amusements and purposes.

SEC. 13. What prohibited. No member of the commission shall, during the time for which he has been appointed or elected, or for one year thereafter, be appointed to any office in the gift of the commission which shall be created, or the emolument of which shall be increased, during the term for which he was elected, nor shall he be interested directly or indirectly in any contract for work or service to be performed for the commission or in the purchase or sale of any property sold to or by the commission.

SEC. 14. Vacancies. In case vacancy arises in the commission, the governor of the state shall fill such vacancy by appointment for the unexpired portion of the term or until the next election as the case may be.

SEC. 15. Cities affected. The provisions of this act shall apply only to cities acting under special charter and cities of the first class acting under the general incorporation laws now having a population of less than twenty-five thousand (25,000).

SEC. 16. In effect. This act, being deemed of immediate importance, shall take effect and be in force from and after its publication in the Iowa State Register and the Des Moines Leader, newspapers published at Des Moines, Iowa.

Approved March 14, 1902.

I hereby certify that the foregoing act was published in the Iowa State Register and the Des Moines Leader, March 15, 1902.

Secretary of State.

MISCELLANEOUS.

SALE OF TWO ISLANDS IN THE MISSISSIPPI RIVER.

The executive council was authorized by chapter 214 of the acts of the Twenty-ninth General Assembly, to sell two islands newly formed by accretion in the Mississippi river in Scott county, the same being west of the main channel of said Mississippi river and adjacent to the Iowa shore. The executive council sold the islands in accordance with the provisions of the act to Claus Kuehl and George Mengel, and they were patented to the said parties on the first day of July A. D. 1902. The following is a copy of the act authorizing the sale:

CHAPTER 214 OF THE ACTS OF THE TWENTY-NINTH GENERAL ASSEMBLY—SALE OF TWO ISLANDS IN THE MISSISSIPPI RIVER ADJACENT TO THE IOWA SHORE IN SCOTT COUNTY.

(H. F. 425.)

AN ACT authorizing the executive council to sell and convey two islands newly formed by accretion in the Mississippi river, and located in sections three and four, in township seventy-seven, north of range three, east of the fifth P. M., in Scott County, Iowa, the same being west of the main channel of said Mississippi river and adjacent to the Iowa shore.

WHEREAS, An island has been formed by accretion in the Mississippi river near the Iowa shore, particularly described as follows, to wit: Beginning at the northeast corner of section number four, township seventy-seven, north of range three, east of the fifth P. M., running thence due south on section line ten hundred fifteen (1015) feet to a point at about low water mark on the upper or northeasterly end of said small island, said point being the place of beginning, thence in a general direction south thirty-six and one-half (36½) degrees west, fifteen hundred and forty (1540) feet along the southeastern boundary line of said island to the lower or southwesterly end of said island, thence northeasterly along the northwest boundary line of said island to the place of beginning, said tract containing four and two-tenths acres, more or less, and lying in the northeast quarter of said section four, township seventy-seven, range three, Scott county, Iowa, the same being west of the main channel of said Mississippi river and adjacent to the Iowa shore; and,

WHEREAS, Another certain island has been formed by accretion in the Mississippi river near the Iowa shore, described as follows, to wit: Beginning at a point sixteen hundred sixty (1660) feet due south and one hundred fifty (150) feet due west of the northeast corner of section four, township seventy-seven, north range three, east of the fifth P. M., said point being one hundred fifty (150) feet due west of a point on the boundary line between sections three and four in said township and range, which point is sixteen hundred and sixty (1660) feet south of the northeast corner of said section four, said point of beginning being about low water mark on the lower or southwesterly end of said small island, thence running in a general direction north thirty-five (35) degrees east, and following the northwest boundary line of said island nine hundred and sixty-five (965) feet, more or less, to the upper or northeasterly end, thence in a southwesterly direction along the southeast boundary line of said island to the point of beginning, and containing two and five-tenths acres of land, more or less; part of said island lying in section four, and part lying in section three, all in township seventy-seven, north of range three, east of the fifth P. M., Scott county, Iowa, the same being west of the main channel of said Mississippi river and adjacent to the Iowa shore; and

WHEREAS, Said islands are not needed by the state of Iowa for any specific purpose and have not been otherwise disposed of, therefore

Be it Enacted by the General Assembly of the State of Iowa:

SECTION 1. Appraisers—Sale Advertised—Patent. That the executive council of the state of Iowa be and is hereby authorized and empowered to appoint three disinterested persons, residents of the state of Iowa, as appraisers, to appraise and report to the executive council the value of said islands described in the preamble hereto; and when such report of appraisement has been filed with the executive council, said executive council is hereby authorized and empowered to advertise the proposed sale of said islands for four consecutive weeks in some newspaper of general circulation published in Scott county, Iowa, and to sell said islands for not less than their appraised value to the highest bidder, for the benefit of the state of Iowa, and that upon payment into the state treasury of the purchase price agreed upon by the person or persons to whom said sale is made, the governor of the state of Iowa is authorized and empowered to execute and deliver to the purchaser a patent, and to affix the great seal of the state of Iowa, conveying all the right, title and interest of the state of Iowa in and to said islands by the correct descriptions thereof.

SEC. 2. In effect. This act, being deemed of immediate importance, shall take effect and be in force from and after its publication in the Des Moines Daily Capital, a newspaper published at Des Moines, Iowa, and in the Daily Davenport Democrat, a newspaper published at Davenport, Iowa.

Approved April 9, 1902.

I hereby certify that the foregoing act was published in the Des Moines Daily Capital, April 11, 1902, and in the Davenport Daily Republican, April 15, 1902.

W. B. MARTIN,
Secretary of State.

REPORT

OF THE

Custodian of Public Buildings

AND PROPERTY

TO THE

GOVERNOR OF IOWA,

FOR THE YEARS 1902 AND 1903.

JANUARY 1, 1904.

T. E. McCURDY,

CUSTODIAN OF PUBLIC BUILDINGS AND PROPERTY

DES MOINES:
B. MURPHY, STATE PRINTER
1904

CUSTODIAN'S REPORT.

OFFICE OF THE CUSTODIAN
PUBLIC BUILDINGS AND PROPERTY,
January 1, 1904.

To His Excellency, ALBERT B. CUMMINS, Governor of the State of Iowa:

DEAR SIR,—Complying with the law, as provided in section 150, chapter 8, of the Code, I have the honor to submit herewith the biennial report of this office, containing an itemized statement of all the expenditures, as required for the two years preceding the meeting of the general assembly, embracing the period from January 1, 1902, to December 31, 1903, inclusive.

The quarterly reports of this office for the same period have been submitted to the Executive Council.

The total expense incurred for the two years, for all purposes, coming properly under the jurisdiction of the custodian, has been $63,724.27.

Your attention is respectfully invited to the following exhibits:

Exhibit "A," a classified and itemized statement of all expenditures during the biennial period.

Exhibit "B," a statement of sales made of State property and of money paid to the Treasurer of State.

Exhibit "C," invoice of material and tools charged to this office.

Exhibit "D," invoice of furniture.

Exhibit "E," an itemized statement of receipts and expenditures connected with the removal of stone, dirt and refuse from sub-cellar, and boiler-room.

Under the direction and supervision of the Capitol Commission, the entire system of heating, lighting and ventilating the Capitol building has been changed, as well as other extensive improvements made, which I have no doubt will be fully described in their report.

Acting under instructions from the Executive Council, to remove the building designated as the "Engineer's House," after due consideration I concluded that it was best to sell the building, as the State did not have the proper tools or men to take down a brick building of that size. It was sold for two hundred fifty dollars ($250), the State receiving the slate on the roof for use in the foundation of the storage building.

All but a small part of the greenhouse was taken down; the material sold to the best possible advantage, except the glass, which was turned over to the agricultural society, upon condition that it be returned on demand (in like quantity and quality) without expense to the State.

Owing to the great amount of work that has been done, and the large number of workmen that have been employed in the building the past year, the janitors have been continuously interrupted in their regular work, and have had to overcome the presence of large quantities of lime and sand, stone, brick and grease, and, in fact, every form of dirt and filth. Despite this, however, the building has been kept respectably clean. The janitors and firemen are entitled to generous commendation for the many faithful days' work done by them in the removing of the great amount of refuse that came from the cellar of the Capitol and from the boiler house, thus saving many dollars of expense to the State.

Owing to the fact that the coping around the Capitol grounds affords no protection to the lawn, shrubbery or flowers from trespass, by evil-inclined people, especially rude boys that commit many acts of vandalism on the grounds, I would recommend that there be an appropriation sufficient to erect a suitable fence on top of (at least the outside) coping walls. I would suggest an iron fence of suitable design, not to exceed thirty inches in height, which would form no obstruction of the view to the grounds, but at the same time afford great protection from the constant trespass of vicious and unruly people.

The Soldiers' and Sailors' Monument is subject to defacement and permanent injury by vandals, and it would seem to me wise to make some provision for its protection and preservation.

Owing to location, it is impossible for the employees at the Capitol building to give it that close attention it requires. Already it has been defaced and injured to a considerable extent.

The removal of the brick building on Grand Avenue, formerly designated as the "Engineer's House," made it necessary to secure some place for a carpenter and engineer shop, as well as some place to store the tools and great accumulation of material, such as damaged furniture, lumber, and other refuse that is very necessary for repairs. On the advice of the Executive Council I rented a storeroom adjoining the State's property, on Grand Avenue. Some provision should be made for the storage of material, and articles needing repairs. This place should be easy of access, as the constantly increasing amount of furniture in the State house calls for much repair work, which can be performed in a more satisfactory manner, and at far less expense, in a suitable shop by the State house carpenter, than by outside parties.

Owing to the great danger of fire in a wooden building, such as is now occupied for that purpose, and the large amount of stores necessarily kept on hand, I would urge the careful consideration of this recommendation.

I desire to express my high appreciation and gratitude for the uniform kindness and courtesy that has been extended to me by all the officers and employees of the State house.

T. E. McCurdy,
Custodian of Public Buildings and Property.

I, T. E. McCurdy, as Custodian of Public Buildings and Property, being duly sworn, do hereby depose and say that these reports of expenses incurred, with the laws in force as given in each statement during the years 1902 and 1903, are correct to the best of my knowledge and belief.

T. E. McCurdy,
Custodian of Public Buildings and Property.

Subscribed and sworn to before me by T. E. McCurdy, this 15th day of February, 1904.

A. H. Davison, Notary Public.
